Mrs. Hearnes Speaks to Democratic Women

Mrs. Warren E. Hearnes spoke to the 10th District Democrat Women's Club annual spring convention Thursday at the Holiday Inn. Mrs. Hearnes said that she and Gov. Hearnes received encouragement from the 10th District when he was running for governor in 1964.

She said "We can do something about our office holders. Bad officials are elected by good citizens who stay home."

In her short talk, Mrs. Hearnes encouraged the group to be good citizens and take an active role in government. She said "A good citizen must be a friend. A sincere citizen is interested in his fellow citizens' welfare."

Other attributes of a good citizen Mrs. Hearnes listed were humility and faith. She said a good citizen should believe in something, believe in his fellow man and believe in himself. She reminded the Democrats "To be successful, you have to do something. To succeed takes courage."

In closing, Mrs. Hearnes added, "This is my challenge to you. Be a good citizen."

Mrs. Hearnes was introduced by Mrs. Connie Shuford of Chaffee. Approximately 160 attended the convention.

The business meeting of the club was held at 10:30 a.m.

Hal Hunter, Jr., prosecuting attorney of New Madrid county, introduced the guests.

The Bess Truman Club of New Madrid county was the hostess club.

To Hasten Weed War

JEFFERSON CITY AP - Missouri's mayors were urged today to step up urban weed control activity as part of the state's "War on Weeds" to aid natural beauty.

Dexter D. Davis, state commissioner of agriculture, sent letters to all mayors asking them to bear down on enforcement of their local weed control ordinances and also take steps to control weeds on public property.

NEW YORK AP -- Northern Ireland will make the ancestral home of the late President Woodrow Wilson a public shrine.

The British Travel Service announced Thursday in New York that the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre, Episcopal dean of the Washington Cathedral in the nation's capital, will conduct the ceremonies opening the house at Strabane, near Londonderry.

The home once belonged to James Wilson, grandfather of President Wilson, who migrated to the United States in 1807.

MANILA AP - Wanted: A Manila Beatle pad.

The Beatles are due in the Philippine capital July 4 and so far they have no place to stay. None of the city's hotels want them for fear of being invaded by fans of the mop-haired English singers.

Special Bond Election Called For Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD -- Acting upon a petition prepared by the local Chamber of Commerce and signed by the many members of the Chamber as well as all eight of the civic clubs of the city, the Bloomfield City Council has called for a special election to be held on Tuesday, July 5th, for the purpose of voting on a general obligation bond issue of $60,000 to cover the cost of the construction of a new water tower and the other necessary improvements in the city's water and sewer system.

In the petition to the Council, the local organizations stressed the urgent needs for this expansion in order to provide service and fire protection for the many new homes in the city as well as provide for further growth of both residential and industrial development.

It has been pointed out that the issuance of bonds in this amount could be made through an extension of the present indebtedness of the city without any increase in city taxes or a boost in consumer rates.

Drivers Charged In Accidents

Three accidents were reported in the Sikeston area Thursday, with seven accidents reported in the Troop E division of the Missouri Highway Patrol. No injuries or fatalities were reported.

At 7:20 yesterday morning at Highway 61 intersection, Charles Gardner, Matthews, pulled his 1964 Chrysler in front of a 1955 Chevrolet driven by Gene Wikowsky, Rector, Ark. Gardner was charged with careless and imprudent driving.

One mile north of Kewanee an accident was reported at 4 p.m. Herbert Tanner, Kewanee, driving a 1956 Chevrolet, stopped to pick up a hitch hiker, and his car was hit in the back by a 1965 Chevrolet driven by Joseph Collins, Jackson, troopers reported.

One mile north of Essex yesterday afternoon at 12:15 a 1954 Desoto, driven by Hershel Allen, Dexter, was sideswiped by a 1961 Chevrolet, driven by W. L. Woodard, Piggott, Ark., officers said. Allen was making a left turn and Woodard attempted to pass, troopers said. Woodard was cited for improper passing.

$1.3 Million Loan Approved for Dexter

DEXTER -- The Department of Housing and Urban Development at Washington, D. C., has approved a $1.3 million construction loan for 100 low-rent homes at Dexter, including 70 for the elderly, the two Missouri senators reported.

In addition to the 70 for the elderly, 30 homes will be constructed for low-income families, Harry B. Jennings, executive director of the Dexter housing authority said today.

Temporary development plans have been drawn up by a Dallas, Tex., architect, Jennings noted. The Dexter commission had applied for $1.476 million in federal funds, he said. Some of the proposed plans may have been cut by the federal agency.

The Dexter commission has not yet been notified of the approval, Jennings said, so no statement could be made on what is included in the construction plans.

Two other southeast Missouri communities also received approval for construction loans. Caruthersville received $2.5 million for 184 low-rent homes, 60 for the elderly, and Holcomb received $86,358 for low-rent homes, eight for the elderly.

Oran Council Works in Dark

ORAN -- The storm Tuesday night blew an electrical wire down near the city hall, causing the lights to go out midway the meeting of the Oran City Council.

Mayor I. C. Mattingly told other council members he had been invited to attend the regional meeting of city and county officials at Sikeston to discuss Senate Bill 14 that night and he was sorry to have missed it. Some early preparation in forming several commissions was planned at this time, he said. The Regional Planning Act becomes effective Aug 5.

Joe Gateley appeared before the council to make inquiries concerning city sanitary sewers. He asked when service could be made available to him as well as to city residents along Driskell street, Mayor Mattingly told Mr. Gateley some information is pending concerning federal grants.

Plans to build a bridge across Crooked Ford on East Railroad street were made. The street committee, with the assistance of Wesley Harris, will be in charge.

The council discussed a complaint received concerning trucks on Church street. A possible routing of trucks from Church street to State Route W is being considered, officials said.

24 Fined at New Madrid

NEW MADRID -- There were no felony cases in the New Madrid County Magistrate Court of Judge Erle Wright in sessions during the past week, but the judge heard 24 misdemeanor cases and assessed fines.

Charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, William Leonard Whalen was fined $120.000 and was sentenced to six months in jail and his operator license was suspended for a year.

Four fined for fishing without permits were William K. Jackson and Betty Williams, $20.00 each, and Sue Hubernes and Jesse Tate, $11.00 each.

Permitting an unlicensed person to operate a motor vehicle brought a fine of $15.00 against Elvis Allen Lomax.

Careless and imprudent driving counts caused fines of $15.00 each against Theodore Rosevelt York and Jim Hill, and the same amount was paid by James Edward Marcy Jr., on a careless and reckless driving charge.

Being an unlicensed operator brought a fine of $15.00 against Jesse Lee Anderson Jr., and Edward B. Stricklin paid the same amount for having an expired driver license.

Fines of $11.00 each were assessed against Bobby Gene Clayton for having expired license and Duriel Holland for having defective brakes.

A total of 11 persons were fined by the judge on excessive speed counts, they being Bervel Allen Moore $50.00; Willie B. Allen and Carey Wilson Jr., $25.00 each; Robert Ira Kelso $23,00; Robert Tilson, Major Phillips, George Bradley Vinyard and Thomas Wylie McCall, $20.00 each; and Robert Bruce Bradford, Connie S. Blanchard and Richard Scott, $15.00 each.

Amounts of excessive speed fines are usually based on the amount of excess over the legal limit in the particular area.

Charleston to Name Superintendent Soon

CHARLESTON -- The R-1 Board of Education is close to hiring a new superintendent of schools, according to President Bob DeLaney.

DeLaney said Wednesday night the only remaining obstacle is that the board's choice for the position must obtain a release from his present employers, which he hopes can be done in the next week. The name of the new superintendent was withheld pending action by the other board.

It is understood the prospective superintendent comes from the Lead Belt area.

Report on Testing

A major item of business Wednesday night at the board's regular June meeting was a report from evaluator Bill Harris on the results of a testing program conducted on 90 per cent of the R-1 District children in April. Harris said the tests show conclusively the

To Renew Street Markers At New Madrid

NEW MADRID -- The board of aldermen of New Madrid offered assistance to the New Madrid Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday night in the organization's project of repairing, repainting and replacing street markers on corners of streets in the city, according to Pauline K. Allen, clerk of the board, who said that little other than routine matters came up at the June meeting of the council.

Appearing at the meeting for the Jaycees were Jack Lewis and Jimmy Cravens, who told the board of the need of replacing of about 15 of the concrete post type markers and the board offered to furnish them. Mayor Robert Riley appointed an aldermanic committee to look into their manufacture and purchase price.

The city is also to furnish paint and other supplies for the project while members of the Jaycees will do the actual work of repainting the posts and the street names and resetting them where necessary.

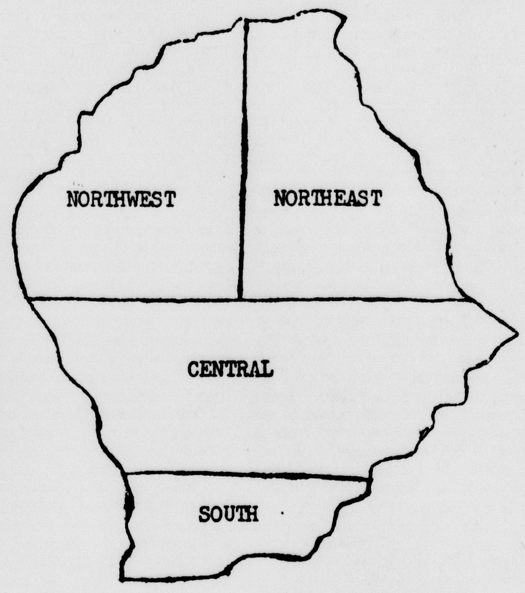
The name of Hunt Road was given to the former alley east of Russell between Riley and Pinell. This was done at the request of the Post Office department so that several homes on the road can receive mail delivery service.

Charles C. Hatley, coordinator in a plan for the purchase of the old Dawson home and park for historical and recreational purposes told the board of the necessity of surveying the plot and the board authorized the engaging of an engineer for that purpose.

The title of city health officer was given to Baz Horton in order that he might have sufficient authority to enforce clean - up of private yards when debris in those yards is such that it creates a health or fire hazard.

Minutes of last month's meeting were read and approved, as were reports of all officers, and the board ordered payment of all current bills of the city.

Service Center Plans Underway For County



THE FOUR regions that Scott County Service Centers are being scheduled to be located in.

By DAN D. WHITTLE

It is a program that "should have been instigated long ago," according to Fielding Potashnick, a member of the Scott County Economic Opportunity Corporation board of directors concerning the four Delta Area Economic Corporation Neighborhood Service Centers to be formed in Scott County.

Last night, an organizational meeting was held in the Scott Central high school building for dissemination of information about the service center to be located in the central part of Scott County. More than 100 persons were in attendance.

Purposes of the centers named in a release from the Office of Economic Opportunity in Portageville are:

(1) To provide a "point of contact" between the poor residents and the services that might be mobilized to help them.

(2) To establish centers that will provide a structure to allow impoverished residents of the Delta Area to become participating members of society and have a voice in the identification of their needs and determining and developing programs to meet these needs.

(3) To provide a correlation of available social health, and educational services that will enable indigent people of the area served to fully utilize all programs designed to meet their needs.

(4) To provide a nucleus around which neighborhood organizations, involvement, and action can be developed.

(5) To allow resident participation in the planning, development, and conduct of programs.

To sum it up the "centers will make available information that will allow areas and persons to take full advantage of the numerous federal programs involved in Johnson's War on Poverty'," Potashnick said.

No new buildings are to be built to serve as centers. Offices will be located in already constructed facilities and the rent each month cannot exceed $50. However, no sites have been selected yet.

Each center will be directed by a coordinator, who will be elected by each district's local board of directors. His salary will be $400 per month.

He can be assisted by two persons working 40 hour weeks or four persons working 20 hour weeks. Either way, the assistant will earn $1.25 per hour.

These service centers will work in close relations with the welfare offices, health department and the Homemaker Advisor Community Action program in providing services for the indigent families.

The Delta Area will be served in total by 33 service centers.

There will be one center in Sikeston that is to be located as near the Sunset addition as possible.

The coordinators and his office assistants will be appointed by officers of each center.

Sikeston's corporation officers were selected last week. They are: Donald Fulton, principal from Lincoln Elementary school, as president; Elmer Russell, truck driver from Hart's Bakery, as vice-president; and Minnie Simpson, a housewife, as secretary-treasurer.

They have not appointed a coordinator yet.

In each center's district, a board of directors will also be elected. Any number of persons can be on this particular board.

The board of directors will in turn select their representatives to be on the county Economic Opportunity Corporation board.

It has not been determined yet how many representatives will be from each center division. Potashnick said that probably Sikeston will have five or six and each other district

Lumber Company Break-In

ILLMO- The Southeast Missouri Lumber Company was broken into here last night according to Scott County Sheriff John Dennis.

Dennis said that the safe in the building was cracked open. "However," Dennis said, "the thieves managed to collect only 75 cents for the hour's work that must have been required to complete the break-in."

Entry in the building was made by forcing open the back door.

No arrests have been made.

Rats Bite Child

ST. LOUIS AP - A four-month-old boy was bitten critically by rats today as he was sleeping.

Mrs. Forhsee told police that her son's crying woke her up and she went to his bed. As she walked toward the bed, a rat jumped from the crib.

Plumbers And Contractors Agree

A basic agreement was reached last night between plumbers and building contractors in Sikeston in a meeting held at the Sikeston Administrative offices. The agreement would create a board of plumbing examiners and provide an inspector to approve plumbing construction in the city.

The two groups met with City Manager Raymert Miller and City Attorney, Manuel Drumm.

The plumbers would be responsible for the examination and licensing of those who wish to perform plumbing work.

The proposed plumbers code will be reviewed next week by the City Council in a special session and will likely act on it's adoption.

At present, there is no inspector.

This new code is to be drawn up rapidly in order to meet a July 1 deadline, the date that plumber's licenses are due.

The meeting was held at the Rustic Rock.

Replanting Approved Today

WASHINGTON AP - The Senate shouted approval today of a compromise bill to permit replanting of acreage allotments hit by natural disasters.

Voice vote approval sent the hard-fought revision of existing farm laws to President Johnson for expected signature.

Sponsors of the legislation said it would permit cotton, wheat and feed grain producers to sow other crops on their allotted acreages if these were hit by floods, drought or other disaster, and still collect farm benefits.

Some critics contended that some large cotton producers could collect big government checks on their land and then sow the same land to soybeans with a government price support of $2.50 a bushel.

IT'S A GRAND OLD FLAG

"Who touches a hair of yon gray head
Dies like a dog! March on!" he said.
--John G. Whittier, "Barbara Frietchie"

A shade of sadness, a blush of shame, came over the face of the leader of the confederate up, when Barbara Frietchie chose death over insult to her country's flag. He should have known better. Americans have always tended to be sentimental about their national emblem. Francis Scott Key and George M. Cohan, among others, have kept alive the notion that the stars and stripes represents something pretty special. The Confederate flag, in terry cloth, has done duty as a beach towel. No manufacturer has dared to take such liberties with the National flag.

The first stars and stripes was created by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777. The anniversary of that date is now observed nationally, though unofficially, as Flag Day. During the American Revolution, the colonies used a variety of banners. The fledgling American Navy favored an emblem showing a pine tree and the motto "An Appeal to Heaven." The "Don't Tread on Me" flag, depicting a rattlesnake, was popular along the Atlantic seaboard. When Washington took command of the Continental Army at Cambridge, Mass., in 1776, he stood under the "Grand Union Flag," the canton of which contained the crosses of St. George (England) and St. Andrew (Scotland).

The original American flag contained 13 stars and 13 stripes, but that arrangement did not last very long. The star-spangled banner that Key saw by dawn's early light at Fort McHenry in 1814 had two additional "broad stripes and bright stars," representing Vermont and Kentucky. Four years later, Congress decided that enough was enough; it fixed the number of stripes at 13 and decreed that whenever a new state was admitted to the Union a new star should be added to the flag.

CREDITS AND DEBITS

With consumer debt at $87 billion, and mounting by about 9 percent a year, it would seem that the last thing the country needed at this time is a new kind of credit card. But two financial institutions -- the First Financial Marketing Group of Boston and the Bank of America -- plan shortly to introduce rival nationwide credit-card systems. Both the Bancardchek and the BankAmericard will be available on a franchise basis to banks in major metropolitan areas.

The Bank Americard is like any other credit card: a wallet-sized plastic rectangle bearing the holder's name, signature and account number. The Bancardchek, however, is a combination credit card, traveler's check and revolving loan account. In addition to a card, the Bancardchek owner gets a book containing $500 worth of checks in $25 and $50 denominations. The checks can be filled out for any amount up to the designated maximum. The service charge comes to 12¢ a check.

Meanwhile, an attempt to give President Johnson standby authority to curb consumer installment credit will be made on the House floor by mid-June. The House Banking and Currency Committee tacked the proposed authority onto a bill extending the Defense Production Act for two years. Johnson didn't ask for this power, but he probably would like to have it, just in case. Rising private debt, exemplified by proliferation of credit cards, could spell trouble in a war-heated economy.

THEFT OF THE WORST ORDER

A letter to the editor of this newspaper complains of the theft of easels and floral arrangements from graves in the Sikeston cemeteries. The writer of the letter conveys both the shock and anger of those who have placed flowers on graves of loved ones, only to discover they have been stolen within a few hours.

It is difficult to imagine the type of person who makes a practice of such thievery. It is indeed, theft of the worst order, carrying with it not only a connotation of thievery but of moral turpitude as well.

We agree wholeheartedly with the writer of the letter: something must be done.

Whether the employment of a 24-hour watch, an increased surveillance by the police or a standing reward for information of those committing such acts is the proper course, we are quite frankly undertain. Perhaps it would be well for cemetery boards to meet with city officials and some plan devised that would involve both agencies.

Whatever plan is best, certainly some remedial action should be taken, and taken quickly. This is theft of the worst order; it should and must be stopped.

THE MINIMUM WAGE PROBLEM

The head of the AFL-CIO union declares that an increase in the minimum wage to $2 an hour is needed. Congress will be asked to approve that figure, or one approaching it, when it convenes next year.

Many people who are sincerely concerned with the problems of the low-income groups will probably look favorably on this proposal. But there is much more involved than meets the superficial eye. There is every danger that an excessive minimum wage may seriously harm the interests of those it is supposed to help.

Various businesses have room for people whose skills are extremely limited. Retailing is a prime example. It offers employment to youngsters just starting out in the business world, to part-time housewives, and to others whose value to the store is slight. If the minimum wage is boosted to the point where the productivity of these workers cannot justify it, one result is certain -- store operators will be forced to seek ways and means of getting along with fewer marginal workers. Then the unskilled will find it harder and harder to get jobs and to obtain the experience that would qualify them for higher pay.

It may be argued that the stores and the other businesses affected could solve the problem by the simple expedient of raising prices. But that is much more easily said than done in this era of intense competition. And if it could be done, the burden of higher prices and inflation would fall heaviest on the low wage groups.

It may also be argued that the stores could use a part of their profits to take care of higher costs. But these profits are a great deal less than is generally believed. Food chains, for instance, commonly earn only a trifle more than a penny on each dollar of sales. There's just no margin for absorbing wage increases.

What it all comes down to is that worker productivity and wage levels are inseparably related. A law which ignores that fact must do more harm than good.

Paul paused to inhale the bouquet of his cognac, then replied, "That, mon-ami would depend on their respective vintages.

NO ESCAPE

The securities industry, like almost all other enterprises and organizations, has been feeling the pinch of rising costs. As a consequence, a Special Committee on Costs and Revenues has submitted a series of tentative conclusions to the Board of Governors of the New York Stock Exchange. These call for a "package approach" to the cost problem, including volume discounts for large transactions, a mandatory maintenance charge, and a modest increase in minimum commission rates.

The Exchange's President, G. Keith Funston, points out that despite high volume and rising stock prices, the net profit on commission business -- the business which goes on whenever stocks are bought or sold-is at a low level. The last commission increase took place in 1958 and since then virtually all costs have risen. As an example, salaries alone, which represent nearly a fifth of commission business costs, have increased more than 20 per cent since that year and other costs have shown a still larger rise. A large number of members firms of the Exchange have actually been operating at a loss on their security commission business.

In Mr. Funston's words, the committee feels that if existing conditions continue, "it would in the long run undermine the ability of the Exchange Community to serve the expanding future needs of the investing public." And that public, nowadays, numbers well over 17 million people.

The tentatively proposed increase in commission rates is small -- around 3.5 per cent. The securities industry, or any other, cannot escape the cost pressures of the time.

NEW YORK AP -- You need more than a bottle of suntan lotion and a new pair of swimming trunks to get you through the summer successfully.

Above all, you must be sure to lay in a fresh supply of double-talk.

There are hundreds of tested examples of summer double-talk that should carry you coolly through any crisis, no matter how heated the temperature.

"Where did you get that marvelous tan, Jim?" It looks like it had been poured out of a bourbon bottle.

"The room is a bit cozy, sir, but you can see the ocean from it." You just look beyond those three big smokestacks - and there it is.

"Of course, those shorts are all right, Roscoe. You look fine in them." Oh, lordy, I do hope you aren't wearing them if we run into anybody we know.

"Now, just lean back in the water, close your eyes, and stretch out your arms, Mrs. Jones. Don't worry - you'll float." With all that blubber on you, lady, the Navy couldn't sink you with a five-inch shell.

"I'd like to join you at tennis, Joe, but the doc told me the only exercise I could take was bending my elbow." So take the hint, dummy-how's about pouring your guest a drink?

"You mean you grew those tomatoes all by yourself!" You must have-nature certainly didn't give you much help.

"We're tickled pink glad you could join us for the weekend." That's why we're feeling so blue.

"We don't want you to think of this as just another resort, but as a real home away from home." So please don't steal the light bulbs when you leave.

"And you, Marge, why don't you bring a bowl of your yummy potato salad to the picnic?" It may make the ants sick, but who cares about them?

"It's so relaxing here in your rustic little cabin. I can't think of any place we'd rather be, can you, Bob?" Maybe Alcatraz. Even there they never had wild mice in the walls.

"Autos Just Aren't Safe Any More!"

Then there was the fellow who got badly scratched up fighting for his girl's honor. She wanted to keep it.

In the presence of a client he wished to impress, a high-powered executive flipped on his intercom switch and barked to his secretary: "Miss Jones, get my broker!"

The visitor was duly impressed, until the secretary's voice floated back into the room, loud and clear: "Yes, sir, stock or pawn?"

STATE BIGGER THAN ITS CITIES

"Our time-tested and successful pattern of legislative representation on both an area and a population basis provides a workable system of checks and balances. It assures a republic which is a truly representative form of government with consideration for minority and area interests."

Most Americans, we think, will agree with the above policy statement voted at the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Philadelphia last December. And we hope that the scholarly members of the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee now conducting hearings on the Supreme Court's "one-man-one-vote" order - for reapportionment on a population basis of bicameral state legislatures in which representation of either house is on an area basis -- will also recognize the traditional safeguards to representative government that are implicit in the original plan, both in the State House and in the Capitol of the U.S. And we can hope, too, for the Subcommittee's endorsement and the early passage of the Dirksen Resolution (S.J. Res. 2) for a Constitutional Amendment to block this meddling of the Court with the philosophy, structure and composition of our Government.

The majority opinion of the Court, as AFBF President Charles B. Shuman told the Subcommittee: "ruled out of consideration all other factors (than population) and took away the people of the states the right to determine how best to set up their own state legislatures. . . .It is not a question of the interests of rural versus city people," he declared, "but of whether we are to maintain our time-tested system of representative government."

Meanwhile, at the state capitals, the legislatures of no less than 19 of our sovereign states have passed resolutions (with action in six others completed in one house) calling on Congress to convene a Constitutional Convention on legislative apportionment. Thus the demand from the states is already close to the 2/3 level (34 states) at which the Congress must act.

On this issue, however, we should have the resolutions of all 50 states. For it should be apparent everywhere that questions of state policy should no more be left to the representatives of rural areas than to those of the metropolitan precincts. The power of the big city majority, even as it exists today in the various states that struggle for expression in the shadow of one or two huge cities, should be warning enough of the urgent need of Constitutional reinforcement of the machinery of representative government.

RED DIPLOMACY AT WORK

Kosygin & Company, the new gang in the Kremlin, are now talking sweet about President Johnson's month-old "come on over" invitation following its original ill - tempered reception. Kosy has still not indicated, however, whether he will give us the treat of seeing him on our TV, or expose the Russians to our President.

But first, K must go see Red Boss Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam, who has been too cosy with Red China's Chou En-lai. Presumably this means the USSR will now outdo Chou in arming Ho's Viet Cong -- the better to knock off American soldiers (military advisors) in South Vietnam! Don't we know this Kremlin mob well enough yet?

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- While marines are fighting and dying in the Viet Nam jungle, some of the brass hats at home seem more preoccupied with the privileges of rank.

Lt. Gen. Victor Krulak, the Pacific marine commander, recently commandeered a marine transport plane, for example, to fly him from Pearl Harbor to the outlying island of Maui for a few days of golf and relaxation. He and his aide, Capt. Edward Townley, were the sole passengers.

Unhappily, the plane was too big for the small resort air strip, and the left wing got snagged on the sugar cane alongside the runway, causing the plane to veer into the cane field. The general emerged unscathed, his golf clubs intact, but the plane's right engine and landing gear ripped off.

Gen. Krulak doesn't have to worry about the repairs. The taxpayers will boot the repairs.

Maj. Gen. Herman Nickerson, the Camp Lejeune, N. C., commandant, returned from a California inspection trip with three Chukar game birds which he picked up on a side trip from Camp Pendleton to Bartow.

Camp maintenance men complain that they were ordered to build a cage for the birds, complete with an electric fence, in the commandant's yard. He also directed them to build a small stable, they say, for his horse.

The general, confronted with this evidence, insisted to this column that he and some friends did most of the work and that he paid a carpenter out of his own pocket to add the finishing touches.

He acknowledged that he had obtained defense department approval to spend $25,000 of nonappropriated funds to build a larger corral and stable for the base, but claimed the horses are available to anyone on the base. It will be interesting to see if any enlisted men ride.

Gen. Nickerson also admitted that he had ordered his conference room paneled and carpeted and that he had spent $1,600 to put up a brick sign at the base entrance reading "Camp Lejeune."

He agreed, under questioning, that some of the enlisted men's barracks, particularly for the recruits in infantry traning, were in a poor state of repair. He claimed, however, that the money spent on the stable, panelled conference room, and fancy sign couldn't be used to improve the barracks.

"The funds," he explained, "are not interchangeable."

MORE MARINE BEAUTIFICATION

At another marine base, Quantico, Va., maintenance men have complained about painting the steeple on the memorial chapel. The steeple, perhaps inappropriately, is an upright missile which some said was turning green.

Mrs. Frederick Wieseman, wife of the commandant, likes a tidy base. She used her influence, first to get the officers' club painted, then to transform the unsightly missile from faded green to a white, colonial-looking steeple.

Some maintenance men grumbled that they were poorly equipped for steeplejack work and that the missile's surface would cause a never-ending peeling problem if it were covered with paint. But other workers, who favored a camouflage job on the missile - steeple, volunteered their services. (The cost of painting the officers' club, it should be added, came out of nonappropriated funds.)

These are some of the problems that are occupying the brass hats while their men are facing enemy bullets in Viet Nam.

Note -- In fairness it should be said that all three generals have excellent records and would be glad to serve in Viet Nam.

JACKIE'S SNOOTY NEIGHBORS

The neighbors of Mrs. Jackie Kennedy in Somerset Hills, N. J., are not too happy about having the former First Lady living among them.

In the first place, most of the exclusive set where Jackie weekends is Republican. Second, Jackie attracts photographers. Pleasant Valley, where Jackie has taken a house, is a closed community with a fence around it, and gate with a guard at night.

At one time after Jackie arrived, the gate was locked to keep photographers out during the daytime, but this also kept out the garbage truck, and the residents of Pleasant Valley decided they would rather have photographers in than keep the garbage truck out.

Photographers have been especially prevalent on weekends when Jackie comes out with her children to ride. So the leaders of Pleasant Valley decided that Jackie could not hunt on Saturdays.

Shortly after this decision was made, a phone call came from Douglas Dillon, former secretary of the treasury in the Kennedy cabinet, stating that if Mrs. Kennedy could not ride on Saturday the hunt could not pass over his farm.

Since Doug Dillon owns the best farm in the area for hunting purposes, the leaders of the hunt quickly countermanded their edict. Jackie, even with photographers, is now permitted to hunt on Saturday.

FIRST NEGRO SENATOR

Democratic leaders in Massachusetts are greatly disturbed by a private poll which indicates that Republican Ed Brooke, the popular Negro attorney general of their state, will defeat either ex-Governor Endicott Peabody or John Collins, Mayor of Boston, regardless of which wins the Democratic primary for U.S. senator.

In the GOP primary, Brooke will win easily, perhaps without opposition. However, Peabody and Collins face a tough, head-to-head struggle, with Collins having a slight edge both in the Democratic party convention, which only endorses, and the Democratic primary in September, which makes the final selection.

In the gubernatorial race in Massachusetts, Eddie McCormack, nephew of the house speaker, will be given a hard battle by Morris Donoghue in the party convention, to be held soon, but experts in the know expect him to win easily over Donoghue in the Democratic primary later.

If so, McCormack will face Republican Gov. John Volpe, who is seeking another term, this time for four years.

U THANT AND HUMAN RIGHTS

Ten years ago the heroic people of a proud and ancient city in eastern Europe fought and died for freedom in the face of overwhelming communist force. The free world gave them its sympathy, but no helping hand. They were crushed and their spirit was broken.

Appeals were made to the United Nations, during and after the uprising. The United Nations, so quick to intervene in free world disputes, so ready with force against small would-be free nations like Katanga and Rhodesia, said there was nothing it could do.

That city was Budapest in Hungary. Recently U Thant, eral, announced that a "human rights seminar" would be conducted in Budapest this June UNDUCTED IN Budapest this June under U.N. auspices, with an agenda prepared by the U.N. secretariat "in consultation with the Hungarian Government."

U Thant may think the world has forgotten the freedom fighters of Budapest, many of them still held as political prisoners on a starvation diet, but there are many who have not. And right-thinking men can only be appalled at the grisly fraud of conducting a "seminar" on "human rights" over the graves of the children slain in 1956 by Soviet tanks and Mongol troops.

The United Nations has in its own files complete documentary proof of the causes and consequences of the Budapest revolt for freedom, the whole record of the communist government which still rules Hungary. Yet U Thant pleasantly enters into "consultation" with them about a discussion of human rights, and teaches a lesson beyond all understanding in hypocrisy. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Civil War Flares Inside Labor Over Reuther Charge That CIA Controls U. S. Labor's Foreign Policies.

Washington, D. C.: -- For months left - of - center, liberal critics of Lyndon Johnson's foreign policy have pounded him with some mighty big intellectual guns. They've cannonaded him from field bases in the universities, in the arts and in the professions.

But the mightiest mortar of all, criticism from a labor leader of prominence, has been missing.

Now, however, they have found one, and he has opened up.

He's the dynamic continent-hopping, younger brother of Walter Reuther, namely, Victor George Reuther, director of the auto union's far-flung and even further-ranging international affairs department.

His opening shot -- and it has been heard 'round the world --was a blunt charge that President Johnson's staunchest labor supporter, AFL-CIO President George Meany, and the latter's foreign affairs specialist, the fabulous mastermind of a thousand anti - Communist offensives, Jay Lovestone, are "involved" with the Central Intelligence Agency. (Mr. Lovestone directs the AFL-CIO's international affairs dept.)

Inside labor, such a charge is as deadly as getting up in Peking's main square and denouncing Mao as a Khrushchev revisionist.

It makes suspect all the work of the AFL-CIO's international affairs dept. These reach from championing of the Dalai Lama to cooperation in educating some 20,000 trade unionists each year in Latin America.

Such activities have ranged from the befriending of anti-Sukarno generals in Indonesia to building workers' homes in Honduras, to assisting democratic unionists in Africa to briefing the labor attaches of foreign embassies in Washington.

I have been deep in Africa where, in some capitals, labor leaders knew the names only of such Americans as the recent U. S. Presidents, the Vice Presidents -- and that of Irving Brown, one of Mr. Lovestone's colleagues in the international dept. here.

Thus when Victor Reuther charged that "Meany and Lovestone" not only were practically CIA agents, but were spending some $6 million in Latin America alone, they were shocked. Lovestone was in West Berlin for a labor convention to which he had brought Mr. Meany's greetings.

The Victor Reuther charge was embarrassing, not alone to Mr. Lovestone, but to the entire American labor movement which Meany personifies.

Mr. Meany was chagrined. He had just completed plans to leave the U. S. on June 19 for a world labor congress in Brussels.

He like all other insiders knew that the charge would be hurled at him wherever he went since it was first thrown by Victor, brother of Walter, whose name is synonymous in Europe with militant unionism.

So Mr. Meany telephoned Walter Reuther. The gist of the conversation was: Did this public attack represent Walter's thinking and the position of the influential auto union?

The Detroiter replied that it did not and that he had not known of the open criticism of the Meany - Lovestone activities before Victor had unburdened himself.

Victor had given a long interview on many issues and had not especially zeroed in on the CIA charge. But he had said it.

And so it flared in excitable circles as the most sensational conversation piece in recent years.

It set the pattern of the differences between the two forces inside labor.

Victor Reuther is an intellectual and ideological colleague of such men as Arthur Schlesinger Jr. and author-economist - university professor, John Kenneth Galbraith. He and they, for example, built the Committee on Free Elections in the Dominican Republic.

Victor Reuther attempted to give the committee staunch labor support. He sent letters to such influential leaders as the steel union's I. W. Abel. The latter did not join or support the group, which finally dispatched to Santo Domingo several score men led by Norman Thomas.

Committee leaders say they dispatched the ballot box observers after full discussion with Under Secretary of State Averell Harriman and other State Dept. officials.

However, Mr. Meany and Mr. Lovestone were opposed to such a committee which they believed insinuated that the U. S. and the Organization of American States would not permit fair elections.

There are other sharp differences.

Messrs. Meany and Lovestone are opposed, furthermore, to all exchanges with the Soviet Union, Eastern European nations and mainland China.

They reject exchanges of labor delegations with the Comunist bloc and Yugoslavia as well.

They are absolutely opposed to the administration of Peking China to the UN.

They reject trade with the bloc.

Without believing that Premier Ky is a Churchillian statesman, Mr. Meany is solidly behind President Johnson and the Vietnamese government and the U. S. policies in Southeast Asia.

The free election group, in which Victor Reuther is an articulate labor spokesman, as well as private citizen, differs with Meany on such policies almost all the way.

For the moment all elements involved are silent -- Victor Reuther, George Meany and the CIA. But my built-in radar indicates this silence soon will be broken -- except for the CIA, of course.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lee Wagley

KEWANEE - Mary Elizabeth Schuerenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Martin Schuerenberg, and Gary Lee Wagley, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wagley of Matthews, were married at 8 p.m. May 27 at the Kewanee Methodist church by the Rev. Jimmy Vest.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace gown fashioned with a scoop neckline and long finger tip sleeves. The bodice was fitted and the skirt was street-length. The bride wore a white veil and carried a white orchid corsage surrounded by white carnations and white ribbons tied in lovers' knots.

Mrs. Doris Jean Farrenburg of New Madrid, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Arlene Seib of St. Louis, college roommate of the bride, was maid of honor.

Sam Faulkner of New Madrid, a college friend, was best man. Jimmy Wayne Farrenburg, brother-in-law of the bride, was usher.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen table cloth and a four tiered wedding cake appointed one end. Also appointing the table was a large crystal punch bowl. Arrangement of pink roses centered the table.

The couple is now at home in Jonesboro, Ark., in the Indian Village trailer court on Arkansas State College campus.

Mrs. Wagley is a 1966 graduate of Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau and taught in the Risco school system. She will be teaching fifth grade in Harrisburg, Ark.

The groom is a senior at Arkansas State College.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Jimmy Vest, Mrs. Amy Vest, Miss Jo Coates, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Estes, Mr. and Mrs. Lynual Schuerenberg and Mrs. Iva E. Schuerenberg, all of Sikeston; Mrs. Anita Gaines, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mainord, Mrs. Shabie Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Rapier, Mrs. Barry Hill, Mrs. A. B. Wagley, Mr. and Mrs. Joe White, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Proffer and Mrs. George Proffer, all of Matthews.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Burnett, Gene Barnes, and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Whitten, all of Canalou; Mrs. Walter H. Jackson and Teresa, Miss Janis Pearson, Mrs. Joan Smith, Miss Carol Femmer, all of New Madrid; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Koeppel and Suzanne of Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. Theresa Seib of St. Louis.

Extension Club Meets With Mrs. Smith

LAFORGE -- The LaForge Extension Club met Monday at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Lucille Smith. The meeting was called to order by Vice President Mrs. W. H. Gilmer. The club collect was read.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce James Huber

Mary Lucille Wiles Says Vows With Bruce James Huber

Mary Lucille Wiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wiles, 224 North Prairie, and Bruce James Huber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Huber of Queens, N. Y., were married at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Northside Church of Christ.

Candelabra and baskets of yellow roses and ferns decorated the church.

Mrs. Jimmy Miller, soloist, sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because." The processional was the Harding College Choir's recording of "Faithful and True." The cermony was closed with Mrs. Miller singing "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown of nylon organza fashioned with a scalloped Chantilly type lace scoop neckline, long tapered sleeves and a molded bodice. The floor-length bell shaped skirt had a side drape of lace and lace scallops around the hem.

The veil of imported silk illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls and crystal drops. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of yellow roses and white net.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Larry Thomas of Hutchinson, Kans., sister of the bride, and bride's maid, Miss Sarah Bickford, also of Hutchinson, wore dresses of yellow Irish linen with matching lace jackets and carried bouquets of white roses.

Ronald Herren, Clinton, Tenn., was best man and Mike Kesler, Nashville, Tenn., was groomsman. The ushers were John Wiles, brother of the bride and George Buttery, Nashville, Tenn.

The three tiered wedding cake was surrounded with small yellow roses and topped with miniature wedding bells.

Those who assisted at the reception were Mrs. Max Wise, Kansas City; Miss Elva Embree, Hutchinson, Kans.; Miss Phyllis Bickford, Kansas City, Kans.; Miss Marilyn Cashon, and Mrs. E. V. Edwards, both of Sikeston.

Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. Clarence Ressel, of Quarryville, Penn., mother of the groom; Mrs. Nona Campbell of Trenton, aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Elburn Tennis of Hollister, Mr. and Mrs. Aubry Howard of Mayfield, Ky., Misses Dottie Crow and Dana Gray of Nashville, Tenn.

The couple will live in Abilene, Texas, where the groom will do graduate study in Biblical and patristic Greek at Abilene Christian College.

Local Briefs

Dr. and Mrs. Audra Smith, son Chris and Miss Caroline Jean McCord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCord, left last Saturday for St. Martin, Ohio, where they met their daughter, Lynne, who is a sophomore at the School of the Brown County Ursulines. While there, they all attended the one-hundred and twenty-first graduation of the school. Lynne returned with her parents, and plans on spending her entire summer vacation here in Sikeston with them, returning to the school this fall.

Here for several days last week, was Mr. William Grimsley of Columbia, Mo., who was visiting with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Paul Grimsley of Sikeston. Returning with him as far as St. Louis was Mrs. Paul Grimsley and her sister, Mrs. Harry Gilman, who spent from Friday until Monday visiting with friends of that city. While there as guests at the home of Mrs. D. Bays and Mrs. R. N. Cato, they attended church on Sunday, and were given a sermon preached by Reverend Joyce, formerly of Sikeston.

Here as guests last weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Casey of 422 William Street, were Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Phillips and daughter Joanell of Win, Arkansas.

This week Mr. Casey and Mr. H. M. Boardman have been spending the entire week at Kentucky Lake, where they are busy constructing a cabin.

Dick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Caskey who reside at 918 Allen Boulevard, was home from Kansas University this last week. Dick, who will be a senior at the University and is majoring in drama, left Sunday to begin playing summer stock at the Star Light Theatre in Kansas City, Mo. He plans to return to the University this fall.

Potlatch Trounces Doniphan 19-0

DONIPHAN -- The Sikeston Potlatch baseball team continued their winning ways here last night by trouncing the host 19-0, behind the one hit hurling of Dan Kern.

Sikeston, after a one hit no run first inning started their run scoring tactics with Gene Ramsey starting off the second inning with a double and scoring on a wild pitch for the first run. The Forresters scored 18 runs in the next three innings, six in the third, four in the fourth and eight in the fifth.

Greg Bailey continued his fine hitting, collecting four for five at bats last night with three RBI's, and now boasts an .875 batting average.

Dan Kern, strong lefthander, had a no hitter going until the fifth inning with two out and Dale Price at bat. Price played spoiler for Kern's no hitter, driving a hit into right field.

The Forresters collected fifteen hits with 35 times at bats.

Gene Ramsey was another leader in the Forresters win, he collected three hits and five RBI's.

The Forresters who now are leading the league with a 2-0 won-loss record will meet Bertrand (1-1) Tuesday night.

FISHING NOTES

THE SMALL FRY

Too many youngsters today are dashing through adolescence without an opportunity to pull a wriggling sunfish out of a fishin' hole.

And say the authorities, too many adults are missing an experience of a lifetime in not seeing them soak up this experience.

A kid's "first fish" -- though it be a lowly bullhead -- is mighty important. Long after a ball game is forgotten, or a new toy is discarded, this exploit in the out-of-doors will have significance. And the adult involved literally earns eternal respect and worship.

Teaching youngsters to fish requires a certain amount of technique, however. When you head for the creek bank, woods or marshes with a couple of towheads, leave your own gear at home. Equip your young charges with simple equipment such as cane poles or simple spinning reels in which they have become thoroughly schooled at home. Don't help them too much. Let them miss a few strikes, then analyze what happened and how it could have been corrected.

Sooner or later your efforts will be rewarded. An obliging sunfish or bullhead will fall to the youngster's neophyte skills. And, at that moment, you'll know that a boy or girl has learned a valuable lesson in life.

Perhaps, you will too.

Swing Along With Ted by Ted Williams

"EIGHTY OR BUST"

"Eighty or bust" is not a slogan from American history like "54/40 or fight" but it is the slogan to millions of people throughout the world when it comes to the game of golf! I suppose some people would say that I've become sort of a "golf addict" but I must admit I'm making up for lost time. I know during my baseball years I never cared too much about golf as some other fellows like Al Dark who can be labelled a "golf fiend" but I've done a lot of reading on the subject as well as a lot of playing since then and it's one heck of a sport as frustrating and enjoyable as anything you can think of.

However, I'm not going into any details of my golfing life so far except to say learning how to hook can make a man old before his time. I had by coming into the ball from the outside in which could have had a lot to do with my baseball habits in batting. I could say a lot of other blankety-blank things but I'd better stay with some general golf information.

Outside the United States there is supposed to be a conservative estimate of 12 million golfing lovers which also means that there must be an estimated 12 million women who have a lot of things to say to their husbands when they get home from their ventures. And I imagine no matter what the language the basic meaning gets through to everyone.

In our country golf is not just a game of golf. It also becomes the backdrop for many a business deal. Naturally, as with color TV sets, we have more golf courses than anyone else with the latest total being about 8,500 courses.

If you're an amateur golfer and have experienced that type of day when you wonder how far you can heave your golf clubs in a fit of anger, you ought to read a book titled "Golf: New Horizons" which tells you what happens to golfers all over the world. In India, for example, the golfer is supposed to hire two caddies with the second one being the important caddy. It seems there are a lot of monkeys there who have a craving for golf balls as some sort of food delicacy and it's up to the second caddy to beat the monkey to the ball. The only trouble is by the time the caddy is chasing the monkeys away the birds fly down and grab the ball anyway.

On Africa's golf course it's not unusual and I underline NOT unusual to see signs on the golf course which read "Elephants Have the Right of Way." Believe me if I ever play a course in the Congo and see an elephant, he can have more than the right of way -- he can have all the ways.

Therefore, I would suggest that the next time the ball hooks away in some ridiculous direction we can all cool off in the clubhouse or just stay home and watch Tony Lema on television sweating it out while we sip a cool drink.

Besides, from my own experience as a ballplayer, a lot of golfers have it easy. They take all the time in the world getting up to the ball, they can spend hours studying the grass, the crowd following keeps perfectly still, no boos, no yelling. What about us ballplayers with the crowd yelling all over the place and Koufax throwing the ball at you some 200 miles an hour? I don't want you to think I'm using that as an excuse for my own golfing ability but now it's going to be "70 or bust" or else!

A-State To Enter Three Trackmen In Nationals

JONESBORO, Ark. - Arkansas State Track Coach John Rose will take three men to the National College-Division Track and Field finals which will be held at the University of Chicago today and tomorrow.

The small contingent, the first ever to attend the national meet from Arkansas State, will include two field men and one sprinter. During the past season the Indians had 15 men meet qualifying standards, however, due to freshmen and transfers being ineligible for NCAA competition and prior commitments, the Tribe will be small in numbers for its initial appearance in the meet.

The three making the trip include javelin thrower Jeff Lansdale of Winter Park, Fla., high jumper Jerald Spencer of Harrisburg and quarter-miler Randy Erwin of Little Rock.

Lansdale is ranked fourth in the nation in the javelin event with a toss of 247' 1", and of the top ten listed, he is the only college division entry. The other nine are in the university division which will meet in Indiana June 17-18. Lansdale holds the Arkansas Collegiate record in the javelin and has led Arkansas competitors in the event the past two years.

Spencer holds the Arkansas Collegiate record in the high jump with a leap of 6' 8 1/2" which came in the Southland Conference meet in 1965. His best jump this season was 6' 7 1/4" in competition, however, this past week he has been clearing 6' 8" consistantly and coming close to the 6' 10" mark.

Erwin ranked second in the state this season with a 48.3 mark which came in the SLC meet in Arlington this spring. The state leader is Eibert Stinson of Arkansas AM& N with a time of 46.3. Erwin is the youngest of the three Indians making the trip. He is a sophomore while the other two are juniors.

In the event that any of the three finish in the top six in Chicago, they will qualify for the University Division NCAA meet in Indiana the following weeken.

Pirates Halted By Home Runs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The homer-hitting Minnesota Twins banged a record-tying five home runs in a six-run seventh inning that carried them to a 9-4 victory Thursday night over Kansas City.

The St. Louis Cardinals got some unexpected power from shortstop Jerry Buchek and subbing third baseman Phil Gagliano for a 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

The Twins quit hitting homers reluctantly in the seventh. Jimmie Hall made a heart-stopping bid to break the major league record for most home runs for a team in an inning after Harmon Killebrew smacked the fifth one, but Hall's drive fell two feet short of the fence.

The homer spree erased a 4-3 Kansas City lead. Pinch hitter Rich Rollins started it off starter Jim Catfish Hunter after Earl Battey walked. Zoilo Versalles followed with a four-base shot. Paul Lindblad came on to try to quell the explosion, but gave up homers to Tony Oliva and Don Mincher. John Wyatt relieved and was greeted by Killebrew's second homer of the game.

The five home runs set an American league record and tied the major league mark held by three National League teams.

The A's got four runs off Twins starter Camilo Pascual in the first inning. Larry Stahl tripled with two out for three of them.

Chuck Dobson 2-4 will pitch for Kansas City tonight at California against the Angels' Dean Chance 3-7.

Buchek and Gagliano each hit a two-run homer for St. Louis to give lefthander Al Jackson all the runs he needed to subdue Pittsburgh for his fifth victory against four losses.

Buchek hammered his home run off rookie lefthander Woody Fryman in the second after Mike Shannon singled. Gagliano, subbing for Charley Smith, who has suffered a broken finger, smacked his in the sixth with Lou Brock aboard on a single.

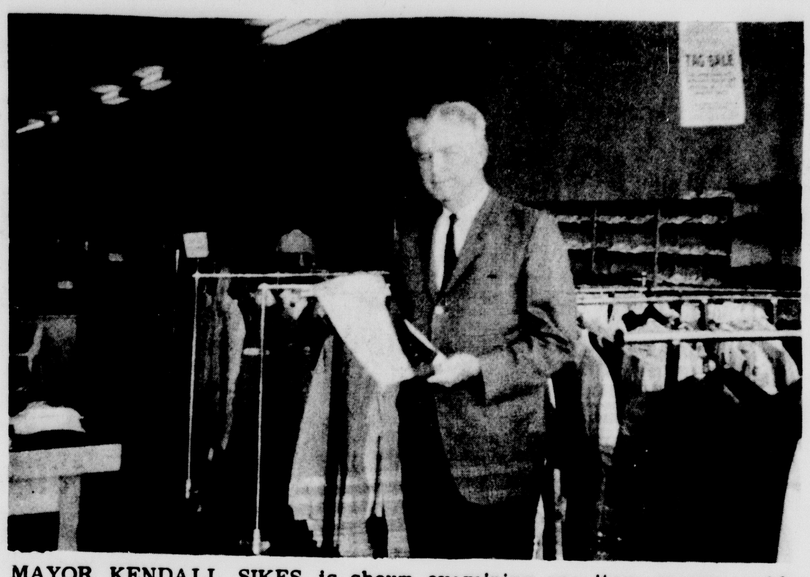
Fishing throughout the Ozarks continues to be rated fair, with water conditions excellent. Purple plastic worms are producing most catches on the larger lakes, though topwater fishing is accounting for a number of bass early in the morning and late in the evening. Ozark streams are rated good to excellent, with only the St. Francis River having any dingy water. River stages are: Clarksville, 17.5; Winfield, 17.1; Grafton, 15.5; Alton Pool, 23.1; Lakeside Pool, 657.0; Table Rock, 914.72; Norfork, 551.58; Bull Shoals, 653.25; Pomme de Terre, 839.0; Greers Ferry, 458.81; Beaver, 1114.42; Clearwater, 500.32; Kentucky, 358.8.



MAYOR KENDALL SIKES is shown examining one item among a wide variety of goods offered by the local Goodwill Industries store. This item once belonged to a public-spirited individual who donated it to Goodwill so that handicapped workers could earn wages repairing it for later re-sale.

'New Look' For Goodwill Store

Mayor Kendall Sikes of Sikeston has commended the "new look" of the Sikeston Goodwill Industries store, saying "It now compliments all the businesses on the street."

The "new look" makes it easier for people to shop for budget priced merchandise at the non-profit store. Sales at Goodwill stores provide wages for handicapped workers who take repairable discards given by people in the community and convert them into usuable items.

Betty Groves of 805 School Street, Charleston, has been manager since July, 1964, and Billie Carroll, 202 Daniel Street, Sikeston, has been clerk at the store for the same length of time.

Mayor Sikes states he knows a good deal of the work of Goodwill Industries and believes it is a wonderful thing that the organization is able to help so many handicapped people and, at the same time, provide economical, good quality clothing and other merchandise for the community.

Under the Goodwill plan, citizens donate a wide variety of items which are collected by truck or sent in to a seven-story building at 4140 Forest Park Boulevard in St. Louis. Here nearly 600 handicapped men and women are trained, rehabilitated and employed in 46 different trades and occupations. The repairable discards become the raw material that provides a source of income and a source of hope for workers who cannot obtain employment otherwise. Many of these workers will eventually graduate to private industry. Meanwhile they are able to maintain themselves independently of the relief rolls.

Caruthersville Passes Annexation Vote

CARUTHERSVILLE -- The city of Caruthersville grew by some 800 acres and an estimated 200 persons at about 7 p.m. Tuesday night as the final vote was counted in the special election in which the proposed annexation carried about 17 to 1.

The final vote was 175-10, Mayor B. F. Rogers reported. He said he was not really surprised at the light vote pointing out that special elections in which there is little controversy seldom draw much of a turn out.

The Mayor said most city services will be available to the newly annexed area immediately, such as police and fire protection and garbage collection. Pipe has already been strung for the new water lines to the area and will be laid as soon as the line to the new Caruthersville Shipyard has been completed. Sewer service for that area is included in the current plans which are to be carried out as soon as federal funds are approved in Washington.

The new territory which officially became a part of the city when the vote was counted Tuesday night almost completely surrounds the old city. However, a map shown by the Journal last week erroneously included a piece of the land owned by Mrs. Jere Kingsberry between the levee and the river as being part of the annexation. It had been deleted through agreement between her and the city Council earlier this year.

While city services become available immediately to the property owners and residents of the new area, taxation on the property cannot begin until the 1967 tax year. Most of the land involved is unimproved and now used for farming.

est evidence of damage started in the Yellow Dog Community south and west of East Prairie and moved northeasterly. "Hail damage is largely confined to a narrow strip, about one - half mile wide," Webb stated. Some corn fields are badly shredded, and in some cases damages to wheat is total.

THERE WERE also mixed reports of damage to roofs, and television antennas. He listed the following: Turnbo farm, corn damage; Albert Morgan, corn and roof damage; in the Millar Community, Roy and Frank Hanor, building and crop damage; Billie Johnson and Bud Cervantes, crop damage; Thomas Collins, roof and crop damage, and the Krauss farm, crop damage.

Ax Falls, Woman Hurt

CHARLESTON - Mrs. Richard Sutherland suffered a severe cut on the scalp and a possible concussion Monday afternoon when she was struck by an ax wielded by her husbanded.

She was taken to a local physician, where five stitches were required to close the wound, and was then taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Cairo for overnight observation.

Mr. Sutherland said Tuesday he and his wife were putting up stakes for tomatoes in their garden when the accident occurred. Mrs. Sutherland was holding the stake, looking downward, when her husband swung. The ax handle broke, and the ax struck her in the head.

She was reported in good condition Tuesday afternoon.

East Prairie Sets Summer School Plan

EAST PRAIRIE -- A full schedule of summer programs for children in grades one through 11 plus kindergarten and pre-kindergarten will get underway Monday in the East Prairie R-2 School District, according to Superintendent Ray Melton.

OPERATION HEADSTART, for children who will be five by September 1, has been funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity for $27,537. Some 135 children can be accommodated in the program.

A kindergarten program, for children who will be six by September 1, has been in operation since March under a grant from the Office of Education under the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act. This program will continue through the summer, Melton said.

An intermediate remedial program, for children who are having trouble with their school subjects, will be in operation for grades one through six. A secondary program will take care of grades seven though 11, the superintendent said. These programs are being funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity with a $40,257 grant. Instruction will be given in reading, speaking, writing, and listening. Some 400 students can be accommodated through this grant, Melton said.

ANOTHER PROGRAM starting Monday is a driver education course for persons age 15 and older. Fee for this course is $20. and the instruction includes classroom work and practical driving experience.

A Neighborhood Youth Corps project for 60 youngsters age 16 and up is also in operation this summer, Melton said. About 40 boys and 20 girls are performing custodial, maintenance, secretarial, and cafeteria jobs. They are paid $1.25 per hour.

Melton said one Headstart class, one kindergarten class, and two intermediate (grades one through six) remedial classes will be held in R-2 facilities at Dorena. All other programs will be held in East Prairie. Bus service is available for rural children.

THE SUPERINTENDENT said 46 teachers and supervisors are employed for the summer on the various projects.

Transogram Sells Notes

Charles S. Raizen, chairman of Transogram Company, announced the direct sale to an institutional investor of $2,500,000 of 5¾ per cent notes due 1986. Lehman Brothers arranged the placement for the company, a leading manufacturer of toys, games and juvenile furniture.

Proceeds of the financing will be added to the general funds of the company for use in connection with an expansion program which includes construction of a 250,000-square - foot addition to Transogram's Easton, Pa. plant. This will make that facility one of the most modern and efficient of its kind in the toy industry.

In 1965, Transogram reported sales of $18,087,929, up 34 per cent from $13,511,219 in 1964. Earnings rose 90 per cent to $794,977 to $.80 per share, as compared with $423,906 or $.42 per share a year earlier. At the recent Toy Fair in New York, Transogram booked over $3.5 million in new orders for its 1966 toy line.

Hike in State Taxes Predicted To Cover Costs of Medicare

A prediction that Missouri will have to raise taxes to meet "open end" costs to be imposed on states by the little known Title 19 of the federal Medicare law was voiced here Thursday by State Sen. Albert M. Spradling, Jr.

The Cape Girardeau Democrat said "we're frightened and we're scared" of the financial burdens, as yet uncalculated, that are in prospect under Title 19 within a few years.

He spoke at a luncheon of the Hospital Association of Metropolitan St. Louis, which held a day-long Medicare institute at the DeVille motor hotel.

REQUIREMENTS

Title 19 requires that states extend Medicare to all persons on public assistance by Jan. 1, 1970. Failure to comply means withdrawal of federal matching funds for state health and welfare programs.

Some 231,000 persons now are on state rolls for Old Age Assistance, Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to the Blind, Aid to the Disabled and General Relief.

Sen. Spradling, who is chairman of the Legislature's interim committee on mental hospitals, noted that Title 19 provides that five basic services must be provided all public assistance recipients.

They include inpatient and out - patient hospital care, other laboratory and X-ray services, skilled nursing home care for "all over age 21" and physicians' services "wherever provided," the legislator said.

ESTIMATES STATES COSTS

State Welfare Director Proctor N. Carter has estimated Missouri's additional costs will be $12-15 million, and this is "just to start," Sen. Spradling said.

The speaker also pointed out that Title 19 requires that states must provide medical services for all "medically indigent" persons, irrespective of age, by 1975.

New Gas Rate Schedules

Associated Natural Gas Company and its parent organization, Arkansas - Missouri Power Co., have announced the filing of new rate schedules for certain large industrial gas customers amounting to an estimated $44,317 annually.

The new rate schedules, subject to approval of the Arkansas and Missouri Public Service Commissions, will effect all industrial users in this area who are now served on the companies' "interruptible" schedules.

Even though states can define the limit and scope of medical services for those not receiving public assistance, Sen. Spradling said he believes a "large number" of Missouri citizens will qualify.

He said he "doesn't see how" this state will be able to comply with Title 19 without a tax increase. Although noting that Gov. Hearnes has said he hopes one can be avoided, the legislator said "I see no way."

New Madrid County Farms Decreasing

NEW MADRID -- A total of 1418 farms was counted in New Madrid county during the 1964 Census of Agriculture, the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census reports.

In the last previous Census of Agriculture (1959) the total counted in the county was 2108 farms.

The 1964 total is published in a preliminary report on the county just issued. The report also shows that average farm size in the county was 278.5 acres and that the average value of the county's farms (land and buildings) in 1964 was $124,739.

Other important county statistics in the report are:

1. Value of all farm products sold by farms in the county in 1964, $30,549,098; in 1959, $30,711,942.

2. Value of all crops sold by county farms in 1964, $29,226,051; in 1959, $29,353,336.

3. Value of all livestock and livestock products sold by county farms in 1964, $1,322,420; in 1959, $1,358,606.

Information obtained for the first time in an agricultural census included the amount of income received by the county's farmers ($627.00) from recreational services, as well as data on the use of pest control chemicals in the county in 1964.

Storm Damages Crops

CHARLESTON -- A late evening summer storm Tuesday dumped 1.44 inches of rain on the Charleston community. Lightning, thunder, strong surface winds and hail accompanied the storm which struck here about 6:20 p.m.

Tom Alsup, who has lived for 44 years on a farm two miles west and one mile south of East Prairie, visited this newspaper office Wednesday morning, and exhibited a plastic rain gauge which had been broken by hail. Two glass storm windows of the Alsup home had also been splintered by hail which ranged in size from one - fourth inch to flattened discs larger than an egg. Mr. Alsup advised that the ground was covered with ice pellets, and that crop damage in his community was extensive.

THE STORM front moved in rapidly from the southwest and apparently spent much of its initial charge in south Mississippi county.

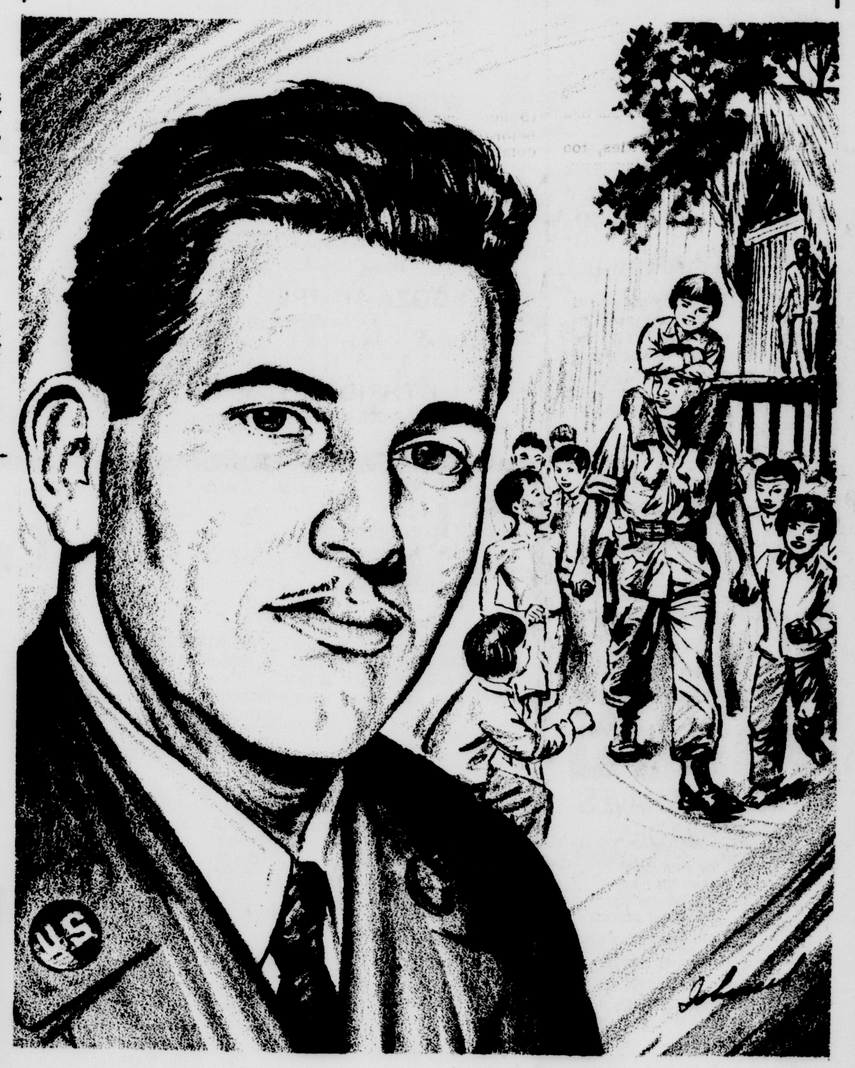
The Dogwood community reported 2.4 inches of rainfall and considerable hail and wind.

In the Millar Community several trees were uprooted, and roofs blown off of sheds and barns. Heavy amounts of hail were also reported.

According to Joe Webb of the Webb Service Agency, the greatest damage was reported in the Yellow Dog community.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL



"I came here to help these people," said S/Sgt. Arthur McMellon of Hamlin, West Virginia to his company commander in Viet Nam one day. "When I can't do that, they can ship me home, one way or another."

The way Sergeant McMellon helped these people made him a favorite with the Ben Cat kids, who flocked after him, clambered over his jeep and vied for the chance to wash it. Even adults began to smile at him, though there were plenty of Communists around.

Last Thanksgiving day, Sgt. McMellon managed to commandeer enough turkeys from the army to feed 67 hungry youngsters.

But within a week, while has was driving into Ben Cat, his jeep was the only one among hundreds to be blasted by a road mine. Intelligence officers were sure he was singled out to die.

"If his death was worth it," said the chaplain, "then the whole thing's worth it."

Sgt. McMellon shipped out for home the other way, but there are many children in Ben Cat who will remember the sergeant who helped them.

Joseph Leslie, Jr.

Joseph Leslie Graduates From Ohio University

Joseph Allen Leslie, Jr. was one of 1450 graduates to receive a degree in a colorful commencement ceremony on the Campus Green of Ohio University, Athens, Ohio on Sunday, June 5th. Mr. Leslie graduated with a Degree in TV-Radio Script writing and Production. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Leslie, 911 Moore Ave., along with his brother, Rik, Mrs. Stella Emory and Mrs. Leroy Leslie were in Athens over the week-end for the Commencement.

During his four years at Ohio University he had the major role in three of the annual Varisty Shows, besides writing the entire script for one of the University's musical comedies, in which he had a role also. He was a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity and was recipient of the Honor Student Award by his fraternity in his sophomore year and was their representative at the Blue Key Honor Society convention in Kansas City. He served as secretary of his fraternity in his sophomore year. Mr. Leslie also was awarded three honors in his senior year being first runner-up to the King of the J-Prom Annual senior event, winning first place in the talent contest, and receiving an award from his fraternity for this division of the J-Prom University contest. In his junior and senior years he was employed by the University as student assistant to professor of the Drama-English under-graduate courses. Ohio University presently has a student enrollment of approximately 14,500.

After Commencement Joe, Jr. immediately left for New York where he will pursue his career in TV writing and production, and will be employed as a theatrical agency representative.

#33 In A Series To Acquaint You With The Churches In This Area.

CHARLES WARREN
Pastor

THIS WEEK SALUTING

First Oneness Pentecostal Church

The present church is located at West Malone and Southwest streets and is an affilliate of the national organization, The Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ Inc. with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., through the affilliation of the pastor. The church is an independent assembly and operates only from the capital solicited from the membership and the people of Sikeston. The present site and building was purchased March 12, 1945 by Rev. Edd Smith and the congregation.

The present pastor Rev. Warren first pastored the church for a period of three months in 1961, and then in 1964 he accepted the church as a regular pastorate. There have been many improvements made to the building and also the doctrinal framework of the church since Rev. Warren came to the church as pastor. Some of which are the installation of a kitchen and the rearranging of the classrooms and remodeling the bath rooms. The woodwork has all been newly stained and varnished, the floors have been sanded and varnished, and with the help of many of the Sikeston business men there has been new church pews added.

At the first service which Rev. Warren conducted after becoming pastor there were thirteen people present, now there are seventy two attending services, and Rev. Warren says the Lord is adding to the church continually. He also said the church school facilities are fast becoming too small, and that the church has started a fund raising campaign for a new building and site. The site has not yet been acquired, but it has tentatively been selected.

A new undertaking is now in progress by the church, and that is a free bus service for the elderly and unfortunate people who don't have their own transportation. All any one has to do is call the church school committee at either of the telephone numbers listed below and preparations will be made for their transportation to and from church services.

The Rev. and Mrs. Warren and their daughter Charlene have made their home at 301 Kay Drive in Sikeston, and they would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to their many firends, the people of Sikeston, including the businessmen who have been so wonderful. Rev. Warren said without the help of their many friends it would have been inpossible to have accomplished so much in so short a period of time, but they are looking forward to a much more enjoyable and prosperous future for their labors here than even in the past. There is an invitation to all to call upon these people if and when they may be of service to you.

Church services are on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday at 7:30 p.m. and at 10:00 on Sunday morning. There is also a Gospel Singing service on the last Saturday of each month 7:30 p.m. featuring local and visiting talent.

Telephone numbers for the church school committee are GR1-9020 GR1-5443.

Robert Goodwin is the church school superintendent.

THE PRAYER
For Today From The Upper Room

FRIDAY, JUNE 10, 1966
Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus. (Philippians 2:5)
PRAYER: Give us, O God, the mind that was in Christ Jesus so that we may ever forgive those who wrong us. Thus may we receive Thy gracious forgiveness for our own hearts. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

Looking Back Over The Years

Lawrence L. Plummer, O.D., optometrist and optician of Cairo, Ill., was in Sikeston Monday. He has made arrangements to visit Sikeston one day each week and will have office rooms with Dr. Harrelson, the dentists, in the McCoy & Tanner building.

Marshall Myers and Miss Edith Shuppert were united in marriage on May 22 at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. C. S. Hale, in Charleston.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitchell are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter May 20th.

The Board of Education at a special meeting on June 3rd, made plans to hold a special election to vote bonds to provide funds for the erection of a new colored school and to double the size of the Bailey Elementary School. The election will be held on June 25th at the city hall.

Plans have been completed for construction of a $95,000 high school building at Matthews and the Matthews school district is this week advertising for bids from contractors.

Mrs. R. H. Sizemore entertained at a birthday party Saturday evening in honor of her small daughter, Elizabeth, who that day was six years old.

Murphy Celebrates Birthday Saturday

Luther Murphy is now living at 133 North Ranney Street. He will be 35 years old Saturday.

Luther spends much of his time making leather goods such as billfolds, purses and key rings. He also takes orders for strawberries in season and makes a little extra cash in the strawberry business. Luther is a great fisherman when he can get someone to take him on his stretcher to the Lake bank. That is one of the happiest times of his life.

Luther is a very active member of the first Baptist Church. Even though Luther is on his back at home he does a lot of work for the church by the telephone. He telephones people about special functions at the church. He has several friends from the church who come by often and bring him literature, read scripture and have prayer.

Anyone who would like to go by and wish Luther a happy birthday, feel free to do so as he and his family are always happy to have company at any hour. Luther enjoys telephone conversation with people. He would be glad to receive a call from anyone at any time.

Luther enjoys most going to church, fishing, picnics, and going to the Sale Barn where he sells a lot of his leather goods at auction.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Every community has its quota of chiselers who bum rides to work from the friendly neighbor. They always have a fancy assortment of excuses for not driving their own cars but they fool no one. They are simply saving money on gas, wear and tear on their tires, and sometimes parking money.

The other day I had such a character in my car -- fifth time that week. What started out as a light drizzle turned into a cloudburst. The visibility was zero and we nearly had an accident. Fortunately, we arrived at our destination without incident.

The office manager, hearing me tell about the close call, said, "I never take my neighbors to work in the morning -- I don't want the responsibility. If a passenger is hurt he could sue the socks off you. I've seen it happen."

Someone else said if he had a car he would make the passengers sign a piece of paper, relieving the driver of all legal responsibility, in case of an accident.

Would such a piece of paper be valid? Does it make sense to you? --MR. ACCOMODATOR

Dear Mr.: A signed statement absolving the driver of responsibility in case of an accident may or may not be valid -- depending on the state you live in. If you were to ask the free loaders to sign such an agreement, however, it might discourage them from bumming rides.

I assume you are a prudent driver so this won't apply to you, but: The passenger who rides with a careless driver just because it's free should get his head examined and sometimes does -- in the hospital after the accident.

Dear Readers: Ten lashes with a wet noodle won't do this time. That would be letting me off much too lightly.

I refer to the counsel I offered "Redding Rose" -- the woman who said she could not get up before a group and give her name and address without shaking for half an hour. My advice: "If there is a Toastmaster's Club in your town, join it."

Well, dear folks, if Rose makes the grade, she'll be the first woman who ever did. The Toastmaster's Club is for men only.

I should have told her to join the ToastMISTRESS' Club. Today my face is redder than any Rose in Redding. ---
ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Help please. My husband is in the Navy and this is the first time we have lived out of Navy housing.

Every few days some neighbor asks me to buy eggs, butter, milk, cigarets, coffee and what not - because I can get these commodities for a lot less at the Navy commissary than she pays in the supermarket. I hate to say no, because I go every few days for my own groceries, and everyone knows it. However, if I am caught buying for my neighbors I will lose my commissary privileges.

Please print my letter so my neighbors will see it and stop asking me to break the rules. Thank you. -- NAVY WIFE

Dear Wife: Here's your letter, but don't expect miracles. You are more at fault than your neighbors. If you had not said yes the first time you wouldn't be in this spot now. CUT IT OUT!

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, gives authoritative and complete information on how to plan a wedding. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35¢ in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Head Start To Begin at Charleston

CHARLESTON -- "Operation Headstart" will begin in the R-1 District next Monday, according to Miss Modena Garwood, supervisor of pre-school training.

FOUR AND FIVE-YEAR-OLDS

The eight-week program will be for 150 pre - school children who plan to enter kindergarten this fall. To be eligible a child must be five years old by Sept. 1, 1966. If a child was in the previous R-1, District kindergarten program he will not be eligible for Headstart this summer.

Miss Garwood said Headstart is a wonderful opportunity for children to receive training which will help them succeed in later school tasks.

During the eight-week program the youngsters will receive every possible kind of training to enrich their background of experiences she said. They will receive medical and dental examinations; their hearing and sight will be checked; they will receive nourishing meals each day; experiences will be added through educational trips; and supervised play activities will instill cooperative attitudes in the children.

Pre-Marital Clinics Aid In Problems

by CAROL MILLER

June brings with it the traditional flock of marriages; but before most young couples are married by their ministers, they usually participate in pre-marital clinics or instruction courses which are sponsored by a majority of the Sikeston churches.

As a rule the bride will call her minister to engage him for the wedding ceremony. If she and her fiance do not request a conference, the minister generally suggests it. Although the Episcopal and Catholic faiths are the only ones that require a pre - marital conference, before the couple can be married in the church, the other denominations in Sikeston strongly urge it as an accepted procedure. Many pastors have made it their own personal policy; for as the Rev. Myron Neal, pastor of the First Christian church, says, "In a sense the pastor assumes a certain responsibility for each marriage he performs and has a personal investment in it." A minister may also refuse to marry a particular couple because they avoid a conference which the minister deems necessary.

After a conference session has been scheduled, several avenues can be followed. The Rev. Bill Spencer, assistant pastor of the First Methodist church, advocates three conferences -- a separate one with the bride and the groom and then a joint conference. Usually the denominations urge conferences only until the minister is satisfied of the couple's compatibility and prospects for a good marriage; however, as pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church Vicar W. Pipes Jones must have a minimum of six hours discussion before he can marry a couple with the church's blessing.

One of the primary ways of starting a conference is for the minister to ask the engaged couple leading questions which develop into a thorough discussion of the major areas to be considered -- the economic, physical, and spiritual aspects of marriage. Generally in the economic section, emphasis is placed upon the damaging effect that the management of finances can have on a marriage. Often one of the marriage partners will have been accustomed to having more material possession than their new income as a family unit will permit, so this has to be accepted and recognized as a possible obstacle. As to the spiritual, Vicar Jones, as other ministers do, uses these conferences to "reveal to engaged couples the Christian implication of holy matrimony and how it can best be fulfilled." In the conference session, the biological factors are skimmed, and couples are usually referred to a medical doctor and provided with explanatory reading material.

The Catholic church in their required courses of pre-marital instruction cover the aspects of marriage in the greatest detail. First, the priest explains the spiritual aspect of marriage, and then other members of the community are brought in to explore the other facets. A gynecologist deals with the physical after which a prominent banker covers the problem of finances. Then a lawyer approaches marriage from a legal standpoint in exploring it as a contract between two individuals. In the final stage of the Catholic's instructive series, the prospective bride and groom split into workshops where young married couples answer questions and deal with the intimate problems which can and do arise in marriage. This strict course of instruction began in the Catholic church during World War I when many young couples were plunging into marriage with little consideration or deep thought.

From all reports, most of the soon - to - be marrieds are very responsive to the various programs. The Rev. James Hackney, pastor of the First Baptist church, has found in his experience that the older more mature couples are eager for counsel while the younger ones tend to be evasive and overconfident. Their degree of education and maturity appears to be in direct proportion to their responsiveness to pre - marital clinics.

The Rev. Spencer prefers to call his conference pre-counseling. He believes these sessions enable him to understand and know the individuals in the prospective marriage and thus pave the way for a trusting relationship which will enable him to aid them later in dealing with their marital problems as their pastor.

It is difficult to gage the success of these conferences because of the many varying factors in each situation. However, national statistics do claim that pre-marital counseling insures a more successful marriage. One example of this in Sikeston is that Vicar Jones has had only three failures in all of the marriages he has performed within the last thirty - three years; each of these couples had been counseled by him previous to their marriages.

Those people most closely related to pre - marital counseling -- clergy of the city -- certainly advocate it as a near necessity; and although the positive effects are hard to gage, it certainly does no harm. Many agree with the Rev. Hackney's statement. "Pre - marital counseling is excellent, and all couples can profit by having it."

Place of business .....
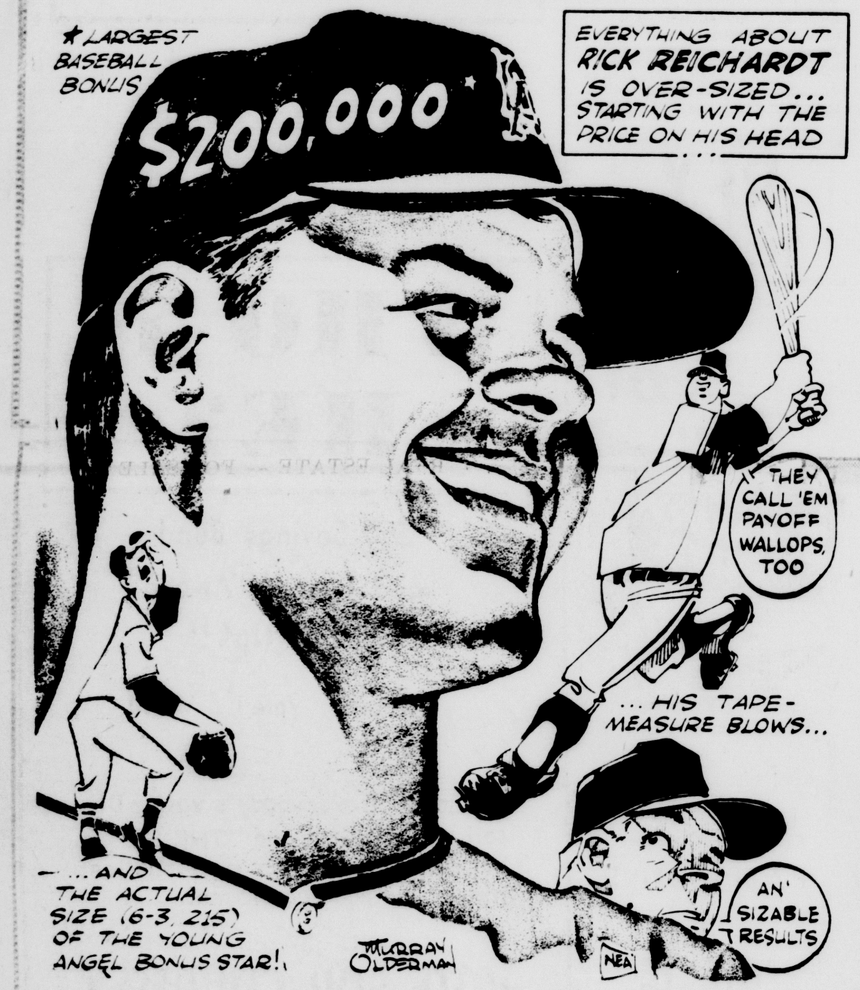
Yes, Sikeston is FRIENDLY! We can be proud of our residents -- their hospitality extended to all. At our places of business: our personnel are friendly folks. Yet, do we "slip a bit" at times? Can we all be FRIENDLIER? Isn't it an idea to, each day, think of this: "LET'S MAKE SIKESTON THE FRIENDLIEST CITY IN MISSOURI. Bear in mind: the person whom you don't know may be just passing through -- may be "looking our town over" with the idea of "locating here" -- regardless, you will give that person "his or her impression" of our city.
Clip out, fill in and please send or bring the above coupon to "Friendliest, Most Courteous" Employe Award at The Daily Standard, Bank of Sikeston, 1st National Bank, Security National Bank, Security Federal Savings & Loan Assn., or mail to the Daily Sikeston Standard, 205 S. New Madrid St., Sikeston, Mo. Voting ends July 16. Vote as often as you wish, but use only this award voting ballot.

CLEARLY REVEALED

SECOND GLANCE—Disgusted at first, Australian Bruce Devlin turned away from his putt. But he looked back just in case it might drop. He was right the first time.

SIZABLE INVESTMENT



(NEA Telephoto)

BOO!—In a Chicago police station, Paul "Peanuts" Panczko dons a plastic face mask of the type he and three companions were accused of wearing in the robbery of a jewel salesman.

HAIL THE KING—Mike Ford, owner of Kauai King, holds up the King's mascot, a dog named Preakness, so that the King can nuzzle. The horse's palace is at Aqueduct race track, site of the Belmont Stakes.

(NEA Telephoto)

MIGHTY MICKEY—Joe Pepitone reaches out to congratulate teammate Mickey Mantle crossing the plate in the 476th home run of his career. The first-inning homer against the Angels boosted the Yankee centerfielder into eighth place on the all-time home run list.

MASTER TRAFFIC AND PARKING PLAN FOR BUSCH MEMORIAL STADIUM

THAT BIG JUNKYARD IN THE SKY—As of the end of April 1966, NASA tracking computers counted 1,061 known earth objects floating around in space. Of these, 19 are deep-space or planet probes orbiting the sun (10 Russian; 9 American). Of the other 1,042 objects in earth orbit, 222 are satellites belonging to five countries, as shown in News-Graphic above. The rest are classified as "junk"—rocket casings, heat shields, ejection springs, separation bolts and at least one nonmetallic object, the glove left behind by astronaut Edward White last year. The First Lady won't have to launch a space beautification program, however, because all these satellites and debris will eventually be pulled closer and closer to the atmosphere and incinerate themselves. NASA estimates that 129 American and 598 Russian pieces of junk have burned up since the start of the space age.

Injured in Freak Accident

CHARLESTON -- Jim Seay, who is employed by Beck Brown, heating and air conditioning contractor, was knocked unconscious Tuesday morning in a freak accident. Seay was working under a new house being built by Bernie Sims in Plainview Addition when the accident happened.

Utility Company men figured that a frayed fire in contact with the moist ground furnished the electrical charge that shocked Mr. Seay when the workman completed the circuit by touching a metal pipe or duct.

Part of the flooring was ripped out to reach the unconscious man, who was rushed to the Delta Community Hospital, in the McMikle ambulance. He had suffered no burns, and after being treated, was released.

Rye Price Supports Announced For '66

Terminal and county price support rates for 1966-crop rye were announced by USDA, according to Roy Proctor, Jr., Chairman, Scott County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. They reflect the 1966 national average support price of $1.02 per bushel announced November 19, 1965, for rye grading No. 2 or better or grading No. 3 on the factor of test weight only.

The national average support for 1966-crop is the same as for the 1965-crop, However, the 1966 terminal and county price support rates not established off a terminal are one-cent per bushel lower than the 1965 rates.

The average of county rates, when weighted by recent years production, must average the announced national level. Because of recent shifts in production from lower to higher price-supported areas and some changes in transportation costs, it was necessary to make this one-cent adjustment so the average of county rates would be at the announced national average.

Price support will be carried out through farm and warehouse stored loans and purchases.

Participation in the 1966 feed grain program for corn, grain sorghum or barley is not condition for eligibility for price support on rye.

THE CITY OF SIKESTON, MISSOURI
Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of 1 1/2" hotmix asphaltic pavement on 6" soil cement base with concrete curb and gutter on Presnell Drive from Missouri in accordance with plans and specifications in the City of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Sikeston, State of Missouri, as follows: SECTION 1: That the Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said Street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the City of Sikeston. SECTION 2: That the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. SECTION 3: That the estimated cost of the improvement is $4.60 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. SECTION 4: That payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the State of Missouri and the ordinances of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the City Council the General Revenue fund of the City of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. SECTION 5: That any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the State of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the Industrial Commission of Missouri. SECTION 6: That the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this Resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 6th day of June, 1966. Approved: Kendall Sikes, Mayor, Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk.

To Every Home Owner:

Here's what it is:

"Title IV" of the so-called Civil Rights Bill—H.R. 14765 and S. 3296—is the forced, not fair, housing proposal that threatens to deprive you, as a home owner, of basic freedoms.

Here's what it would do:

1 Deny you freedom to contract with a person of your choice in the sale or rental of your home, or a room in your own home.
2 Deny you the right even to mention a preference for a person of your own religion in advertising for a roomer or tenant.
3 Subject you to suit by the U.S. Attorney General to force you to sell or rent to a person other than the person of your choice.
4 Delay indefinitely a rental or sale, pending final court disposition of allegations against you.
5 Subject you to payment of unlimited damages if you insist on exercising preference in a sale or rental.
6 Discourage sale of your home because the prospective buyer could not be assured of taking title until the deed is actually recorded.

Because we are concerned about the human rights of all Americans . . .

- We protest a law that gives one person the right to force another to enter into a contract against his will.
- We protest this attack on the human right of freedom of choice in disposing of private property.
- We believe progress in race relations will be retarded, not advanced, by this bill. Equal opportunity in housing is making progress under the influence of voluntary efforts of church, school and people of good will.

How can you make your protest heard?

The Congress will reject the forced housing features of this bill if you and other home and property owners write your Members of Congress and make it clear that you oppose this legislation because it would destroy rights of all Americans.

Today In U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, June 10, the 161st day of 1966. There are 204 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1692, the first of 20 persons was hanged as a witch in Salem, Mass. A sort of hysteria swept Salem during the rest of that summer and hundreds of people were accused and punished for allegedly practicing witchcraft.

On this date

In 1859, the Comstock Lode was discovered in Nevada. It produced a total yield in silver and gold of more than $340 million.

In 1945, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower received the Jeweled Order of Victory-Russia's highest award.

In 1947, President Harry S. Truman arrived in Ottawa. It was the first state visit to Canada by an American president.

Ten years ago - Republican congressional leaders said President Eisenhower would run for re-election. This came one day after Eisenhower underwent surgery at Walter Reed hospital in Washington. He was suffering from inflammation of the small intestine.

Five years ago - French-Algerian peace talks being held in France recessed on a note of pessimism in French quarters. But reliable Algerian sources said the situation wasn't as serious as was thought.

One year ago - Mass demonstrations, marches to City Hall and the school board began in Chicago to protest the pace of public school desegregation.

S.S. Man Here Monday

Mr. Raymond Jones, Field Representative from the Cape Girardeau Social Security Office, will be at the Courtroom, Police Dept. Building, 140 N. Prairie in Sikeston, Monday, June 13, at 10 a.m.

From the Greenfield, Ore. Tribune: "In deciding in favor of the new senior girls, Professor Robert declared he has spent some time considering the issue from every possible ankle."

From the Sunbury, Pa., Item: "Mr. Hook said that the information reported on Forms 1096 and 1099 will be used by Internal Revenue in its autocratic data-processing system."

Youth Corps Projects Announced

WASHINGTON AP - Seven Youth Corps projects, designed to provide summer jobs for 384 young Missourians, were announced today by the Department of Labor.

The Labor Department will pay the remaining 10 per cent of the cost. The workers, 16 through 21, will be selected from among those eligible for Economic Opportunity Act programs.

The sponsors, number of enrollees and the federal allotment for each:

Ava R-1 School District, 30, $14,040; Bradleyville R-1 School District, 20, $9,430. City of Campbell, 20, $8,520; Charleston R-1 School District, 34, $16,610; Curators of the University of Missouri, Columbia, 85, $77,600; Jefferson County Community Opportunity Corp., DeSoto, 150, $74,890 and Union School District R-XI, Union, 45, $18,710.

Bear Sighted

BUTLER, Mo. AP - An animal identified as a black bear has been sighted south of Butler.

The animal, weighing about 150 pounds, was spotted east of the junction of Highways 71 and 52 Wednesday evening by three Butler residents, Stanley Elliott, Larry Ingram and Carl Martin.

Confirmation that it was a bear came from John Hart, Bates County conservation agent, who identified it from plaster casts of its tracks and from hair obtained from fences and brush.

Hart said it was the first bear on record ever sighted in Bates County.

Hart said the state of Missouri has an inventory on bears and that as of this year the estimated population was 25.

Senate Passes 'Food for Freedom'

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Senate has passed a packaging bill and the House a "Food for Freedom" measure before recessing for a long weekend.

The Senate's 71-9 approval Thursday of the fair-packaging and labeling bill marked a milestone in the six-year fight led by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to make it easier for housewives and other shoppers to compare the prices of competing brands.

The legislation would give the federal government authority to regulate the weights and quantities in which a product can be marketed.

However, before the government could impose controls on package sizes, the manufacturer would have to be given a chance to adopt voluntary standards acceptable to the secretary of commerce.

The House is expected to go along with the Senate version of the bill later this session.

The House's food bill also included a milestone of sorts: For the first time it would make all crops eligible, not just those labeled surplus. The measure now goes to the Senate.

As approved by a 330-20 vote, the $6.6 million, two-year program emphasized aid for those nations willing to do more to solve their own agricultural problems.

Seven Satellites To Go Up Wednesday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. AP -- Seven military communication satellites that could link Washington, Viet Nam and military bases around the globe rocket aloft on a single Air Force Titan 3 rocket next Wednesday.

The Air Force said the satellites -- each weighing about 100 pounds -- will be kicked into orbit by spring devices after the triple-barreled Titan 3 executes a series of tricky maneuvers over a six-hour period to achieve an orbit 21,000 miles high.

Meanwhile, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said 17 of 21 experiments riding on America's orbiting OGO 3 satellite were successfully commanded Thursday and have begun beaming back data on secrets of the sun's relations to earth.

The other four experiments will be turned on later.

OGO -- for Orbiting Geophysical Observatory -- was launched Monday in an orbit ranging from 170 to 75,758 miles above the earth. OGO 3 is to study solar wind, solar flares, magnetic field disturbances, radiation and chemistry in space.

This first bundle of seven military communication satellites is designed to show whether a military communication satellite system is feasible.

extent of "educational deprivation" in the district. This is due to many factors, he said, including home environment.

"We found in kindergarten," Harris said, "that many of the children had never seen a book or a pencil."

The effectiveness of kindergarten programs is shown, Harris said, by the Metropolitan Readiness Test, which was given to the R-1 kindergarten students on April 1, and again in the last week of school. The class average jumped from a point in the 13th percentile in April (compared to a national "norm") to the 48th percentile in late May.

Tests used, in addition to the readiness test for kindergarten children, were the Metropolitan Achievement Test for grades one and two; the Iowa Test of Basic Skills for grades four through nine; and the Tests of Academic Progress in grades 10 through 12.

Other Action

In other action Wednesday, the board:

--Received a report from Architects Pearce and Pearce of St. Louis which revealed work in the new high school is about 30 days behind schedule. Primary reason for the delays, the architects said, is the wet weather. Work on foundations and footings, and on the granular backfill is behind, and this in turn has delayed underground rough-in work on plumbing. The planned cost of work accomplished at the end of May was originally $101,217, but the actual cost based on the contractor's monthly estimates, has been only $39,367.

-Accepted the resignations of Lanie B. Moore and Mrs. Harold Myers.

-Discussed investment of the money to be obtained next Monday when the $1,400,000 bond issue is sold. The funds will be invested locally, provided a competitive interest rate and acceptable withdrawal policy can be obtained from institutions here.

Heard a report on the teacher shortage from Assistant Superintendent Bill Hodges. Hodges said the district still needs four kindergarten, four first grade, four second grade, four third grade, two fourth grade, one fifth grade, one sixth grade, two special education teachers and one art supervisor, for a total of 23 elementary vacancies. Still to be filled on the secondary level are positions for a football coach, and teachers of French, Spanish, industrial arts, mathematics, science, and social studies.

The administration had also hoped to add, under a federal grant, an additional physical education supervisor, art supervisor, and music supervisor, and another special education teacher. These positions are also vacant, Hodges said.

-Voted to suspend for one year a board policy that teachers will not be hired for 1966-67 unless they have degrees.

-Heard a report from Superintendent Pierce on the projected July 1 balance, which revealed receipts and balances during the past year of $3,348,079; projected and actual expenses of $2,878,423 and a July 1 projected balance of $469,656.

Reseal Storage Rates Announced

Rates for on-farm storage of grain under reseal Price Support loan for 1966-67 were announced according to Roy Proctor, Jr., Chairman, Scott County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. They are unchanged from those in effect for 1965-66 and are in line with rates paid by CCC for grains stored in commercial warehouses under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement.

Grain under reseal storage gets storage payment based on rounded number of whole units, that is, 100 bushels or 100 hundredweights involved, except that on final payment rate based on units and tenths of units.

Following are the monthly reseal grain storage payment rates for 1966-67:

Corn, $1,095 per 100 bu., (1965), $1,004 per 100 bu. (1964 & prior crops).

Grain Sorghums, $1,960 per 100 cwt. (1965), $1,797 per 100 cwt. (1964 & prior crops).

On-farm storage payment rates for resealed grain based on units -- 100 bushels or 100 hundredweight as applicable -- per month rather than on daily per bushel or per hundredweight rate as established for Uniform Grain Storage Agreement. However, final payment rates for reseal are virtually identical to those for Uniform Grain Storage Agreement.

All grains continued under loan in on-farm resealed storage subject to call by CCC at any time whenever need arises to help fill a CCC grain disposal commitment.

Industrial Head To Speak Wednesday

CHARLESTON -- Henry C. Maddox, director of the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development, will be the guest speaker Wednesday, June 15, for a noon luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

Maddox's appearance is being sponsored by the industrial committee of the chamber, of which James Moran is chairman.

The luncheon will be held at the Charlestonian.

The first five meetings of the Chamber this year were held at night, but luncheons are scheduled for the months of June through September. Evening meetings will resume in October, according to July Shelby, Chamber secretary.

Census Shows Farm Change

CHARLESTON -- A profile of Mississippi County's changing agricultural picture is given in the preliminary report of the 1964 Census of Agriculture, received this week from the Bureau of Census.

THE CONSOLIDATION of farms is the most outstanding feature revealed by the census. In 1959, the previous agriculture census, 1,085 farms were reported in Mississippi County. In 1964, the figure had plummeted to 676.

The average number of acres per farm almost doubled, from 209 in 1959 to 385 in 1964. Of the county's total area of 263,040 acres, the census showed 99.1 per cent devoted to farming in 1964 as compared to 86.6 per cent in 1959. Total acreage in farms in 1964 was 260,619, compared to 227,676 in 1959, the census revealed.

The average value of land and buildings per farm nearly tripled in the five years, from $42,541 in 1959 to $136,582.

THE NEW CENSUS revealed there were 10 farms of 2,000 acres or more in 1964, compared with only four such farms in 1959. The number of farms with 1,000 to 1,999 acres increased from 26 in 1959 to 45 in 1964.

Other important county statistics in the report are:

Value of all farm products sold by county farms in 1964, $18,010,467; in 1959, $16,957,700.

Value of all crops sold by county farms in 1964, $15,399,659; in 1959, $14,864,725.

Value of all livestock and livestock products sold by county farms in 1964, $2,608,107; in 1959, $2,092,975.

Value of vegetable crops in 1964, $267,232; in 1959, $166,235.

Operation of farms by tenants in 1964, 307; in 1959, 689.

The preliminary report contains more than 500 facts about agriculture in the county. Single copies of the complete report are available from the Bureau of Census, Washington, D. C. 20233, or from any field office of the Department of Commerce. They cost 10 cents.

MRS. WARREN E. HEARNES spoke to the 10th District Democrat Women's Club annual spring convention Thursday at the Holiday Inn.

Mrs. Hearnes Speaks to Democratic Women

Mrs. Warren E. Hearnes spoke to the 10th District Democrat Women's Club annual spring convention Thursday at the Holiday Inn. Mrs. Hearnes said that she and Gov. Hearnes received encouragement from the 10th District when he was running for governor in 1964.

She said "We can do something about our office holders. Bad officials are elected by good citizens who stay home."

In her short talk, Mrs. Hearnes encouraged the group to be good citizens and take an active role in government. She said "A good citizen must be a friend. A sincere citizen is interested in his fellow citizens' welfare."

Other attributes of a good citizen Mrs. Hearnes listed were humility and faith. She said a good citizen should believe in something, believe in his fellow man and believe in himself. She reminded the Democrats "To be successful, you have to do something. To succeed takes courage."

In closing, Mrs. Hearnes added, "This is my challenge to you. Be a good citizen."

Mrs. Hearnes was introduced by Mrs. Connie Shuford of Chaffee. Approximately 160 attended the convention.

The business meeting of the club was held at 10:30 a.m.

Hal Hunter, Jr., prosecuting attorney of New Madrid county, introduced the guests.

The Bess Truman Club of New Madrid county was the hostess club.

To Hasten Weed War

JEFFERSON CITY AP - Missouri's mayors were urged today to step up urban weed control activity as part of the state's "War on Weeds" to aid natural beauty.

Dexter D. Davis, state commissioner of agriculture, sent letters to all mayors asking them to bear down on enforcement of their local weed control ordinances and also take steps to control weeds on public property.

NEW YORK AP -- Northern Ireland will make the ancestral home of the late President Woodrow Wilson a public shrine.

The British Travel Service announced Thursday in New York that the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre, Episcopal dean of the Washington Cathedral in the nation's capital, will conduct the ceremonies opening the house at Strabane, near Londonderry.

The home once belonged to James Wilson, grandfather of President Wilson, who migrated to the United States in 1807.

MANILA AP - Wanted: A Manila Beatle pad.

The Beatles are due in the Philippine capital July 4 and so far they have no place to stay. None of the city's hotels want them for fear of being invaded by fans of the mop-haired English singers.

Special Bond Election Called For Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD -- Acting upon a petition prepared by the local Chamber of Commerce and signed by the many members of the Chamber as well as all eight of the civic clubs of the city, the Bloomfield City Council has called for a special election to be held on Tuesday, July 5th, for the purpose of voting on a general obligation bond issue of $60,000 to cover the cost of the construction of a new water tower and the other necessary improvements in the city's water and sewer system.

In the petition to the Council, the local organizations stressed the urgent needs for this expansion in order to provide service and fire protection for the many new homes in the city as well as provide for further growth of both residential and industrial development.

It has been pointed out that the issuance of bonds in this amount could be made through an extension of the present indebtedness of the city without any increase in city taxes or a boost in consumer rates.

Drivers Charged In Accidents

Three accidents were reported in the Sikeston area Thursday, with seven accidents reported in the Troop E division of the Missouri Highway Patrol. No injuries or fatalities were reported.

At 7:20 yesterday morning at Highway 61 intersection, Charles Gardner, Matthews, pulled his 1964 Chrysler in front of a 1955 Chevrolet driven by Gene Wikowsky, Rector, Ark. Gardner was charged with careless and imprudent driving.

One mile north of Kewanee an accident was reported at 4 p.m. Herbert Tanner, Kewanee, driving a 1956 Chevrolet, stopped to pick up a hitch hiker, and his car was hit in the back by a 1965 Chevrolet driven by Joseph Collins, Jackson, troopers reported.

One mile north of Essex yesterday afternoon at 12:15 a 1954 Desoto, driven by Hershel Allen, Dexter, was sideswiped by a 1961 Chevrolet, driven by W. L. Woodard, Piggott, Ark., officers said. Allen was making a left turn and Woodard attempted to pass, troopers said. Woodard was cited for improper passing.

$1.3 Million Loan Approved for Dexter

DEXTER -- The Department of Housing and Urban Development at Washington, D. C., has approved a $1.3 million construction loan for 100 low-rent homes at Dexter, including 70 for the elderly, the two Missouri senators reported.

In addition to the 70 for the elderly, 30 homes will be constructed for low-income families, Harry B. Jennings, executive director of the Dexter housing authority said today.

Temporary development plans have been drawn up by a Dallas, Tex., architect, Jennings noted. The Dexter commission had applied for $1.476 million in federal funds, he said. Some of the proposed plans may have been cut by the federal agency.

The Dexter commission has not yet been notified of the approval, Jennings said, so no statement could be made on what is included in the construction plans.

Two other southeast Missouri communities also received approval for construction loans. Caruthersville received $2.5 million for 184 low-rent homes, 60 for the elderly, and Holcomb received $86,358 for low-rent homes, eight for the elderly.

Oran Council Works in Dark

ORAN -- The storm Tuesday night blew an electrical wire down near the city hall, causing the lights to go out midway the meeting of the Oran City Council.

Mayor I. C. Mattingly told other council members he had been invited to attend the regional meeting of city and county officials at Sikeston to discuss Senate Bill 14 that night and he was sorry to have missed it. Some early preparation in forming several commissions was planned at this time, he said. The Regional Planning Act becomes effective Aug 5.

Joe Gateley appeared before the council to make inquiries concerning city sanitary sewers. He asked when service could be made available to him as well as to city residents along Driskell street, Mayor Mattingly told Mr. Gateley some information is pending concerning federal grants.

Plans to build a bridge across Crooked Ford on East Railroad street were made. The street committee, with the assistance of Wesley Harris, will be in charge.

The council discussed a complaint received concerning trucks on Church street. A possible routing of trucks from Church street to State Route W is being considered, officials said.

24 Fined at New Madrid

NEW MADRID -- There were no felony cases in the New Madrid County Magistrate Court of Judge Erie Wright in sessions during the past week, but the judge heard 24 misdemeanor cases and assessed fines.

Charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, William Leonard Whalen was fined $120.000 and was sentenced to six months in jail and his operator license was suspended for a year.

Four fined for fishing without permits were William K. Jackson and Betty Williams, $20.00 each, and Sue Hubernes and Jesse Tate, $11.00 each.

Permitting an unlicensed person to operate a motor vehicle brought a fine of $15.00 against Elvis Allen Lomax.

Careless and imprudent driving counts caused fines of $15.00 each against Theodore Rosevelt York and Jim Hill, and the same amount was paid by James Edward Marcy Jr., on a careless and reckless driving charge.

Being an unlicensed operator brought a fine of $15.00 against Jesse Lee Anderson Jr., and Edward B. Stricklin paid the same amount for having an expired driver license.

Fines of $11.00 each were assessed against Bobby Gene Clayton for having expired license and Duriel Holland for having defective brakes.

A total of 11 persons were fined by the judge on excessive speed counts, they being Bervel Allen Moore $50.00; Willie B. Allen and Carey Wilson Jr., $25.00 each; Robert Ira Kelso $23.00; Robert Tilson, Major Phillips, George Bradley Vinyard and Thomas Wylie McCall, $20.00 each; and Robert Bruce Bradford, Connie S. Blanchard and Richard Scott, $15.00 each.

Amounts of excessive speed fines are usually based on the amount of excess over the legal limit in the particular area.

Charleston to Name Superintendent Soon

CHARLESTON -- The R-1 Board of Education is close to hiring a new superintendent of schools, according to President Bob DeLaney.

DeLaney said Wednesday night the only remaining obstacle is that the board's choice for the position must obtain a release from his present employers, which he hopes can be done in the next week. The name of the new superintendent was withheld pending action by the other board.

It is understood the prospective superintendent comes from the Lead Belt area.

Report on Testing

A major item of business Wednesday night at the board's regular June meeting was a report from evaluator Bill Harris on the results of a testing program conducted on 90 per cent of the R-1 District children in April. Harris said the tests show conclusively the Power Substation Hit by Lightning

BLOOMFIELD -- Lightning hit the SPA Substation at Idalia, Tuesday night just before 6 p.m., wrecking an oil circuit breaker and exploding it and causing an outage to all of the Scott- New Madrid-Mississippi Electric Co-Op lines, part of the Ozark Border Coop and part of the Black River Coop lines.

The blackout lasted almost two hours causing quite a lot of cold suppers. The Missouri-Arkansas Power Coop crew at Poplar Bluff arrived promptly and had the power on before 8 p.m. The necessary repairs were made by the SPA crew during the night and power was back to normal again Wednesday morning, according to Mack Scism, Branch Manager of the Scott-New Madrid-Mississippi Electric Coop.

Jones Suggests Taylor

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Congressman Paul C. Jones today recommended to the United States Post Office Department that Ewart S. Taylor be appointed acting Postmaster for Sikeston until a permanent postmaster can be selected.

The vacancy was created with Pleas Malcolm's death last week.

Taylor served as Malcolm's assistant until Malcolm died.

Warren C. Sokolis

Standard Hires State Editor

Warren C. Sokolis, has assumed the newly created position of state editor for the Daily Standard. His duties will include covering the news of southeast Missouri.

Born at Quincy, Ill., Sokolis grew up and attended public schools at Peoria, Ill. He has a bachelor of arts degree in sociology from Illinois College, Jacksonville, Ill., and has done graduate work in journalism at Indiana University, specializing in mass communications research. Upon completion of his thesis, he will receive his master's degree.

While at Illinois College Sokolis was editor of the campus newspaper, played varsity football and baseball and was elected to Who's Who in Colleges and Universities.

Sokolis worked for a year in Chicago and Champaign-Urbana, Ill., playing lead guitar with a well - known rock-jazz group. Prior to coming to Sikeston, he was district news editor of the Southeast Missourian at Cape Girardeau.

He is 27 years old and single.

To Renew Street Markers At New Madrid

NEW MADRID -- The board of aldermen of New Madrid offered assistance to the New Madrid Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday night in the organization's project of repairing, repainting and replacing street markers on corners of streets in the city, according to Pauline K. Allen, clerk of the board, who said that little other than routine matters came up at the June meeting of the council.

Appearing at the meeting for the Jaycees were Jack Lewis and Jimmy Cravens, who told the board of the need of replacing of about 15 of the concrete post type markers and the board offered to furnish them. Mayor Robert Riley appointed an aldermanic committee to look into their manufacture and purchase price.

The city is also to furnish paint and other supplies for the project while members of the Jaycees will do the actual work of repainting the posts and the street names and resetting them where necessary.

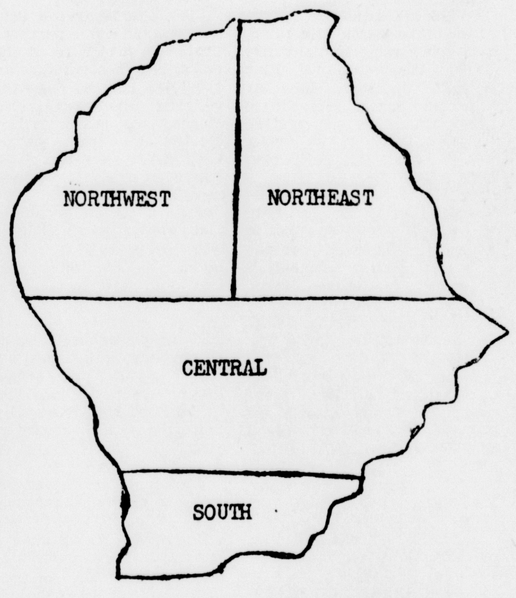
The name of Hunt Road was given to the former alley east of Russell between Riley and Pinell. This was done at the request of the Post Office department so that several homes on the road can receive mail delivery service.

Charles C. Hatley, coordinator in a plan for the purchase of the old Dawson home and park for historical and recreational purposes told the board of the necessity of surveying the plot and the board authorized the engaging of an engineer for that purpose.

The title of city health officer was given to Baz Horton in order that he might have sufficient authority to enforce clean - up of private yards when debris in those yards is such that it creates a health or fire hazard.

Minutes of last month's meeting were read and approved, as were reports of all officers, and the board ordered payment of all current bills of the city.

Service Center Plans Underway For County



THE FOUR regions that Scott County Service Centers are being scheduled to be located in.

By DAN D. WHITTLE

It is a program that "should have been instigated long ago," according to Fielding Potashnick, a member of the Scott County Economic Opportunity Corporation board of directors concerning the four Delta Area Economic Corporation Neighborhood Service Centers to be formed in Scott County.

Last night, an organizational meeting was held in the Scott Central high school building for dissemination of information about the service center to be located in the central part of Scott County. More than 100 persons were in attendance.

Purposes of the centers named in a release from the Office of Economic Opportunity in Portageville are:

(1) To provide a "point of contact" between the poor residents and the services that might be mobilized to help them.

(2) To establish centers that will provide a structure to allow impoverished residents of the Delta Area to become participating members of society and have a voice in the identification of their needs and determining and developing programs to meet these needs.

(3) To provide a correlation of available social health, and educational services that will enable indigent people of the area served to fully utilize all programs designed to meet their needs.

(4) To provide a nucleus around which neighborhood organizations, involvement, and action can be developed.

(5) To allow resident participation in the planning, development, and conduct of programs.

To sum it up the "centers will make available information that will allow areas and persons to take full advantage of the numerous federal programs involved in Johnson's War on Poverty'," Potashnick said.

No new buildings are to be built to serve as centers. Offices will be located in already constructed facilities and the rent each month cannot exceed $50. However, no sites have been selected yet.

Each center will be directed by a coordinator, who will be elected by each district's local board of directors. His salary will be $400 per month.

He can be assisted by two persons working 40 hour weeks or four persons working 20 hour weeks. Either way, the assistant will earn $1.25 per hour.

These service centers will work in close relations with the welfare offices, health department and the Homemaker Advisor Community Action program in providing services for the indigent families.

The Delta Area will be served in total by 33 service centers.

There will be one center in Sikeston that is to be located as near the Sunset addition as possible.

The coordinators and his office assistants will be appointed by officers of each center.

Sikeston's corporation officers were selected last week. They are: Donald Fulton, principal from Lincoln Elementary school, as president; Elmer Russell, truck driver from Hart's Bakery, as vice-president; and Minnie Simpson, a housewife, as secretary-treasurer.

They have not appointed a coordinator yet.

In each center's district, a board of directors will also be elected. Any number of persons can be on this particular board.

The board of directors will in turn select their representatives to be on the county Economic Opportunity Corporation board.

It has not been determined yet how many representatives will be from each center division. Potashnick said that probably Sikeston will have five or six and each other district

Lumber Company Break-In

ILLMO- The Southeast Missouri Lumber Company was broken into here last night according to Scott County Sheriff John Dennis.

Dennis said that the safe in the building was cracked open. "However," Dennis said, "the thieves managed to collect only 75 cents for the hour's work that must have been required to complete the break-in."

Entry in the building was made by forcing open the back door.

No arrests have been made.

Rats Bite Child

ST. LOUIS AP - A four-month-old boy was bitten critically by rats today as he was sleeping.

Mrs. Forhsee told police that her son's crying woke her up and she went to his bed. As she walked toward the bed, a rat jumped from the crib.

Plumbers And Contractors Agree

A basic agreement was reached last night between plumbers and building contractors in Sikeston in a meeting held at the Sikeston Administrative offices. The agreement would create a board of plumbing examiners and provide an inspector to approve plumbing construction in the city.

The two groups met with City Manager Raymert Miller and City Attorney, Manuel Drumm.

The plumbers would be responsible for the examination and licensing of those who wish to perform plumbing work.

The proposed plumbers code will be reviewed next week by the City Council in a special session and will likely act on it's adoption.

At present, there is no inspector.

This new code is to be drawn up rapidly in order to meet a July 1 deadline, the date that plumber's licenses are due.

Craig Endorsed For Seat On Appeal Court

Circuit Court Judge Marshall Craig was endorsed last night in a meeting of the Scott County Bar Association for a position on the Springfield Circuit Court Board of Appeals.

Governor Warren Hearnes will make the final appointment to the board from a panel of three men.

The three men will be from the southwestern part of the state, south-central, and southeastern.

The meeting was held at the Rustic Rock.

Replanting Approved Today

WASHINGTON AP - The Senate shouted approval today of a compromise bill to permit replanting of acreage allotments hit by natural disasters.

Voice vote approval sent the hard-fought revision of existing farm laws to President Johnson for expected signature.

Sponsors of the legislation said it would permit cotton, wheat and feed grain producers to sow other crops on their allotted acreages if these were hit by floods, drought or other disaster, and still collect farm benefits.

Some critics contended that some large cotton producers could collect big government checks on their land and then sow the same land to soybeans with a government price support of $2.50 a bushel.

MRS. WARREN E. HEARNES spoke to the 10th District Democrat Women's Club annual spring convention Thursday at the Holiday Inn.

Mrs. Hearnes Speaks to Democratic Women

Mrs. Warren E. Hearnes spoke to the 10th District Democrat Women's Club annual spring convention Thursday at the Holiday Inn. Mrs. Hearnes said that she and Gov. Hearnes received encouragement from the 10th District when he was running for governor in 1964.

She said "We can do something about our office holders. Bad officials are elected by good citizens who stay home."

In her short talk, Mrs. Hearnes encouraged the group to be good citizens and take an active role in government. She said "A good citizen must be a friend. A sincere citizen is interested in his fellow citizens' welfare."

Other attributes of a good citizen Mrs. Hearnes listed were humility and faith. She said a good citizen should believe in something, believe in his fellow man and believe in himself. She reminded the Democrats "To be successful, you have to do something. To succeed takes courage."

In closing, Mrs. Hearnes added, "This is my challenge to you. Be a good citizen."

Mrs. Hearnes was introduced by Mrs. Connie Shuford of Chaffee. Approximately 160 attended the convention.

The business meeting of the club was held at 10:30 a.m.

Hal Hunter, Jr., prosecuting attorney of New Madrid county, introduced the guests.

The Bess Truman Club of New Madrid county was the hostess club.

The Beatles are due in the Philippine capital July 4 and so far they have no place to stay. None of the city's hotels want them for fear of being invaded by fans of the mop-haired English singers.

Special Bond Election Called For Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD -- Acting upon a petition prepared by the local Chamber of Commerce and signed by the many members of the Chamber as well as all eight of the civic clubs of the city, the Bloomfield City Council has called for a special election to be held on Tuesday, July 5th, for the purpose of voting on a general obligation bond issue of $60,000 to cover the cost of the construction of a new water tower and the other necessary improvements in the city's water and sewer system.

In the petition to the Council, the local organizations stressed the urgent needs for this expansion in order to provide service and fire protection for the many new homes in the city as well as provide for further growth of both residential and industrial development.

It has been pointed out that the issuance of bonds in this amount could be made through an extension of the present indebtedness of the city without any increase in city taxes or a boost in consumer rates.

Drivers Charged In Accidents

Three accidents were reported in the Sikeston area Thursday, with seven accidents reported in the Troop E division of the Missouri Highway Patrol. No injuries or fatalities were reported.

At 7:20 yesterday morning at Highway 61 intersection, Charles Gardner, Matthews, pulled his 1964 Chrysler in front of a 1955 Chevrolet driven by Gene Wikowsky, Rector, Ark. Gardner was charged with careless and imprudent driving.

One mile north of Kewanee an accident was reported at 4 p.m. Herbert Tanner, Kewanee, driving a 1956 Chevrolet, stopped to pick up a hitch hiker, and his car was hit in the back by a 1965 Chevrolet driven by Joseph Collins, Jackson, troopers reported.

One mile north of Essex yesterday afternoon at 12:15 a 1954 Desoto, driven by Hershel Allen, Dexter, was sideswiped by a 1961 Chevrolet, driven by W. L. Woodard, Piggott, Ark., officers said. Allen was making a left turn and Woodard attempted to pass, troopers said. Woodard was cited for improper passing.

$1.3 Million Loan Approved for Dexter

DEXTER -- The Department of Housing and Urban Development at Washington, D. C., has approved a $1.3 million construction loan for 100 low-rent homes at Dexter, including 70 for the elderly, the two Missouri senators reported.

In addition to the 70 for the elderly, 30 homes will be constructed for low-income families, Harry B. Jennings, executive director of the Dexter housing authority said today.

Temporary development plans have been drawn up by a Dallas, Tex., architect, Jennings noted. The Dexter commission had applied for $1.476 million in federal funds, he said. Some of the proposed plans may have been cut by the federal agency.

The Dexter commission has not yet been notified of the approval, Jennings said, so no statement could be made on what is included in the construction plans.

Two other southeast Missouri communities also received approval for construction loans. Caruthersville received $2.5 million for 184 low-rent homes, 60 for the elderly, and Holcomb received $86,358 for low-rent homes, eight for the elderly.

Oran Council Works in Dark

ORAN -- The storm Tuesday night blew an electrical wire down near the city hall, causing the lights to go out midway the meeting of the Oran City Council.

Mayor I. C. Mattingly told other council members he had been invited to attend the regional meeting of city and county officials at Sikeston to discuss Senate Bill 14 that night and he was sorry to have missed it. Some early preparation in forming several commissions was planned at this time, he said. The Regional Planning Act becomes effective Aug 5.

Joe Gateley appeared before the council to make inquiries concerning city sanitary sewers. He asked when service could be made available to him as well as to city residents along Driskell street, Mayor Mattingly told Mr. Gateley some information is pending concerning federal grants.

Plans to build a bridge across Crooked Ford on East Railroad street were made. The street committee, with the assistance of Wesley Harris, will be in charge.

The council discussed a complaint received concerning trucks on Church street. A possible routing of trucks from Church street to State Route W is being considered, officials said.

24 Fined at New Madrid

NEW MADRID -- There were no felony cases in the New Madrid County Magistrate Court of Judge Erie Wright in sessions during the past week, but the judge heard 24 misdemeanor cases and assessed fines.

Charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, William Leonard Whalen was fined $120.000 and was sentenced to six months in jail and his operator license was suspended for a year.

Four fined for fishing without permits were William K. Jackson and Betty Williams, $20.00 each, and Sue Hubernes and Jesse Tate, $11.00 each.

Permitting an unlicensed person to operate a motor vehicle brought a fine of $15.00 against Elvis Allen Lomax.

Careless and imprudent driving counts caused fines of $15.00 each against Theodore Rosevelt York and Jim Hill, and the same amount was paid by James Edward Marcy Jr., on a careless and reckless driving charge.

Being an unlicensed operator brought a fine of $15.00 against Jesse Lee Anderson Jr., and Edward B. Stricklin paid the same amount for having an expired driver license.

Fines of $11.00 each were assessed against Bobby Gene Clayton for having expired license and Duriel Holland for having defective brakes.

A total of 11 persons were fined by the judge on excessive speed counts, they being Bervel Allen Moore $50.00; Willie B. Allen and Carey Wilson Jr., $25.00 each; Robert Ira Kelso $23,00; Robert Tilson, Major Phillips, George Bradley Vinyard and Thomas Wylie McCall, $20.00 each; and Robert Bruce Bradford, Connie S. Blanchard and Richard Scott, $15.00 each.

Amounts of excessive speed fines are usually based on the amount of excess over the legal limit in the particular area.

Charleston to Name Superintendent Soon

CHARLESTON -- The R-1 Board of Education is close to hiring a new superintendent of schools, according to President Bob DeLaney.

DeLaney said Wednesday night the only remaining obstacle is that the board's choice for the position must obtain a release from his present employers, which he hopes can be done in the next week. The name of the new superintendent was withheld pending action by the other board.

It is understood the prospective superintendent comes from the Lead Belt area.

Report on Testing

A major item of business Wednesday night at the board's regular June meeting was a report from evaluator Bill Harris on the results of a testing program conducted on 90 per cent of the R-1 District children in April. Harris said the tests show conclusively the

To Renew Street Markers At New Madrid

NEW MADRID -- The board of aldermen of New Madrid offered assistance to the New Madrid Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday night in the organization's project of repairing, repainting and replacing street markers on corners of streets in the city, according to Pauline K. Allen, clerk of the board, who said that little other than routine matters came up at the June meeting of the council.

Appearing at the meeting for the Jaycees were Jack Lewis and Jimmy Cravens, who told the board of the need of replacing of about 15 of the concrete post type markers and the board offered to furnish them. Mayor Robert Riley appointed an aldermanic committee to look into their manufacture and purchase price.

The city is also to furnish paint and other supplies for the project while members of the Jaycees will do the actual work of repainting the posts and the street names and resetting them where necessary.

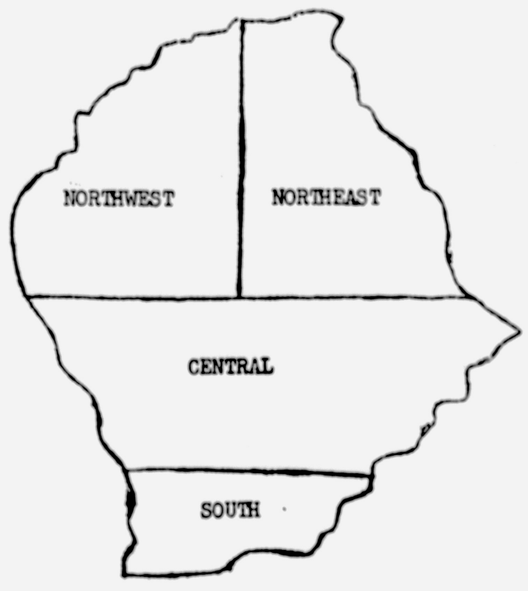
The name of Hunt Road was given to the former alley east of Russell between Riley and Pinell. This was done at the request of the Post Office department so that several homes on the road can receive mail delivery service.

Charles C. Hatley, coordinator in a plan for the purchase of the old Dawson home and park for historical and recreational purposes told the board of the necessity of surveying the plot and the board authorized the engaging of an engineer for that purpose.

The title of city health officer was given to Baz Horton in order that he might have sufficient authority to enforce clean - up of private yards when debris in those yards is such that it creates a health or fire hazard.

Minutes of last month's meeting were read and approved, as were reports of all officers, and the board ordered payment of all current bills of the city.

Service Center Plans Underway For County



THE FOUR regions that Scott County Service Centers are being scheduled to be located in.

"Who touches a hair of yon gray head
Dies like a dog! March on!" he said.
--John G. Whittier, "Barbara Frietchie"

A shade of sadness, a blush of shame, came over the face of the leader of the confederate up, when Barbara Frietchie chose death over insult to her country's flag. He should have known better. Americans have always tended to be sentimental about their national emblem. Francis Scott Key and George M. Cohan, among others, have kept alive the notion that the stars and stripes represents something pretty special. The Confederate flag, in terry cloth, has done duty as a beach towel. No manufacturer has dared to take such liberties with the National flag.

The first stars and stripes was created by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777. The anniversary of that date is now observed nationally, though unofficially, as Flag Day. During the American Revolution, the colonies used a variety of banners. The fledgling American Navy favored an emblem showing a pine tree and the motto "An Appeal to Heaven." The "Don't Tread on Me" flag, depicting a rattlesnake, was popular along the Atlantic seaboard. When Washington took command of the Continental Army at Cambridge, Mass., in 1776, he stood under the "Grand Union Flag," the canton of which contained the crosses of St. George (England) and St. Andrew (Scotland).

The original American flag contained 13 stars and 13 stripes, but that arrangement did not last very long. The star-spangled banner that Key saw by dawn's early light at Fort McHenry in 1814 had two additional "broad stripes and bright stars," representing Vermont and Kentucky. Four years later, Congress decided that enough was enough; it fixed the number of stripes at 13 and decreed that whenever a new state was admitted to the Union a new star should be added to the flag.

CREDITS AND DEBITS

With consumer debt at $87 billion, and mounting by about 9 percent a year, it would seem that the last thing the country needed at this time is a new kind of credit card. But two financial institutions -- the First Financial Marketing Group of Boston and the Bank of America -- plan shortly to introduce rival nationwide credit-card systems. Both the Bancardchek and the BankAmericard will be available on a franchise basis to banks in major metropolitan areas.

The Bank Americard is like any other credit card: a wallet-sized plastic rectangle bearing the holder's name, signature and account number. The Bancardchek, however, is a combination credit card, traveler's check and revolving loan account. In addition to a card, the Bancardchek owner gets a book containing $500 worth of checks in $25 and $50 denominations. The checks can be filled out for any amount up to the designated maximum. The service charge comes to 12¢ a check.

Meanwhile, an attempt to give President Johnson standby authority to curb consumer installment credit will be made on the House floor by mid-June. The House Banking and Currency Committee tacked the proposed authority onto a bill extending the Defense Production Act for two years. Johnson didn't ask for this power, but he probably would like to have it, just in case. Rising private debt, exemplified by proliferation of credit cards, could spell trouble in a war-heated economy.

THEFT OF THE WORST ORDER

A letter to the editor of this newspaper complains of the theft of easels and floral arrangements from graves in the Sikeston cemeteries. The writer of the letter conveys both the shock and anger of those who have placed flowers on graves of loved ones, only to discover they have been stolen within a few hours.

It is difficult to imagine the type of person who makes a practice of such thievery. It is indeed, theft of the worst order, carrying with it not only a connotation of thievery but of moral turpitude as well.

We agree wholeheartedly with the writer of the letter: something must be done.

Whether the employment of a 24-hour watch, an increased surveillance by the police or a standing reward for information of those committing such acts is the proper course, we are quite frankly undertain. Perhaps it would be well for cemetery boards to meet with city officials and some plan devised that would involve both agencies.

Whatever plan is best, certainly some remedial action should be taken, and taken quickly. This is theft of the worst order; it should and must be stopped.

THE MINIMUM WAGE PROBLEM

The head of the AFL-CIO union declares that an increase in the minimum wage to $2 an hour is needed. Congress will be asked to approve that figure, or one approaching it, when it convenes next year.

Many people who are sincerely concerned with the problems of the low-income groups will probably look favorably on this proposal. But there is much more involved than meets the superficial eye. There is every danger that an excessive minimum wage may seriously harm the interests of those it is supposed to help.

Various businesses have room for people whose skills are extremely limited. Retailing is a prime example. It offers employment to youngsters just starting out in the business world, to part-time housewives, and to others whose value to the store is slight. If the minimum wage is boosted to the point where the productivity of these workers cannot justify it, one result is certain -- store operators will be forced to seek ways and means of getting along with fewer marginal workers. Then the unskilled will find it harder and harder to get jobs and to obtain the experience that would qualify them for higher pay.

It may be argued that the stores and the other businesses affected could solve the problem by the simple expedient of raising prices. But that is much more easily said than done in this era of intense competition. And if it could be done, the burden of higher prices and inflation would fall heaviest on the low wage groups.

It may also be argued that the stores could use a part of their profits to take care of higher costs. But these profits are a great deal less than is generally believed. Food chains, for instance, commonly earn only a trifle more than a penny on each dollar of sales. There's just no margin for absorbing wage increases.

What it all comes down to is that worker productivity and wage levels are inseparably related. A law which ignores that fact must do more harm than good.

NO ESCAPE

The securities industry, like almost all other enterprises and organizations, has been feeling the pinch of rising costs. As a consequence, a Special Committee on Costs and Revenues has submitted a series of tentative conclusions to the Board of Governors of the New York Stock Exchange. These call for a "package approach" to the cost problem, including volume discounts for large transactions, a mandatory maintenance charge, and a modest increase in minimum commission rates.

The Exchange's President, G. Keith Funston, points out that despite high volume and rising stock prices, the net profit on commission business -- the business which goes on whenever stocks are bought or sold-is at a low level. The last commission increase took place in 1958 and since then virtually all costs have risen. As an example, salaries alone, which represent nearly a fifth of commission business costs, have increased more than 20 per cent since that year and other costs have shown a still larger rise. A large number of members firms of the Exchange have actually been operating at a loss on their security commission business.

In Mr. Funston's words, the committee feels that if existing conditions continue, "it would in the long run undermine the ability of the Exchange Community to serve the expanding future needs of the investing public." And that public, nowadays, numbers well over 17 million people.

The tentatively proposed increase in commission rates is small -- around 3.5 per cent. The securities industry, or any other, cannot escape the cost pressures of the time.

STATE BIGGER THAN ITS CITIES

"Our time-tested and successful pattern of legislative representation on both an area and a population basis provides a workable system of checks and balances. It assures a republic which is a truly representative form of government with consideration for minority and area interests."

Most Americans, we think, will agree with the above policy statement voted at the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Philadelphia last December. And we hope that the scholarly members of the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee now conducting hearings on the Supreme Court's "one-man-one-vote" order - for reapportionment on a population basis of bicameral state legislatures in which representation of either house is on an area basis -- will also recognize the traditional safeguards to representative government that are implicit in the original plan, both in the State House and in the Capitol of the U.S. And we can hope, too, for the Subcommittee's endorsement and the early passage of the Dirksen Resolution (S.J. Res. 2) for a Constitutional Amendment to block this meddling of the Court with the philosophy, structure and composition of our Government.

The majority opinion of the Court, as AFBF President Charles B. Shuman told the Subcommittee: "ruled out of consideration all other factors (than population) and took away the people of the states the right to determine how best to set up their own state legislatures. . . .It is not a question of the interests of rural versus city people," he declared, "but of whether we are to maintain our time-tested system of representative government."

Meanwhile, at the state capitals, the legislatures of no less than 19 of our sovereign states have passed resolutions (with action in six others completed in one house) calling on Congress to convene a Constitutional Convention on legislative apportionment. Thus the demand from the states is already close to the 2/3 level (34 states) at which the Congress must act.

On this issue, however, we should have the resolutions of all 50 states. For it should be apparent everywhere that questions of state policy should no more be left to the representatives of rural areas than to those of the metropolitan precincts. The power of the big city majority, even as it exists today in the various states that struggle for expression in the shadow of one or two huge cities, should be warning enough of the urgent need of Constitutional reinforcement of the machinery of representative government.

U THANT AND HUMAN RIGHTS

Ten years ago the heroic people of a proud and ancient city in eastern Europe fought and died for freedom in the face of overwhelming communist force. The free world gave them its sympathy, but no helping hand. They were crushed and their spirit was broken.

Appeals were made to the United Nations, during and after the uprising. The United Nations, so quick to intervene in free world disputes, so ready with force against small would-be free nations like Katanga and Rhodesia, said there was nothing it could do.

That city was Budapest in Hungary. Recently U Thant, eral, announced that a "human rights seminar" would be conducted in Budapest this June UN-DUCTED IN Budapest this June under U.N. auspices, with an agenda prepared by the U.N. secretariat "in consultation with the Hungarian Government."

U Thant may think the world has forgotten the freedom fighters of Budapest, many of them still held as political prisoners on a starvation diet, but there are many who have not. And right-thinking men can only be appalled at the grisly fraud of conducting a "seminar" on "human rights" over the graves of the children slain in 1956 by Soviet tanks and Mongol troops.

The United Nations has in its own files complete documentary proof of the causes and consequences of the Budapest revolt for freedom, the whole record of the communist government which still rules Hungary. Yet U Thant pleasantly enters into "consultation" with them about a discussion of human rights, and teaches a lesson beyond all understanding in hypocrisy. HLH

By Victor Riesel

Civil War Flares Inside Labor Over Reuther Charge That CIA Controls U. S. Labor's Foreign Policies.

Washington, D. C.: -- For months left - of - center, liberal critics of Lyndon Johnson's foreign policy have pounded him with some mighty big intellectual guns. They've cannonaded him from field bases in the universities, in the arts and in the professions.

But the mightiest mortar of all, criticism from a labor leader of prominence, has been missing.

Now, however, they have found one, and he has opened up.

He's the dynamic continent-hopping, younger brother of Walter Reuther, namely, Victor George Reuther, director of the auto union's far-flung and even further-ranging international affairs department.

His opening shot -- and it has been heard 'round the world --was a blunt charge that President Johnson's staunchest labor supporter, AFL-CIO President George Meany, and the latter's foreign affairs specialist, the fabulous mastermind of a thousand anti - Communist offensives, Jay Lovestone, are "involved" with the Central Intelligence Agency. (Mr. Lovestone directs the AFL-CIO's international affairs dept.)

Inside labor, such a charge is as deadly as getting up in Peking's main square and denouncing Mao as a Khrushchev revisionist.

It makes suspect all the work of the AFL-CIO's international affairs dept. These reach from championing of the Dalai Lama to cooperation in educating some 20,000 trade unionists each year in Latin America.

Such activities have ranged from the befriending of anti-Sukarno generals in Indonesia to building workers' homes in Honduras, to assisting democratic unionists in Africa to briefing the labor attaches of foreign embassies in Washington.

I have been deep in Africa where, in some capitals, labor leaders knew the names only of such Americans as the recent U. S. Presidents, the Vice Presidents -- and that of Irving Brown, one of Mr. Lovestone's colleagues in the international dept. here.

Thus when Victor Reuther charged that "Meany and Lovestone" not only were practically CIA agents, but were spending some $6 million in Latin America alone, they were shocked. Lovestone was in West Berlin for a labor convention to which he had brought Mr. Meany's greetings.

The Victor Reuther charge was embarrassing, not alone to Mr. Lovestone, but to the entire American labor movement which Meany personifies.

Mr. Meany was chagrined. He had just completed plans to leave the U. S. on June 19 for a world labor congress in Brussels.

He like all other insiders knew that the charge would be hurled at him wherever he went since it was first thrown by Victor, brother of Walter, whose name is synonymous in Europe with militant unionism.

So Mr. Meany telephoned Walter Reuther. The gist of the conversation was: Did this public attack represent Walter's thinking and the position of the influential auto union?

The Detroiter replied that it did not and that he had not known of the open criticism of the Meany - Lovestone activities before Victor had unburdened himself.

Victor had given a long interview on many issues and had not especially zeroed in on the CIA charge. But he had said it.

And so it flared in excitable circles as the most sensational conversation piece in recent years.

It set the pattern of the differences between the two forces inside labor.

Victor Reuther is an intellectual and ideological colleague of such men as Arthur Schlesinger Jr. and author-economist - university professor, John Kenneth Galbraith. He and they, for example, built the Committee on Free Elections in the Dominican Republic.

Victor Reuther attempted to give the committee staunch labor support. He sent letters to such influential leaders as the steel union's I. W. Abel. The latter did not join or support the group, which finally dispatched to Santo Domingo several score men led by Norman Thomas.

Committee leaders say they dispatched the ballot box observers after full discussion with Under Secretary of State Averell Harriman and other State Dept. officials.

However, Mr. Meany and Mr. Lovestone were opposed to such a committee which they believed insinuated that the U. S. and the Organization of American States would not permit fair elections.

There are other sharp differences.

Messrs. Meany and Lovestone are opposed, furthermore, to all exchanges with the Soviet Union, Eastern European nations and mainland China.

They reject exchanges of labor delegations with the Comunist bloc and Yugoslavia as well.

They are absolutely opposed to the administration of Peking China to the UN.

They reject trade with the bloc.

Without believing that Premier Ky is a Churchillian statesman, Mr. Meany is solidly behind President Johnson and the Vietnamese government and the U. S. policies in Southeast Asia.

The free election group, in which Victor Reuther is an articulate labor spokesman, as well as private citizen, differs with Meany on such policies almost all the way.

For the moment all elements involved are silent -- Victor Reuther, George Meany and the CIA. But my built-in radar indicates this silence soon will be broken -- except for the CIA, of course.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- While marines are fighting and dying in the Viet Nam jungle, some of the brass hats at home seem more preoccupied with the privileges of rank.

Lt. Gen. Victor Krulak, the Pacific marine commander, recently commandeered a marine transport plane, for example, to fly him from Pearl Harbor to the outlying island of Maui for a few days of golf and relaxation. He and his aide, Capt. Edward Townley, were the sole passengers.

Unhappily, the plane was too big for the small resort air strip, and the left wing got snagged on the sugar cane alongside the runway, causing the plane to veer into the cane field. The general emerged unscathed, his golf clubs intact, but the plane's right engine and landing gear ripped off.

Gen. Krulak doesn't have to worry about the repairs. The taxpayers will boot the repairs.

Maj. Gen. Herman Nickerson, the Camp Lejeune, N. C., commandant, returned from a California inspection trip with three Chukar game birds which he picked up on a side trip from Camp Pendleton to Bartow.

Camp maintenance men complain that they were ordered to build a cage for the birds, complete with an electric fence, in the commandant's yard. He also directed them to build a small stable, they say, for his horse.

The general, confronted with this evidence, insisted to this column that he and some friends did most of the work and that he paid a carpenter out of his own pocket to add the finishing touches.

He acknowledged that he had obtained defense department approval to spend $25,000 of nonappropriated funds to build a larger corral and stable for the base, but claimed the horses are available to anyone on the base. It will be interesting to see if any enlisted men ride.

Gen. Nickerson also admitted that he had ordered his conference room paneled and carpeted and that he had spent $1,600 to put up a brick sign at the base entrance reading "Camp Lejeune."

He agreed, under questioning, that some of the enlisted men's barracks, particularly for the recruits in infantry traning, were in a poor state of repair. He claimed, however, that the money spent on the stable, panelled conference room, and fancy sign couldn't be used to improve the barracks.

"The funds," he explained, "are not interchangeable."

MORE MARINE BEAUTIFICATION

At another marine base, Quantico, Va., maintenance men have complained about painting the steeple on the memorial chapel. The steeple, perhaps inappropriately, is an upright missile which some said was turning green.

Mrs. Frederick Wieseman, wife of the commandant, likes a tidy base. She used her influence, first to get the officers' club painted, then to transform the unsightly missile from faded green to a white, colonial-looking steeple.

Some maintenance men grumbled that they were poorly equipped for steeplejack work and that the missile's surface would cause a never - ending peeling problem if it were covered with paint. But other workers, who favored a camouflage job on the missile - steeple, volunteered their services. (The cost of painting the officers' club, it should be added, came out of nonappropriated funds.)

Note -- In fairness it should be said that all three generals have excellent records and would be glad to serve in Viet Nam.

JACKIE'S SNOOTY NEIGHBORS

The neighbors of Mrs. Jackie Kennedy in Somerset Hills, N. J., are not too happy about having the former First Lady living among them.

In the first place, most of the exclusive set where Jackie weekends is Republican. Second, Jackie attracts photographers. Pleasant Valley, where Jackie has taken a house, is a closed community with a fence around it, and gate with a guard at night.

At one time after Jackie arrived, the gate was locked to keep photographers out during the daytime, but this also kept out the garbage truck, and the residents of Pleasant Valley decided they would rather have photographers in than keep the garbage truck out.

Photographers have been especially prevalent on weekends when Jackie comes out with her children to ride. So the leaders of Pleasant Valley decided that Jackie could not hunt on Saturdays.

Shortly after this decision was made, a phone call came from Douglas Dillon, former secretary of the treasury in the Kennedy cabinet, stating that if Mrs. Kennedy could not ride on Saturday the hunt could not pass over his farm.

Since Doug Dillon owns the best farm in the area for hunting purposes, the leaders of the hunt quickly countermanded their edict. Jackie, even with photographers, is now permitted to hunt on Saturday.

FIRST NEGRO SENATOR

Democratic leaders in Massachusetts are greatly disturbed by a private poll which indicates that Republican Ed Brooke, the popular Negro attorney general of their state, will defeat either ex - Governor Endicott Peabody or John Collins, Mayor of Boston, regardless of which wins the Democratic primary for U. S. senator.

In the GOP primary, Brooke will win easily, perhaps without opposition. However, Peabody and Collins face a tough, head-to-head struggle, with Collins having a slight edge both in the Democratic party convention, which only endorses, and the Democratic primary in September, which makes the final selection.

In the gubernatorial race in Massachusetts, Eddie McCormack, nephew of the house speaker, will be given a hard battle by Morris Donoghue in the party convention, to be held soon, but experts in the know expect him to win easily over Donoghue in the Democratic primary later.

If so, McCormack will face Republican Gov. John Volpe, who is seeking another term, this time for four years.

NEW YORK AP -- You need more than a bottle of suntan lotion and a new pair of swimming trunks to get you through the summer successfully.

There are hundreds of tested examples of summer double-talk that should carry you coolly through any crisis, no matter how heated the temperature.

"Where did you get that marvelous tan, Jim?" It looks like it had been poured out of a bourbon bottle.

"The room is a bit cozy, sir, but you can see the ocean from it." You just look beyond those three big smokestacks - and there it is.

"Of course, those shorts are all right, Roscoe. You look fine in them." Oh, lordy, I do hope you aren't wearing them if we run into anybody we know.

"Now, just lean back in the water, close your eyes, and stretch out your arms, Mrs. Jones. Don't worry - you'll float." With all that blubber on you, lady, the Navy couldn't sink you with a five-inch shell.

"I'd like to join you at tennis, Joe, but the doc told me the only exercise I could take was bending my elbow." So take the hint, dummy-how's about pouring your guest a drink?

"You mean you grew those tomatoes all by yourself!" You must have-nature certainly didn't give you much help.

"We're tickled pink glad you could join us for the weekend." That's why we're feeling so blue.

"We don't want you to think of this as just another resort, but as a real home away from home." So please don't steal the light bulbs when you leave.

"And you, Marge, why don't you bring a bowl of your yummy potato salad to the picnic?" It may make the ants sick, but who cares about them?

"It's so relaxing here in your rustic little cabin. I can't think of any place we'd rather be, can you, Bob?" Maybe Alcatraz. Even there they never had wild mice in the walls.

IT'S A GRAND OLD FLAG

Dies like a dog! March on!" he said.
--John G. Whittier, "Barbara Frietchie"

A shade of sadness, a blush of shame, came over the face of the leader of the confederate up, when Barbara Frietchie chose death over insult to her country's flag. He should have known better. Americans have always tended to be sentimental about their national emblem. Francis Scott Key and George M. Cohan, among others, have kept alive the notion that the stars and stripes represents something pretty special. The Confederate flag, in terry cloth, has done duty as a beach towel. No manufacturer has dared to take such liberties with the National flag.

The first stars and stripes was created by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777. The anniversary of that date is now observed nationally, though unofficially, as Flag Day. During the American Revolution, the colonies used a variety of banners. The fledgling American Navy favored an emblem showing a pine tree and the motto "An Appeal to Heaven." The "Don't Tread on Me" flag, depicting a rattlesnake, was popular along the Atlantic seaboard. When Washington took command of the Continental Army at Cambridge, Mass., in 1776, he stood under the "Grand Union Flag," the canton of which contained the crosses of St. George (England) and St. Andrew (Scotland).

The original American flag contained 13 stars and 13 stripes, but that arrangement did not last very long. The star-spangled banner that Key saw by dawn's early light at Fort McHenry in 1814 had two additional "broad stripes and bright stars," representing Vermont and Kentucky. Four years later, Congress decided that enough was enough; it fixed the number of stripes at 13 and decreed that whenever a new state was admitted to the Union a new star should be added to the flag.

CREDITS AND DEBITS

With consumer debt at $87 billion, and mounting by about 9 percent a year, it would seem that the last thing the country needed at this time is a new kind of credit card. But two financial institutions -- the First Financial Marketing Group of Boston and the Bank of America -- plan shortly to introduce rival nationwide credit-card systems. Both the Bancardchek and the BankAmericard will be available on a franchise basis to banks in major metropolitan areas.

The Bank Americard is like any other credit card: a wallet-sized plastic rectangle bearing the holder's name, signature and account number. The Bancardchek, however, is a combination credit card, traveler's check and revolving loan account. In addition to a card, the Bancardchek owner gets a book containing $500 worth of checks in $25 and $50 denominations. The checks can be filled out for any amount up to the designated maximum. The service charge comes to 12¢ a check.

Meanwhile, an attempt to give President Johnson standby authority to curb consumer installment credit will be made on the House floor by mid-June. The House Banking and Currency Committee tacked the proposed authority onto a bill extending the Defense Production Act for two years. Johnson didn't ask for this power, but he probably would like to have it, just in case. Rising private debt, exemplified by proliferation of credit cards, could spell trouble in a war-heated economy.

THEFT OF THE WORST ORDER

A letter to the editor of this newspaper complains of the theft of easels and floral arrangements from graves in the Sikeston cemeteries. The writer of the letter conveys both the shock and anger of those who have placed flowers on graves of loved ones, only to discover they have been stolen within a few hours.

It is difficult to imagine the type of person who makes a practice of such thievery. It is indeed, theft of the worst order, carrying with it not only a connotation of thievery but of moral turpitude as well.

We agree wholeheartedly with the writer of the letter: something must be done.

Whether the employment of a 24-hour watch, an increased surveillance by the police or a standing reward for information of those committing such acts is the proper course, we are quite frankly undertain. Perhaps it would be well for cemetery boards to meet with city officials and some plan devised that would involve both agencies.

Whatever plan is best, certainly some remedial action should be taken, and taken quickly. This is theft of the worst order; it should and must be stopped.

THE MINIMUM WAGE PROBLEM

The head of the AFL-CIO union declares that an increase in the minimum wage to $2 an hour is needed. Congress will be asked to approve that figure, or one approaching it, when it convenes next year.

Many people who are sincerely concerned with the problems of the low-income groups will probably look favorably on this proposal. But there is much more involved than meets the superficial eye. There is every danger that an excessive minimum wage may seriously harm the interests of those it is supposed to help.

Various businesses have room for people whose skills are extremely limited. Retailing is a prime example. It offers employment to youngsters just starting out in the business world, to part-time housewives, and to others whose value to the store is slight. If the minimum wage is boosted to the point where the productivity of these workers cannot justify it, one result is certain -- store operators will be forced to seek ways and means of getting along with fewer marginal workers. Then the unskilled will find it harder and harder to get jobs and to obtain the experience that would qualify them for higher pay.

It may be argued that the stores and the other businesses affected could solve the problem by the simple expedient of raising prices. But that is much more easily said than done in this era of intense competition. And if it could be done, the burden of higher prices and inflation would fall heaviest on the low wage groups.

It may also be argued that the stores could use a part of their profits to take care of higher costs. But these profits are a great deal less than is generally believed. Food chains, for instance, commonly earn only a trifle more than a penny on each dollar of sales. There's just no margin for absorbing wage increases.

What it all comes down to is that worker productivity and wage levels are inseparably related. A law which ignores that fact must do more harm than good.

NO ESCAPE

The securities industry, like almost all other enterprises and organizations, has been feeling the pinch of rising costs. As a consequence, a Special Committee on Costs and Revenues has submitted a series of tentative conclusions to the Board of Governors of the New York Stock Exchange. These call for a "package approach" to the cost problem, including volume discounts for large transactions, a mandatory maintenance charge, and a modest increase in minimum commission rates.

The Exchange's President, G. Keith Funston, points out that despite high volume and rising stock prices, the net profit on commission business -- the business which goes on whenever stocks are bought or sold-is at a low level. The last commission increase took place in 1958 and since then virtually all costs have risen. As an example, salaries alone, which represent nearly a fifth of commission business costs, have increased more than 20 per cent since that year and other costs have shown a still larger rise. A large number of members firms of the Exchange have actually been operating at a loss on their security commission business.

In Mr. Funston's words, the committee feels that if existing conditions continue, "it would in the long run undermine the ability of the Exchange Community to serve the expanding future needs of the investing public." And that public, nowadays, numbers well over 17 million people.

The tentatively proposed increase in commission rates is small -- around 3.5 per cent. The securities industry, or any other, cannot escape the cost pressures of the time.

STATE BIGGER THAN ITS CITIES

"Our time-tested and successful pattern of legislative representation on both an area and a population basis provides a workable system of checks and balances. It assures a republic which is a truly representative form of government with consideration for minority and area interests."

Most Americans, we think, will agree with the above policy statement voted at the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Philadelphia last December. And we hope that the scholarly members of the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee now conducting hearings on the Supreme Court's "one-man-one-vote" order - for reapportionment on a population basis of bicameral state legislatures in which representation of either house is on an area basis -- will also recognize the traditional safeguards to representative government that are implicit in the original plan, both in the State House and in the Capitol of the U.S. And we can hope, too, for the Subcommittee's endorsement and the early passage of the Dirksen Resolution (S.J. Res. 2) for a Constitutional Amendment to block this meddling of the Court with the philosophy, structure and composition of our Government.

The majority opinion of the Court, as AFBF President Charles B. Shuman told the Subcommittee: "ruled out of consideration all other factors (than population) and took away the people of the states the right to determine how best to set up their own state legislatures. . . .It is not a question of the interests of rural versus city people," he declared, "but of whether we are to maintain our time-tested system of representative government."

Meanwhile, at the state capitals, the legislatures of no less than 19 of our sovereign states have passed resolutions (with action in six others completed in one house) calling on Congress to convene a Constitutional Convention on legislative apportionment. Thus the demand from the states is already close to the 2/3 level (34 states) at which the Congress must act.

On this issue, however, we should have the resolutions of all 50 states. For it should be apparent everywhere that questions of state policy should no more be left to the representatives of rural areas than to those of the metropolitan precincts. The power of the big city majority, even as it exists today in the various states that struggle for expression in the shadow of one or two huge cities, should be warning enough of the urgent need of Constitutional reinforcement of the machinery of representative government.

U THANT AND HUMAN RIGHTS

Ten years ago the heroic people of a proud and ancient city in eastern Europe fought and died for freedom in the face of overwhelming communist force. The free world gave them its sympathy, but no helping hand. They were crushed and their spirit was broken.

Appeals were made to the United Nations, during and after the uprising. The United Nations, so quick to intervene in free world disputes, so ready with force against small would-be free nations like Katanga and Rhodesia, said there was nothing it could do.

That city was Budapest in Hungary. Recently U Thant, eral, announced that a "human rights seminar" would be conducted in Budapest this June UNDUCTED IN Budapest this June under U.N. auspices, with an agenda prepared by the U.N. secretariat "in consultation with the Hungarian Government."

U Thant may think the world has forgotten the freedom fighters of Budapest, many of them still held as political prisoners on a starvation diet, but there are many who have not. And right-thinking men can only be appalled at the grisly fraud of conducting a "seminar" on "human rights" over the graves of the children slain in 1956 by Soviet tanks and Mongol troops.

The United Nations has in its own files complete documentary proof of the causes and consequences of the Budapest revolt for freedom, the whole record of the communist government which still rules Hungary. Yet U Thant pleasantly enters into "consultation" with them about a discussion of human rights, and teaches a lesson beyond all understanding in hypocrisy. HLH

By Victor Riesel

Civil War Flares Inside Labor Over Reuther Charge That CIA Controls U. S. Labor's Foreign Policies.

Washington, D. C.: -- For months left - of - center, liberal critics of Lyndon Johnson's foreign policy have pounded him with some mighty big intellectual guns. They've cannonaded him from field bases in the universities, in the arts and in the professions.

But the mightiest mortar of all, criticism from a labor leader of prominence, has been missing.

Now, however, they have found one, and he has opened up.

He's the dynamic continent-hopping, younger brother of Walter Reuther, namely, Victor George Reuther, director of the auto union's far-flung and even further-ranging international affairs department.

His opening shot -- and it has been heard 'round the world --was a blunt charge that President Johnson's staunchest labor supporter, AFL-CIO President George Meany, and the latter's foreign affairs specialist, the fabulous mastermind of a thousand anti - Communist offensives, Jay Lovestone, are "involved" with the Central Intelligence Agency. (Mr. Lovestone directs the AFL-CIO's international affairs dept.)

Inside labor, such a charge is as deadly as getting up in Peking's main square and denouncing Mao as a Khrushchev revisionist.

It makes suspect all the work of the AFL-CIO's international affairs dept. These reach from championing of the Dalai Lama to cooperation in educating some 20,000 trade unionists each year in Latin America.

Such activities have ranged from the befriending of anti-Sukarno generals in Indonesia to building workers' homes in Honduras, to assisting democratic unionists in Africa to briefing the labor attaches of foreign embassies in Washington.

I have been deep in Africa where, in some capitals, labor leaders knew the names only of such Americans as the recent U. S. Presidents, the Vice Presidents -- and that of Irving Brown, one of Mr. Lovestone's colleagues in the international dept. here.

Thus when Victor Reuther charged that "Meany and Lovestone" not only were practically CIA agents, but were spending some $6 million in Latin America alone, they were shocked. Lovestone was in West Berlin for a labor convention to which he had brought Mr. Meany's greetings.

The Victor Reuther charge was embarrassing, not alone to Mr. Lovestone, but to the entire American labor movement which Meany personifies.

Mr. Meany was chagrined. He had just completed plans to leave the U. S. on June 19 for a world labor congress in Brussels.

He like all other insiders knew that the charge would be hurled at him wherever he went since it was first thrown by Victor, brother of Walter, whose name is synonymous in Europe with militant unionism.

So Mr. Meany telephoned Walter Reuther. The gist of the conversation was: Did this public attack represent Walter's thinking and the position of the influential auto union?

The Detroiter replied that it did not and that he had not known of the open criticism of the Meany - Lovestone activities before Victor had unburdened himself.

Victor had given a long interview on many issues and had not especially zeroed in on the CIA charge. But he had said it.

And so it flared in excitable circles as the most sensational conversation piece in recent years.

It set the pattern of the differences between the two forces inside labor.

Victor Reuther is an intellectual and ideological colleague of such men as Arthur Schlesinger Jr. and author-economist - university professor, John Kenneth Galbraith. He and they, for example, built the Committee on Free Elections in the Dominican Republic.

Victor Reuther attempted to give the committee staunch labor support. He sent letters to such influential leaders as the steel union's I. W. Abel. The latter did not join or support the group, which finally dispatched to Santo Domingo several score men led by Norman Thomas.

Committee leaders say they dispatched the ballot box observers after full discussion with Under Secretary of State Averell Harriman and other State Dept. officials.

However, Mr. Meany and Mr. Lovestone were opposed to such a committee which they believed insinuated that the U. S. and the Organization of American States would not permit fair elections.

There are other sharp differences.

Messrs. Meany and Lovestone are opposed, furthermore, to all exchanges with the Soviet Union, Eastern European nations and mainland China.

They reject exchanges of labor delegations with the Comunist bloc and Yugoslavia as well.

They are absolutely opposed to the administration of Peking China to the UN.

They reject trade with the bloc.

Without believing that Premier Ky is a Churchillian statesman, Mr. Meany is solidly behind President Johnson and the Vietnamese government and the U. S. policies in Southeast Asia.

The free election group, in which Victor Reuther is an articulate labor spokesman, as well as private citizen, differs with Meany on such policies almost all the way.

For the moment all elements involved are silent -- Victor Reuther, George Meany and the CIA. But my built-in radar indicates this silence soon will be broken -- except for the CIA, of course.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- While marines are fighting and dying in the Viet Nam jungle, some of the brass hats at home seem more preoccupied with the privileges of rank.

Lt. Gen. Victor Krulak, the Pacific marine commander, recently commandeered a marine transport plane, for example, to fly him from Pearl Harbor to the outlying island of Maui for a few days of golf and relaxation. He and his aide, Capt. Edward Townley, were the sole passengers.

Unhappily, the plane was too big for the small resort air strip, and the left wing got snagged on the sugar cane alongside the runway, causing the plane to veer into the cane field. The general emerged unscathed, his golf clubs intact, but the plane's right engine and landing gear ripped off.

Gen. Krulak doesn't have to worry about the repairs. The taxpayers will boot the repairs.

Maj. Gen. Herman Nickerson, the Camp Lejeune, N. C., commandant, returned from a California inspection trip with three Chukar game birds which he picked up on a side trip from Camp Pendleton to Bartow.

Camp maintenance men complain that they were ordered to build a cage for the birds, complete with an electric fence, in the commandant's yard. He also directed them to build a small stable, they say, for his horse.

The general, confronted with this evidence, insisted to this column that he and some friends did most of the work and that he paid a carpenter out of his own pocket to add the finishing touches.

He acknowledged that he had obtained defense department approval to spend $25,000 of nonappropriated funds to build a larger corral and stable for the base, but claimed the horses are available to anyone on the base. It will be interesting to see if any enlisted men ride.

Gen. Nickerson also admitted that he had ordered his conference room paneled and carpeted and that he had spent $1,600 to put up a brick sign at the base entrance reading "Camp Lejeune."

He agreed, under questioning, that some of the enlisted men's barracks, particularly for the recruits in infantry traning, were in a poor state of repair. He claimed, however, that the money spent on the stable, panelled conference room, and fancy sign couldn't be used to improve the barracks.

"The funds," he explained, "are not interchangeable."

MORE MARINE BEAUTIFICATION

At another marine base, Quantico, Va., maintenance men have complained about painting the steeple on the memorial chapel. The steeple, perhaps inappropriately, is an upright missile which some said was turning green.

Mrs. Frederick Wieseman, wife of the commandant, likes a tidy base. She used her influence, first to get the officers' club painted, then to transform the unsightly missile from faded green to a white, colonial-looking steeple.

Some maintenance men grumbled that they were poorly equipped for steeplejack work and that the missile's surface would cause a never - ending peeling problem if it were covered with paint. But other workers, who favored a camouflage job on the missile - steeple, volunteered their services. (The cost of painting the officers' club, it should be added, came out of nonappropriated funds.)

Note -- In fairness it should be said that all three generals have excellent records and would be glad to serve in Viet Nam.

JACKIE'S SNOOTY NEIGHBORS

The neighbors of Mrs. Jackie Kennedy in Somerset Hills, N. J., are not too happy about having the former First Lady living among them.

In the first place, most of the exclusive set where Jackie weekends is Republican. Second, Jackie attracts photographers. Pleasant Valley, where Jackie has taken a house, is a closed community with a fence around it, and gate with a guard at night.

At one time after Jackie arrived, the gate was locked to keep photographers out during the daytime, but this also kept out the garbage truck, and the residents of Pleasant Valley decided they would rather have photographers in than keep the garbage truck out.

Photographers have been especially prevalent on weekends when Jackie comes out with her children to ride. So the leaders of Pleasant Valley decided that Jackie could not hunt on Saturdays.

Shortly after this decision was made, a phone call came from Douglas Dillon, former secretary of the treasury in the Kennedy cabinet, stating that if Mrs. Kennedy could not ride on Saturday the hunt could not pass over his farm.

Since Doug Dillon owns the best farm in the area for hunting purposes, the leaders of the hunt quickly countermanded their edict. Jackie, even with photographers, is now permitted to hunt on Saturday.

FIRST NEGRO SENATOR

Democratic leaders in Massachusetts are greatly disturbed by a private poll which indicates that Republican Ed Brooke, the popular Negro attorney general of their state, will defeat either ex - Governor Endicott Peabody or John Collins, Mayor of Boston, regardless of which wins the Democratic primary for U. S. senator.

In the GOP primary, Brooke will win easily, perhaps without opposition. However, Peabody and Collins face a tough, head-to-head struggle, with Collins having a slight edge both in the Democratic party convention, which only endorses, and the Democratic primary in September, which makes the final selection.

In the gubernatorial race in Massachusetts, Eddie McCormack, nephew of the house speaker, will be given a hard battle by Morris Donoghue in the party convention, to be held soon, but experts in the know expect him to win easily over Donoghue in the Democratic primary later.

If so, McCormack will face Republican Gov. John Volpe, who is seeking another term, this time for four years.

NEW YORK AP -- You need more than a bottle of suntan lotion and a new pair of swimming trunks to get you through the summer successfully.

There are hundreds of tested examples of summer double-talk that should carry you coolly through any crisis, no matter how heated the temperature.

"Where did you get that marvelous tan, Jim?" It looks like it had been poured out of a bourbon bottle.

"The room is a bit cozy, sir, but you can see the ocean from it." You just look beyond those three big smokestacks - and there it is.

"Of course, those shorts are all right, Roscoe. You look fine in them." Oh, lordy, I do hope you aren't wearing them if we run into anybody we know.

"Now, just lean back in the water, close your eyes, and stretch out your arms, Mrs. Jones. Don't worry - you'll float." With all that blubber on you, lady, the Navy couldn't sink you with a five-inch shell.

"I'd like to join you at tennis, Joe, but the doc told me the only exercise I could take was bending my elbow." So take the hint, dummy-how's about pouring your guest a drink?

"You mean you grew those tomatoes all by yourself!" You must have-nature certainly didn't give you much help.

"We're tickled pink glad you could join us for the weekend." That's why we're feeling so blue.

"We don't want you to think of this as just another resort, but as a real home away from home." So please don't steal the light bulbs when you leave.

"And you, Marge, why don't you bring a bowl of your yummy potato salad to the picnic?" It may make the ants sick, but who cares about them?

"It's so relaxing here in your rustic little cabin. I can't think of any place we'd rather be, can you, Boo?" Maybe Alcatraz. Even there they never had wild mice in the walls.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lee Wagley

KEWANEE - Mary Elizabeth Schuerenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Martin Schuerenberg, and Gary Lee Wagley, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wagley of Matthews, were married at 8 p.m. May 27 at the Kewanee Methodist church by the Rev. Jimmy Vest.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace gown fashioned with a scoop neckline and long finger tip sleeves. The bodice was fitted and the skirt was street-length. The bride wore a white veil and carried a white orchid corsage surrounded by white carnations and white ribbons tied in lovers' knots.

Mrs. Doris Jean Farrenburg of New Madrid, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Arlene Seib of St. Louis, college roommate of the bride, was maid of honor.

Sam Faulkner of New Madrid, a college friend, was best man. Jimmy Wayne Farrenburg, brother-in-law of the bride, was usher.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen table cloth and a four tiered wedding cake appointed one end. Also appointing the table was a large crystal punch bowl. Arrangement of pink roses centered the table.

The couple left following the reception for a trip through the Ozarks. For travel, Mrs. Wagley wore a pink dotted swiss sheath dress and white accessories.

The couple is now at home in Jonesboro, Ark., in the Indian Village trailer court on Arkansas State College campus.

Mrs. Wagley is a 1966 graduate of Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau and taught in the Risco school system. She will be teaching fifth grade in Harrisburg, Ark.

The groom is a senior at Arkansas State College.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Jimmy Vest, Mrs. Amy Vest, Miss Jo Coates, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Estes, Mr. and Mrs. Lynual Schuerenberg and Mrs. Iva E. Schuerenberg, all of Sikeston; Mrs. Anita Gaines, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mainord, Mrs. Shabie Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Rapier, Mrs. Barry Hill, Mrs. A. B. Wagley, Mr. and Mrs. Joe White, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Proffer and Mrs. George Proffer, all of Matthews.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Burnett, Gene Barnes, and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Whitten, all of Canalou; Mrs. Walter H. Jackson and Teresa, Miss Janis Pearson, Mrs. Joan Smith, Miss Carol Femmer, all of New Madrid; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Koeppel and Suzanne of Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. Theresa Seib of St. Louis.

Extension Club Meets With Mrs. Smith

LAFORGE -- The LaForge Extension Club met Monday at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Lucille Smith. The meeting was called to order by Vice President Mrs. W. H. Gilmer. The club collect was read.

The 10 members and seven guests present were Mrs. T. E. Bennett, Mrs. Virginia Keaton, Mrs. Vertis Fortner, Mrs. Darcy Spradling, Mrs. J. D. Eddy, Mrs. R. B. Vann, Mrs. Daisy Gilmer, Mrs. Jim Parker, Mrs. Joyce Welch, Mrs. W. O. Eddy, Mrs. Nora Jackson, Mrs. Lydia Hartlein, Mrs. Ray Smith, Mrs. Jimmy Smith and Mrs. T. E. Bennett's grandson.

Mrs. Welch of New Madrid, county health nurse, gave the program on "Medicare."

Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be July 5 with Mrs. W. H. Gilmer.

Ricky Jones Celebrates Birthday

Playmates helping Ricky celebrate and enjoying cake and ice cream were Mike Taylor, Lori Smith, Matthew and Scott McClellan, Charlotte and Jeannenne Stone, Patricia Pruett, Richard and Debbie Maznaritz.

Some of the children were out on vacation and Edward Dement, Suzie Miller and Jenny Archer were visitors that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce James Huber

Mary Lucille Wiles Says Vows With Bruce James Huber

Mary Lucille Wiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wiles, 224 North Prairie, and Bruce James Huber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Huber of Queens, N. Y., were married at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Northside Church of Christ.

Candelabra and baskets of yellow roses and ferns decorated the church.

Mrs. Jimmy Miller, soloist, sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because." The processional was the Harding College Choir's recording of "Faithful and True." The cermony was closed with Mrs. Miller singing "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown of nylon organza fashioned with a scalloped Chantilly type lace scoop neckline, long tapered sleeves and a molded bodice. The floor-length bell shaped skirt had a side drape of lace and lace scallops around the hem.

The veil of imported silk illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls and crystal drops. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of yellow roses and white net.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Larry Thomas of Hutchinson, Kans., sister of the bride, and bride's maid, Miss Sarah Bickford, also of Hutchinson, wore dresses of yellow Irish linen with matching lace jackets and carried bouquets of white roses.

Ronald Herren, Clinton, Tenn., was best man and Mike Kesler, Nashville, Tenn., was groomsman. The ushers were John Wiles, brother of the bride and George Buttery, Nashville, Tenn.

The three tiered wedding cake was surrounded with small yellow roses and topped with miniature wedding bells.

Those who assisted at the reception were Mrs. Max Wise, Kansas City; Miss Elva Embree, Hutchinson, Kans.; Miss Phyllis Bickford, Kansas City, Kans.; Miss Marilyn Cashon, and Mrs. E. V. Edwards, both of Sikeston.

Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. Clarence Ressel, of Quarryville, Penn., mother of the groom; Mrs. Nona Campbell of Trenton, aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Elburn Tennis of Hollister, Mr. and Mrs. Aubry Howard of Mayfield, Ky., Misses Dottie Crow and Dana Gray of Nashville, Tenn.

The couple will live in Abilene, Texas, where the groom will do graduate study in Biblical and patristic Greek at Abilene Christian College.

Local Briefs

Dr. and Mrs. Audra Smith, son Chris and Miss Caroline Jean McCord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCord, left last Saturday for St. Martin, Ohio, where they met their daughter, Lynne, who is a sophomore at the School of the Brown County Ursulines. While there, they all attended the one-hundred and twenty-first graduation of the school. Lynne returned with her parents, and plans on spending her entire summer vacation here in Sikeston with them, returning to the school this fall.

Here for several days last week, was Mr. William Grimsley of Columbia, Mo., who was visiting with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Paul Grimsley of Sikeston. Returning with him as far as St. Louis was Mrs. Paul Grimsley and her sister, Mrs. Harry Gilman, who spent from Friday until Monday visiting with friends of that city. While there as guests at the home of Mrs. D. Bays and Mrs. R. N. Cato, they attended church on Sunday, and were given a sermon preached by Reverend Joyce, formerly of Sikeston.

Here as guests last weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Casey of 422 William Street, were Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Phillips and daughter Joanell of Win, Arkansas.

This week Mr. Casey and Mr. H. M. Boardman have been spending the entire week at Kentucky Lake, where they are busy constructing a cabin.

Dick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Caskey who reside at 918 Allen Boulevard, was home from Kansas University this last week. Dick, who will be a senior at the University and is majoring in drama, left Sunday to begin playing summer stock at the Star Light Theatre in Kansas City, Mo. He plans to return to the University this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lee Wagley

KEWANEE - Mary Elizabeth Schuerenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Martin Schuerenberg, and Gary Lee Wagley, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wagley of Matthews, were married at 8 p.m. May 27 at the Kewanee Methodist church by the Rev. Jimmy Vest.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace gown fashioned with a scoop neckline and long finger tip sleeves. The bodice was fitted and the skirt was street-length. The bride wore a white veil and carried a white orchid corsage surrounded by white carnations and white ribbons tied in lovers' knots.

Mrs. Doris Jean Farrenburg of New Madrid, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Arlene Seib of St. Louis, college roommate of the bride, was maid of honor.

Sam Faulkner of New Madrid, a college friend, was best man. Jimmy Wayne Farrenburg, brother-in-law of the bride, was usher.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen table cloth and a four tiered wedding cake appointed one end. Also appointing the table was a large crystal punch bowl. Arrangement of pink roses centered the table.

The couple left following the reception for a trip through the Ozarks. For travel, Mrs. Wagley wore a pink dotted swiss sheath dress and white accessories.

The couple is now at home in Jonesboro, Ark., in the Indian Village trailer court on Arkansas State College campus.

Mrs. Wagley is a 1966 graduate of Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau and taught in the Risco school system. She will be teaching fifth grade in Harrisburg, Ark.

The groom is a senior at Arkansas State College.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Jimmy Vest, Mrs. Amy Vest, Miss Jo Coates, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Estes, Mr. and Mrs. Lynual Schuerenberg and Mrs. Iva E. Schuerenberg, all of Sikeston; Mrs. Anita Gaines, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mainord, Mrs. Shabie Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Rapier, Mrs. Barry Hill, Mrs. A. B. Wagley, Mr. and Mrs. Joe White, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Proffer and Mrs. George Proffer, all of Matthews.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Burnett, Gene Barnes, and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Whitten, all of Canalou; Mrs. Walter H. Jackson and Teresa, Miss Janis Pearson, Mrs. Joan Smith, Miss Carol Femmer, all of New Madrid; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Koeppel and Suzanne of Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. Theresa Seib of St. Louis.

Extension Club Meets With Mrs. Smith

LAFORGE -- The LaForge Extension Club met Monday at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Lucille Smith. The meeting was called to order by Vice President Mrs. W. H. Gilmer. The club collect was read.

The 10 members and seven guests present were Mrs. T. E. Bennett, Mrs. Virginia Keaton, Mrs. Vertis Fortner, Mrs. Darcy Spradling, Mrs. J. D. Eddy, Mrs. R. B. Vann, Mrs. Daisy Gilmer, Mrs. Jim Parker, Mrs. Joyce Welch, Mrs. W. O. Eddy, Mrs. Nora Jackson, Mrs. Lydia Hartlein, Mrs. Ray Smith, Mrs. Jimmy Smith and Mrs. T. E. Bennett's grandson.

Mrs. Welch of New Madrid, county health nurse, gave the program on "Medicare."

Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be July 5 with Mrs. W. H. Gilmer.

Ricky Jones Celebrates Birthday

Playmates helping Ricky celebrate and enjoying cake and ice cream were Mike Taylor, Lori Smith, Matthew and Scott McClellan, Charlotte and Jeannenne Stone, Patricia Pruett, Richard and Debbie Maznaritz.

KING

Mr. and Mrs. Bill King are the parents of a baby girl born Thursday at the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce James Huber

Mary Lucille Wiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wiles, 224 North Prairie, and Bruce James Huber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Huber of Queens, N. Y., were married at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Northside Church of Christ.

Candelabra and baskets of yellow roses and ferns decorated the church.

Mrs. Jimmy Miller, soloist, sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because." The processional was the Harding College Choir's recording of "Faithful and True." The cermony was closed with Mrs. Miller singing "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown of nylon organza fashioned with a scalloped Chantilly type lace scoop neckline, long tapered sleeves and a molded bodice. The floor-length bell shaped skirt had a side drape of lace and lace scallops around the hem.

The veil of imported silk illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls and crystal drops. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of yellow roses and white net.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Larry Thomas of Hutchinson, Kans., sister of the bride, and bride's maid, Miss Sarah Bickford, also of Hutchinson, wore dresses of yellow Irish linen with matching lace jackets and carried bouquets of white roses.

Ronald Herren, Clinton, Tenn., was best man and Mike Kesler, Nashville, Tenn., was groomsman. The ushers were John Wiles, brother of the bride and George Buttery, Nashville, Tenn.

The three tiered wedding cake was surrounded with small yellow roses and topped with miniature wedding bells.

Those who assisted at the reception were Mrs. Max Wise, Kansas City; Miss Elva Embree, Hutchinson, Kans.; Miss Phyllis Bickford, Kansas City, Kans.; Miss Marilyn Cashon, and Mrs. E. V. Edwards, both of Sikeston.

Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. Clarence Ressel, of Quarryville, Penn., mother of the groom; Mrs. Nona Campbell of Trenton, aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Elburn Tennis of Hollister, Mr. and Mrs. Aubry Howard of Mayfield, Ky., Misses Dottie Crow and Dana Gray of Nashville, Tenn.

The couple will live in Abilene, Texas, where the groom will do graduate study in Biblical and patristic Greek at Abilene Christian College.

Potlatch Trounces Doniphan 19-0

DONIPHAN -- The Sikeston Potlatch baseball team continued their winning ways here last night by trouncing the host 19-0, behind the one hit hurling of Dan Kern.

Sikeston, after a one hit no run first inning started their run scoring tactics with Gene Ramsey starting off the second inning with a double and scoring on a wild pitch for the first run. The Forresters scored 18 runs in the next three innings, six in the third, four in the fourth and eight in the fifth.

Greg Bailey continued his fine hitting, collecting four for five at bats last night with three RBI's, and now boasts an .875 batting average.

Dan Kern, strong lefthander, had a no hitter going until the fifth inning with two out and Dale Price at bat. Price played spoiler for Kern's no hitter, driving a hit into right field.

The Forresters collected fifteen hits with 35 times at bats.

Gene Ramsey was another leader in the Forresters win, he collected three hits and five RBI's.

The Forresters who now are leading the league with a 2-0 won-loss record will meet Bertrand (1-1) Tuesday night.

A-State To Enter Three Trackmen In Nationals

JONESBORO, Ark. - Arkansas State Track Coach John Rose will take three men to the National College-Division Track and Field finals which will be held at the University of Chicago today and tomorrow.

The small contingent, the first ever to attend the national meet from Arkansas State, will include two field men and one sprinter. During the past season the Indians had 15 men meet qualifying standards, however, due to freshmen and transfers being ineligible for NCAA competition and prior commitments, the Tribe will be small in numbers for its initial appearance in the meet.

The three making the trip include javelin thrower Jeff Lansdale of Winter Park, Fla., high jumper Jerald Spencer of Harrisburg and quarter-miler Randy Erwin of Little Rock.

Lansdale is ranked fourth in the nation in the javelin event with a toss of 247' 1", and of the top ten listed, he is the only college division entry. The other nine are in the university division which will meet in Indiana June 17-18. Lansdale holds the Arkansas Collegiate record in the javelin and has led Arkansas competitors in the event the past two years.

Spencer holds the Arkansas Collegiate record in the high jump with a leap of 6' 8 1/2" which came in the Southland Conference meet in 1965. His best jump this season was 6'-7 1/4" in competition, however, this past week he has been clearing 6' 8" consistantly and coming close to the 6' 10" mark.

Erwin ranked second in the state this season with a 48.3 mark which came in the SLC meet in Arlington this spring. The state leader is Elbert Stinson of Arkansas AM& N with a time of 46.3. Erwin is the youngest of the three Indians making the trip. He is a sophomore while the other two are juniors.

In the event that any of the three finish in the top six in Chicago, they will qualify for the University Division NCAA meet in Indiana the following weeken'.

Major League Stars

BATTING -- Harmon Killebrew, Minnesota Twins, hit two home runs, including the one which enabled the Twins to tie a major league record of five in one inning, in 9-4 victory over Kansas City.

Pirates Halted By Home Runs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The homer-hitting Minnesota Twins banged a record-tying five home runs in a six-run seventh inning that carried them to a 9-4 victory Thursday night over Kansas City.

The St. Louis Cardinals got some unexpected power from shortstop Jerry Buchek and subbing third baseman Phil Gagliano for a 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

The Twins quit hitting homers reluctantly in the seventh. Jimmie Hall made a heart-stopping bid to break the major league record for most home runs for a team in an inning after Harmon Killebrew smacked the fifth one, but Hall's drive fell two feet short of the fence.

The homer spree erased a 4-3 Kansas City lead. Pinch hitter Rich Rollins started it off starter Jim Catfish Hunter after Earl Battey walked. Zoilo Versalles followed with a four-base shot. Paul Lindblad came on to try to quell the explosion, but gave up homers to Tony Oliva and Don Mincher. John Wyatt relieved and was greeted by Killebrew's second homer of the game.

The five home runs set an American league record and tied the major league mark held by three National League teams.

The A's got four runs off Twins starter Camilo Pascual in the first inning. Larry Stahl tripled with two out for three of them.

Chuck Dobson 2-4 will pitch for Kansas City tonight at California against the Angels' Dean Chance 3-7.

Buchek and Gagliano each hit a two-run homer for St. Louis to give lefthander Al Jackson all the runs he needed to subdue Pittsburgh for his fifth victory against four losses.

Buchek hammered his home run off rookie lefthander Woody Fryman in the second after Mike Shannon singled. Gagliano, subbing for Charley Smith, who has suffered a broken finger, smacked his in the sixth with Lou Brock aboard on a single.

"EIGHTY OR BUST"

"Eighty or bust" is not a slogan from American history like "54/40 or fight" but it is the slogan to millions of people throughout the world when it comes to the game of golf! I suppose some people would say that I've become sort of a "golf addict" but I must admit I'm making up for lost time. I know during my baseball years I never cared too much about golf as some other fellows like Al Dark who can be labelled a "golf fiend" but I've done a lot of reading on the subject as well as a lot of playing since then and it's one heck of a sport as frustrating and enjoyable as anything you can think of.

However, I'm not going into any details of my golfing life so far except to say learning how to hook can make a man old before his time. I had been coming into the ball from the outside in which could have had a lot to do with my baseball habits in batting. I could say a lot of other blankety-blank things but I'd better stay with some general golf information.

Outside the United States there is supposed to be a conservative estimate of 12 million golfing lovers which also means that there must be an estimated 12 million women who have a lot of things to say to their husbands when they get home from their ventures. And I imagine no matter what the language the basic meaning gets through to everyone.

In our country golf is not just a game of golf. It also becomes the backdrop for many a business deal. Naturally, as with color TV sets, we have more golf courses than anyone else with the latest total being about 8,500 courses.

If you're an amateur golfer and have experienced that type of day when you wonder how far you can heave your golf clubs in a fit of anger, you ought to read a book titled "Golf: New Horizons" which tells you what happens to golfers all over the world. In India, for example, the golfer is supposed to hire two caddies with the second one being the important caddy. It seems there are a lot of monkeys there who have a craving for golf balls as some sort of food delicacy and it's up to the second caddy to beat the monkey to the ball. The only trouble is by the time the caddy is chasing the monkeys away the birds fly down and grab the ball anyway.

On Africa's golf course it's not unusual and I underline NOT unusual to see signs on the golf course which read "Elephants Have the Right of Way." Believe me if I ever play a course in the Congo and see an elephant, he can have more than the right of way -- he can have all the ways.

Therefore, I would suggest that the next time the ball hooks away in some ridiculous direction we can all cool off in the clubhouse or just stay home and watch Tony Lema on television sweating it out while we sip a cool drink.

Besides, from my own experience as a ballplayer, a lot of golfers have it easy. They take all the time in the world getting up to the ball, they can spend hours studying the grass, the crowd following keeps perfectly still, no boos, no yelling. What about us ballplayers with the crowd yelling all over the place and Koufax throwing the ball at you some 200 miles an hour? I don't want you to think I'm using that as an excuse for my own golfing ability but now it's going to be "70 or bust" or else!

FISHING NOTES

THE SMALL FRY

Too many youngsters today are dashing through adolescence without an opportunity to pull a wriggling sunfish out of a fishin' hole.

And, say the authorities, too many adults are missing an experience of a lifetime in not seeing them soak up this experience.

A kid's "first fish" -- though it be a lowly bullhead -- is mighty important. Long after a ball game is forgotten, or a new toy is discarded, this exploit in the out-of-doors will have significance. And the adult involved literally earns eternal respect and worship.

Teaching youngsters to fish requires a certain amount of technique, however. When you head for the creek bank, woods or marshes with a couple of towheads, leave your own gear at home. Equip your young charges with simple equipment such as cane poles or simple spinning reels in which they have become thoroughly schooled at home. Don't help them too much. Let them miss a few strikes, then analyze what happened and how it could have been corrected.

Sooner or later your efforts will be rewarded. An obliging sunfish or bullhead will fall to the youngster's neophyte skills. And, at that moment, you'll know that a boy or girl has learned a valuable lesson in life.

Perhaps, you will too.

Potlatch Trounces Doniphan 19-0

DONIPHAN -- The Sikeston Potlatch baseball team continued their winning ways here last night by trouncing the host 19-0, behind the one hit hurling of Dan Kern.

Sikeston, after a one hit no run first inning started their run scoring tactics with Gene Ramsey starting off the second inning with a double and scoring on a wild pitch for the first run. The Forresters scored 18 runs in the next three innings, six in the third, four in the fourth and eight in the fifth.

Greg Bailey continued his fine hitting, collecting four for five at bats last night with three RBI's, and now boasts an .875 batting average.

Dan Kern, strong lefthander, had a no hitter going until the fifth inning with two out and Dale Price at bat. Price played spoiler for Kern's no hitter, driving a hit into right field.

The Forresters collected fifteen hits with 35 times at bats.

Gene Ramsey was another leader in the Forresters win, he collected three hits and five RBI's.

The Forresters who now are leading the league with a 2-0 won-loss record will meet Bertrand (1-1) Tuesday night.

A-State To Enter Three Trackmen In Nationals

JONESBORO, Ark. - Arkansas State Track Coach John Rose will take three men to the National College-Division Track and Field finals which will be held at the University of Chicago today and tomorrow.

The small contingent, the first ever to attend the national meet from Arkansas State, will include two field men and one sprinter. During the past season the Indians had 15 men meet qualifying standards, however, due to freshmen and transfers being ineligible for NCAA competition and prior commitments, the Tribe will be small in numbers for its initial appearance in the meet.

The three making the trip include javelin thrower Jeff Lansdale of Winter Park, Fla., high jumper Jerald Spencer of Harrisburg and quarter-miler Randy Erwin of Little Rock.

Lansdale is ranked fourth in the nation in the javelin event with a toss of 247' 1", and of the top ten listed, he is the only college division entry. The other nine are in the university division which will meet in Indiana June 17-18. Lansdale holds the Arkansas Collegiate record in the javelin and has led Arkansas competitors in the event the past two years.

Spencer holds the Arkansas Collegiate record in the high jump with a leap of 6' 8 1/2" which came in the Southland Conference meet in 1965. His best jump this season was 6'-7 1/4" in competition, however, this past week he has been clearing 6' 8" consistantly and coming close to the 6' 10" mark.

Erwin ranked second in the state this season with a 48.3 mark which came in the SLC meet in Arlington this spring. The state leader is Elbert Stinson of Arkansas AM& N with a time of 46.3. Erwin is the youngest of the three Indians making the trip. He is a sophomore while the other two are juniors.

In the event that any of the three finish in the top six in Chicago, they will qualify for the University Division NCAA meet in Indiana the following weeken.

Pirates Halted By Home Runs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The homer-hitting Minnesota Twins banged a record-tying five home runs in a six-run seventh inning that carried them to a 9-4 victory Thursday night over Kansas City.

The St. Louis Cardinals got some unexpected power from shortstop Jerry Buchek and subbing third baseman Phil Gagliano for a 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

The Twins quit hitting homers reluctantly in the seventh. Jimmie Hall made a heart-stopping bid to break the major league record for most home runs for a team in an inning after Harmon Killebrew smacked the fifth one, but Hall's drive fell two feet short of the fence.

The homer spree erased a 4-3 Kansas City lead. Pinch hitter Rich Rollins started it off starter Jim Catfish Hunter after Earl Battey walked. Zoilo Versalles followed with a four-base shot. Paul Lindblad came on to try to quell the explosion, but gave up homers to Tony Oliva and Don Mincher. John Wyatt relieved and was greeted by Killebrew's second homer of the game.

The five home runs set an American league record and tied the major league mark held by three National League teams.

The A's got four runs off Twins starter Camilo Pascual in the first inning. Larry Stahl tripled with two out for three of them.

Chuck Dobson 2-4 will pitch for Kansas City tonight at California against the Angels' Dean Chance 3-7.

Buchek and Gagliano each hit a two-run homer for St. Louis to give lefthander Al Jackson all the runs he needed to subdue Pittsburgh for his fifth victory against four losses.

Buchek hammered his home run off rookie lefthander Woody Fryman in the second after Mike Shannon singled. Gagliano, subbing for Charley Smith, who has suffered a broken finger, smacked his in the sixth with Lou Brock aboard on a single.

Fishing throughout the Ozarks continues to be rated fair, with water conditions excellent. Purple plastic worms are producing most catches on the larger lakes, though topwater fishing is accounting for a number of bass early in the morning and late in the evening. Ozark streams are rated good to excellent, with only the St. Francis River having any dingy water. River stages are: Clarksville, 17.5; Winfield, 17.1; Grafton, 15.5; Alton Pool, 23.1; Valley Park (Meramec), 1.5; Union (Bourbeuse), 1.2; Lake of the Ozarks (Bagnell Dam) Lakeside Pool, 657.0; Table Rock, 914.72; Norfork, 551.58; Bull Shoals, 653.25; Pomme de Terre, 839.0; Greers Ferry, 458.81; Beaver, 1114.42; Clearwater, 500.32; Kentucky, 358.8.

MAYOR KENDALL SIKES is shown examining one item among a wide variety of goods offered by the local Goodwill Industries store. This item once belonged to a public-spirited individual who donated it to Goodwill so that handicapped workers could earn wages repairing it for later re-sale.

'New Look' For Goodwill Store

Mayor Kendall Sikes of Sikeston has commended the "new look" of the Sikeston Goodwill Industries store, saying "It now compliments all the businesses on the street."

The "new look" makes it easier for people to shop for budget priced merchandise at the non-profit store. Sales at Goodwill stores provide wages for handicapped workers who take repairable discards given by people in the community and convert them into usuable items.

Betty Groves of 805 School Street, Charleston, has been manager since July, 1964, and Billie Carroll, 202 Daniel Street, Sikeston, has been clerk at the store for the same length of time.

Mayor Sikes states he knows a good deal of the work of Goodwill Industries and believes it is a wonderful thing that the organization is able to help so many handicapped people and, at the same time, provide economical, good quality clothing and other merchandise for the community.

Under the Goodwill plan, citizens donate a wide variety of items which are collected by truck or sent in to a seven-story building at 4140 Forest Park Boulevard in St. Louis. Here nearly 600 handicapped men and women are trained, rehabilitated and employed in 46 different trades and occupations. The repairable discards become the raw material that provides a source of income and a source of hope for workers who cannot obtain employment otherwise. Many of these workers will eventually graduate to private industry. Meanwhile they are able to maintain themselves independently of the relief rolls.

New Gas Rate Schedules

Associated Natural Gas Company and its parent organization, Arkansas - Missouri Power Co., have announced the filing of new rate schedules for certain large industrial gas customers amounting to an estimated $44,317 annually.

The new rate schedules, subject to approval of the Arkansas and Missouri Public Service Commissions, will effect all industrial users in this area who are now served on the companies' "interruptible" schedules.

Even though states can define the limit and scope of medical services for those not receiving public assistance, Sen. Spradling said he believes a "large number" of Missouri citizens will qualify.

He said he "doesn't see how" this state will be able to comply with Title 19 without a tax increase. Although noting that Gov. Hearnes has said he hopes one can be avoided, the legislator said "I see no way."

Caruthersville Passes Annexation Vote

CARUTHERSVILLE -- The city of Caruthersville grew by some 800 acres and an estimated 200 persons at about 7 p.m. Tuesday night as the final vote was counted in the special election in which the proposed annexation carried about 17 to 1.

The final vote was 175-10, Mayor B. F. Rogers reported. He said he was not really surprised at the light vote pointing out that special elections in which there is little controversy seldom draw much of a turn out.

The Mayor said most city services will be available to the newly annexed area immediately, such as police and fire protection and garbage collection. Pipe has already been strung for the new water lines to the area and will be laid as soon as the line to the new Caruthersville Shipyard has been completed. Sewer service for that area is included in the current plans which are to be carried out as soon as federal funds are approved in Washington.

The new territory which officially became a part of the city when the vote was counted Tuesday night almost completely surrounds the old city. However, a map shown by the Journal last week errpneously included a piece of the land owned by Mrs. Jere Kingsberry between the levee and the river as being part of the annexation. It had been deleted through agreement between her and the city Council earlier this year.

While city services become available immediately to the property owners and residents of the new area, taxation on the property cannot begin until the 1967 tax year. Most of the land involved is unimproved and now used for farming.

New Madrid County Farms Decreasing

NEW MADRID -- A total of 1418 farms was counted in New Madrid county during the 1964 Census of Agriculture, the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census reports.

The 1964 total is published in a preliminary report on the county just issued. The report also shows that average farm size in the county was 278.5 acres and that the average value of the county's farms (land and buildings) in 1964 was $124,739.

Other important county statistics in the report are:

1. Value of all farm products sold by farms in the county in 1964, $30,549,098; in 1959, $30,711,942.

2. Value of all crops sold by county farms in 1964, $29,226,-051; in 1959, $29,353,336.

3. Value of all livestock and livestock products sold by county farms in 1964, $1,322,420; in 1959, $1,358,606.

Information obtained for the first time in an agricultural census included the amount of income received by the county's farmers ($627.00) from recreational services, as well as data on the use of pest control chemicals in the county in 1964.

Storm Damages Crops

CHARLESTON -- A late evening summer storm Tuesday dumped 1.44 inches of rain on the Charleston community. Lightning, thunder, strong surface winds and hail accompanied the storm which struck here about 6:20 p.m.

Tom Alsup, who has lived for 44 years on a farm two miles west and one mile south of East Prairie, visited this newspaper office Wednesday morning, and exhibited a plastic rain gauge which had been broken by hail. Two glass storm windows of the Alsup home had also been splintered by hail which ranged in size from one - fourth inch to flattened discs larger than an egg. Mr. Alsup advised that the ground was covered with ice pellets, and that crop damage in his community was extensive.

THE STORM front moved in rapidly from the southwest and apparently spent much of its initial charge in south Mississippi county.

The Dogwood community reported 2.4 inches of rainfall and considerable hail and wind.

In the Millar Community several trees were uprooted, and roofs blown off of sheds and barns. Heavy amounts of hail were also reported.

According to Joe Webb of the Webb Service Agency, the greatest evidence of damage started in the Yellow Dog Community south and west of East Prairie and moved northeasterly. "Hail damage is largely confined to a narrow strip, about one - half mile wide," Webb stated. Some corn fields are badly shredded, and in some cases damages to wheat is total.

THERE WERE also mixed reports of damage to roofs, and television antennas. He listed the following: Turnbo farm, corn damage; Albert Morgan, corn and roof damage; in the Millar Community, Roy and Frank Hanor, building and crop damage; Billie Johnson and Bud Cervantes, crop damage; Thomas Collins, roof and crop damage, and the Krauss farm, crop damage.

Ax Falls, Woman Hurt

CHARLESTON - Mrs. Richard Sutherland suffered a severe cut on the scalp and a possible concussion Monday afternoon when she was struck by an ax wielded by her husbanded.

She was taken to a local physician, where five stitches were required to close the wound, and was then taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Cairo for overnight observation.

Mr. Sutherland said Tuesday he and his wife were putting up stakes for tomatoes in their garden when the accident occurred. Mrs. Sutherland was holding the stake, looking downward, when her husband swung. The ax handle broke, and the ax struck her in the head.

She was reported in good condition Tuesday afternoon.

East Prairie Sets Summer School Plan

EAST PRAIRIE -- A full schedule of summer programs for children in grades one through 11 plus kindergarten and pre-kindergarten will get underway Monday in the East Prairie R-2 School District, according to Superintendent Ray Melton.

OPERATION HEADSTART, for children who will be five by September 1, has been funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity for $27,537. Some 135 children can be accommodated in the program.

A kindergarten program, for children who will be six by September 1, has been in operation since March under a grant from the Office of Education under the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act. This program will continue through the summer, Melton said.

An intermediate remedial program, for children who are having trouble with their school subjects, will be in operation for grades one through six. A secondary program will take care of grades seven though 11, the superintendent said. These programs are being funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity with a $40,257 grant. Instruction will be given in reading, speaking, writing, and listening. Some 400 students can be accommodated through this grant, Melton said.

ANOTHER PROGRAM starting Monday is a driver education course for persons age 15 and older. Fee for this course is $20. and the instruction includes classroom work and practical driving experience.

A Neighborhood Youth Corps project for 60 youngsters age 16 and up is also in operation this summer, Melton said. About 40 boys and 20 girls are performing custodial, maintenance, secretarial, and cafeteria jobs. They are paid $1.25 per hour.

Melton said one Headstart class, one kindergarten class, and two intermediate (grades one through six) remedial classes will be held in R-2 facilities at Dorena. All other programs will be held in East Prairie. Bus service is available for rural children.

THE SUPERINTENDENT said 46 teachers and supervisors are employed for the summer on the various projects.

Transogram Sells Notes

Charles S. Raizen, chairman of Transogram Company, announced the direct sale to an institutional investor of $2,500,000 of 5¾ per cent notes due 1986. Lehman Brothers arranged the placement for the company, a leading manufacturer of toys, games and juvenile furniture.

Proceeds of the financing will be added to the general funds of the company for use in connection with an expansion program which includes construction of a 250,000-square - foot addition to Transogram's Easton, Pa. plant. This will make that facility one of the most modern and efficient of its kind in the toy industry.

In 1965, Transogram reported sales of $18,087,929, up 34 per cent from $13,511,219 in 1964. Earnings rose 90 per cent to $794,977 to $.80 per share, as compared with $423,906 or $.42 per share a year earlier. At the recent Toy Fair in New York, Transogram booked over $3.5 million in new orders for its 1966 toy line.

Hike in State Taxes Predicted To Cover Costs of Medicare

A prediction that Missouri will have to raise taxes to meet "open end" costs to be imposed on states by the little known Title 19 of the federal Medicare law was voiced here Thursday by State Sen. Albert M. Spradling, Jr.

The Cape Girardeau Democrat said "we're frightened and we're scared" of the financial burdens, as yet uncalculated, that are in prospect under Title 19 within a few years.

He spoke at a luncheon of the Hospital Association of Metropolitan St. Louis, which held a day-long Medicare institute at the DeVille motor hotel.

REQUIREMENTS

Title 19 requires that states extend Medicare to all persons on public assistance by Jan. 1, 1970. Failure to comply means withdrawal of federal matching funds for state health and welfare programs.

Some 231,000 persons now are on state rolls for Old Age Assistance, Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to the Blind, Aid to the Disabled and General Relief.

Sen. Spradling, who is chairman of the Legislature's interim committee on mental hospitals, noted that Title 19 provides that five basic services must be provided all public assistance recipients.

They include inpatient and out - patient hospital care, other laboratory and X-ray services, skilled nursing home care for "all over age 21" and physicians' services "wherever provided," the legislator said.

ESTIMATES STATES COSTS

State Welfare Director Proctor N. Carter has estimated Missouri's additional costs will be $12.15 million, and this is "just to start," Sen. Spradling said.

The speaker also pointed out that Title 19 requires that states must provide medical services for all "medically indigent" persons, irrespective of age, by 1975.

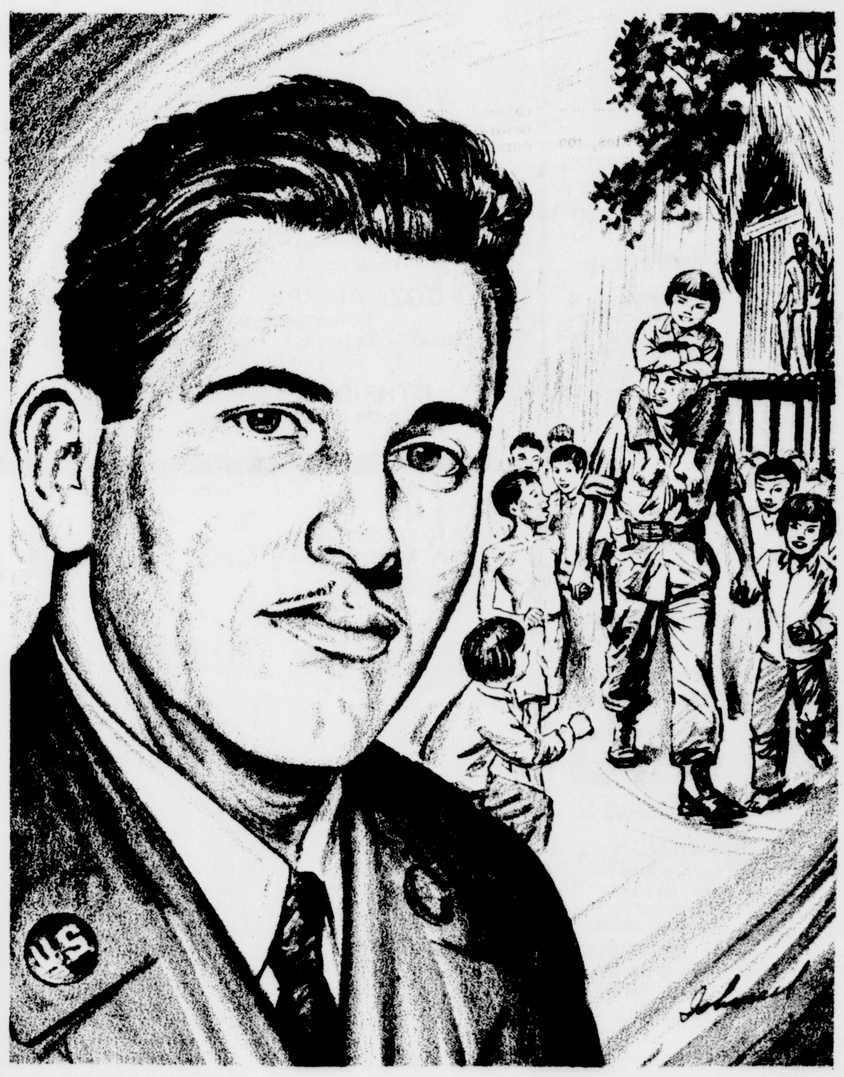
The POWER of FAITH By WOODI ISHMAEL



"I came here to help these people," said S/Sgt. Arthur McMellon of Hamlin, West Virginia to his company commander in Viet Nam one day. "When I can't do that, they can ship me home, one way or another."

The way Sergeant McMellon helped these people made him a favorite with the Ben Cat kids, who flocked after him, clambered over his jeep and vied for the chance to wash it. Even adults began to smile at him, though there were plenty of Communists around.

Last Thanksgiving day, Sgt. McMellon managed to commandeer enough turkeys from the army to feed 67 hungry youngsters.

But within a week, while has was driving into Ben Cat, his jeep was the only one among hundreds to be blasted by a road mine. Intelligence officers were sure he was singled out to die.

"If his death was worth it," said the chaplain, "then the whole thing's worth it."

Sgt. McMellon shipped out for home the other way, but there are many children in Ben Cat who will remember the sergeant who helped them.

Tom Alsup, who has lived for 44 years on a farm two miles west and one mile south of East Prairie, visited this newspaper office Wednesday morning, and exhibited a plastic rain gauge which had been broken by hail. Two glass storm windows of the Alsup home had also been splintered by hail which ranged in size from one - fourth inch to flattened discs larger than an egg. Mr. Alsup advised that the ground was covered with ice pellets, and that crop damage in his community was extensive.

THE STORM front moved in rapidly from the southwest and apparently spent much of its initial charge in south Mississippi county.

The Dogwood community reported 2.4 inches of rainfall and considerable hail and wind.

In the Millar Community several trees were uprooted, and roofs blown off of sheds and barns. Heavy amounts of hail were also reported.

According to Joe Webb of the Webb Service Agency, the greatest evidence of damage started in the Yellow Dog Community south and west of East Prairie and moved northeasterly. "Hail damage is largely confined to a narrow strip, about one - half mile wide," Webb stated. Some corn fields are badly shredded, and in some cases damages to wheat is total.

THERE WERE also mixed reports of damage to roofs, and television antennas. He listed the following: Turnbo farm, corn damage; Albert Morgan, corn and roof damage; in the Millar Community, Roy and Frank Hanor, building and crop damage; Billie Johnson and Bud Cervantes, crop damage; Thomas Collins, roof and crop damage, and the Krauss farm, crop damage.

Ax Falls, Woman Hurt

CHARLESTON - Mrs. Richard Sutherland suffered a severe cut on the scalp and a possible concussion Monday afternoon when she was struck by an ax wielded by her husbanded.

She was taken to a local physician, where five stitches were required to close the wound, and was then taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Cairo for overnight observation.

Mr. Sutherland said Tuesday he and his wife were putting up stakes for tomatoes in their garden when the accident occurred. Mrs. Sutherland was holding the stake, looking downward, when her husband swung. The ax handle broke, and the ax struck her in the head.

She was reported in good condition Tuesday afternoon.

East Prairie Sets Summer School Plan

EAST PRAIRIE -- A full schedule of summer programs for children in grades one through 11 plus kindergarten and pre-kindergarten will get underway Monday in the East Prairie R-2 School District, according to Superintendent Ray Melton.

OPERATION HEADSTART, for children who will be five by September 1, has been funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity for $27,537. Some 135 children can be accommodated in the program.

A kindergarten program, for children who will be six by September 1, has been in operation since March under a grant from the Office of Education under the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act. This program will continue through the summer, Melton said.

An intermediate remedial program, for children who are having trouble with their school subjects, will be in operation for grades one through six. A secondary program will take care of grades seven though 11, the superintendent said. These programs are being funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity with a $40,257 grant. Instruction will be given in reading, speaking, writing, and listening. Some 400 students can be accommodated through this grant, Melton said.

ANOTHER PROGRAM starting Monday is a driver education course for persons age 15 and older. Fee for this course is $20. and the instruction includes classroom work and practical driving experience.

A Neighborhood Youth Corps project for 60 youngsters age 16 and up is also in operation this summer, Melton said. About 40 boys and 20 girls are performing custodial, maintenance, secretarial, and cafeteria jobs. They are paid $1.25 per hour.

Melton said one Headstart class, one kindergarten class, and two intermediate (grades one through six) remedial classes will be held in R-2 facilities at Dorena. All other programs will be held in East Prairie. Bus service is available for rural children.

THE SUPERINTENDENT said 46 teachers and supervisors are employed for the summer on the various projects.

Transogram Sells Notes

Charles S. Raizen, chairman of Transogram Company, announced the direct sale to an institutional investor of $2,500,000 of 5¾ per cent notes due 1986. Lehman Brothers arranged the placement for the company, a leading manufacturer of toys, games and juvenile furniture.

Proceeds of the financing will be added to the general funds of the company for use in connection with an expansion program which includes construction of a 250,000-square - foot addition to Transogram's Easton, Pa. plant. This will make that facility one of the most modern and efficient of its kind in the toy industry.

In 1965, Transogram reported sales of $18,087,929, up 34 per cent from $13,511,219 in 1964. Earnings rose 90 per cent to $794,977 to $.80 per share, as compared with $423,906 or $.42 per share a year earlier. At the recent Toy Fair in New York, Transogram booked over $3.5 million in new orders for its 1966 toy line.

Hike in State Taxes Predicted To Cover Costs of Medicare

A prediction that Missouri will have to raise taxes to meet "open end" costs to be imposed on states by the little known Title 19 of the federal Medicare law was voiced here Thursday by State Sen. Albert M. Spradling, Jr.

The Cape Girardeau Democrat said "we're frightened and we're scared" of the financial burdens, as yet uncalculated, that are in prospect under Title 19 within a few years.

He spoke at a luncheon of the Hospital Association of Metropolitan St. Louis, which held a day-long Medicare institute at the DeVille motor hotel.

REQUIREMENTS

Title 19 requires that states extend Medicare to all persons on public assistance by Jan. 1, 1970. Failure to comply means withdrawal of federal matching funds for state health and welfare programs.

Some 231,000 persons now are on state rolls for Old Age Assistance, Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to the Blind, Aid to the Disabled and General Relief.

Sen. Spradling, who is chairman of the Legislature's interim committee on mental hospitals, noted that Title 19 provides that five basic services must be provided all public assistance recipients.

They include inpatient and out - patient hospital care, other laboratory and X-ray services, skilled nursing home care for "all over age 21" and physicians' services "wherever provided," the legislator said.

ESTIMATES STATES COSTS

State Welfare Director Proctor N. Carter has estimated Missouri's additional costs will be $12-15 million, and this is "just to start," Sen. Spradling said.

The speaker also pointed out that Title 19 requires that states must provide medical services for all "medically indigent" persons, irrespective of age, by 1975.

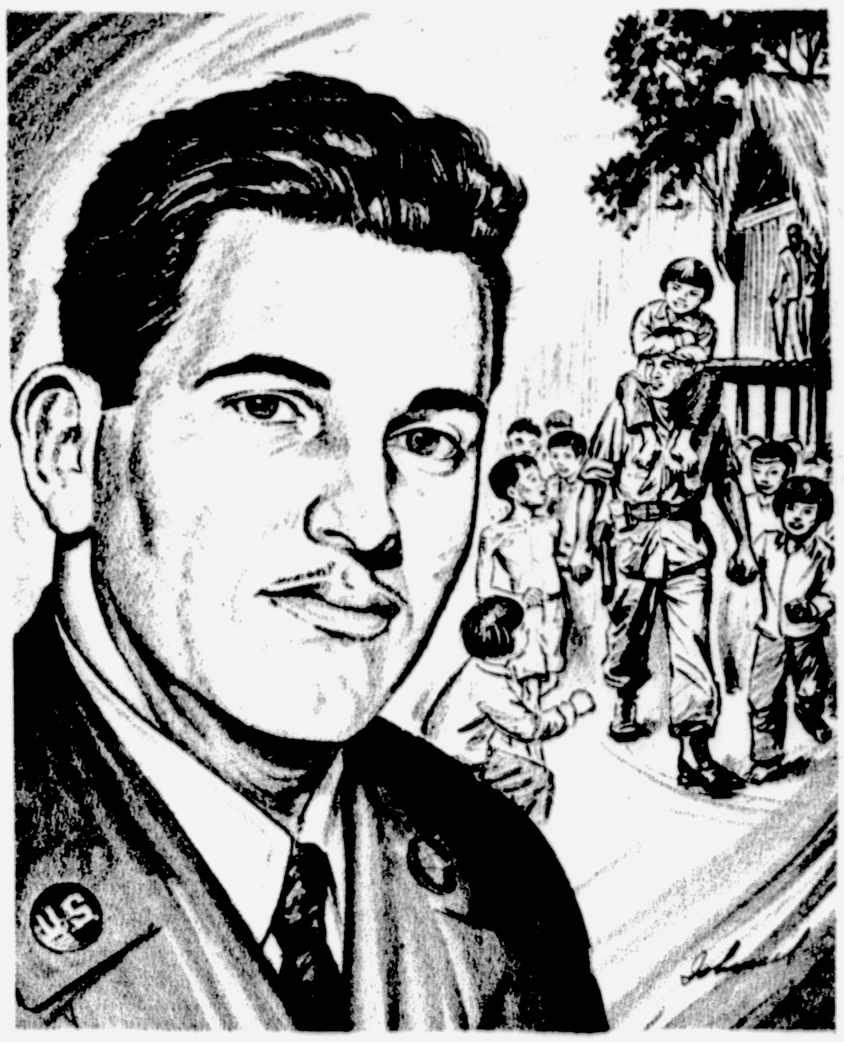
The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL



"I came here to help these people," said S/Sgt. Arthur McMellon of Hamlin, West Virginia to his company commander in Viet Nam one day. "When I can't do that, they can ship me home, one way or another."

The way Sergeant McMellon helped these people made him a favorite with the Ben Cat kids, who flocked after him, clambered over his jeep and vied for the chance to wash it. Even adults began to smile at him, though there were plenty of Communists around.

But within a week, while has was driving into Ben Cat, his jeep was the only one among hundreds to be blasted by a road mine. Intelligence officers were sure he was singled out to die.

"If his death was worth it," said the chaplain, "then the whole thing's worth it."

Sgt. McMellon shipped out for home the other way, but there are many children in Ben Cat who will remember the sergeant who helped them.

BRINGING JOY THROUGH WITNESSING

Joseph Leslie, Jr.

Joseph Leslie Graduates From Ohio University

Joseph Allen Leslie, Jr. was one of 1450 graduates to receive a degree in a colorful commencement ceremony on the Campus Green of Ohio University, Athens, Ohio on Sunday, June 5th. Mr. Leslie graduated with a Degree in TV-Radio Script writing and Production. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Leslie, 911 Moore Ave., along with his brother, Rik, Mrs. Stella Emory and Mrs. Leroy Leslie were in Athens over the week-end for the Commencement.

During his four years at Ohio University he had the major role in three of the annual Varisty Shows, besides writing the entire script for one of the University's musical comedies, in which he had a role also. He was a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity and was recipient of the Honor Student Award by his fraternity in his sophomore year and was their representative at the Blue Key Honor Society convention in Kansas City. He served as secretary of his fraternity in his sophomore year. Mr. Leslie also was awarded three honors in his senior year being first runner-up to the King of the J-Prom Annual senior event, winning first place in the talent contest, and receiving an award from his fraternity for this division of the J-Prom University contest. In his junior and senior years he was employed by the University as student assistant to professor of the Drama-English under-graduate courses. Ohio University presently has a student enrollment of approximately 14,500.

After Commencement Joe, Jr. immediately left for New York where he will pursue his career in TV writing and production, and will be employed as a theatrical agency representative.

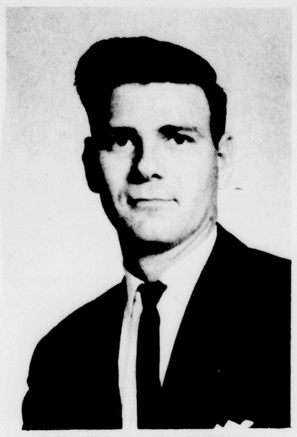
#33 In A Series To Acquaint You With The Churches In This Area.



CHARLES WARREN
Pastor

THIS WEEK SALUTING

First Oneness Pentecostal Church

The present church is located at West Malone and Southwest streets and is an affilliate of the national organization, The Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ Inc. with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., through the affilliation of the pastor. The church is an independent assembly and operates only from the capital solicited from the membership and the people of Sikeston. The present site and building was purchased March 12, 1945 by Rev. Edd Smith and the congregation.

The present pastor Rev. Warren first pastored the church for a period of three months in 1961, and then in 1964 he accepted the church as a regular pastorate. There have been many improvements made to the building and also the doctrinal framework of the church since Rev. Warren came to the church as pastor. Some of which are the installation of a kitchen and the rearranging of the classrooms and remodeling the bath rooms. The woodwork has all been newly stained and varnished, the floors have been sanded and varnished, and with the help of many of the Sikeston business men there has been new church pews added.

At the first service which Rev. Warren conducted after becoming pastor there were thirteen people present, now there are seventy two attending services, and Rev. Warren says the Lord is adding to the church continually. He also said the church school facilities are fast becoming too small, and that the church has started a fund raising campaign for a new building and site. The site has not yet been acquired, but it has tentatively been selected.

A new undertaking is now in progress by the church, and that is a free bus service for the elderly and unfortunate people who don't have their own transportation. All any one has to do is call the church school committee at either of the telephone numbers listed below and preparations will be made for their transportation to and from church services.

The Rev. and Mrs. Warren and their daughter Charlene have made their home at 301 Kay Drive in Sikeston, and they would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to their many firends, the people of Sikeston, including the businessmen who have been so wonderful. Rev. Warren said without the help of their many friends it would have been inpossible to have accomplished so much in so short a period of time, but they are looking forward to a much more enjoyable and prosperous future for their labors here than even in the past. There is an invitation to all to call upon these people if and when they may be of service to you.

Church services are on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday at 7:30 p.m. and at 10:00 on Sunday morning. There is also a Gospel Singing service on the last Saturday of each month 7:30 p.m. featuring local and visiting talent.

Telephone numbers for the church school committee are GR1-9020 GR1-5443.

Robert Goodwin is the church school superintendent.

Joseph Leslie, Jr.

Joseph Leslie Graduates From Ohio University

Joseph Allen Leslie, Jr. was one of 1450 graduates to receive a degree in a colorful commencement ceremony on the Campus Green of Ohio University, Athens, Ohio on Sunday, June 5th. Mr. Leslie graduated with a Degree in TV-Radio Script writing and Production. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Leslie, 911 Moore Ave., along with his father, Rik, Mrs. Stella Emory and Mrs. Leroy Leslie were in Athens over the week-end for the Commencement.

During his four years at Ohio University he had the major role in three of the annual Varisty Shows, besides writing the entire script for one of the University's musical comedies, in which he had a role also. He was a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity and was recipient of the Honor Student Award by his fraternity in his sophomore year and was their representative at the Blue Key Honor Society convention in Kansas City. He served as secretary of his fraternity in his sophomore year. Mr. Leslie also was awarded three honors in his senior year being first runner-up to the King of the J-Prom Annual senior event, winning first place in the talent contest, and receiving an award from his fraternity for this division of the J-Prom University contest. In his junior and senior years he was employed by the University as student assistant to professor of the Drama-English under-graduate courses. Ohio University preseatly has a student enrollment of approximately 14,500.

After Commencement Joe, Jr. immediately left for New York where he will pursue his career in TV writing and production, and will be employed as a theatrical agency representative.

DAEOC Meeting Set at Chaffee

CHAFFEE -- A meeting of the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation for the promotion of the establishment of a Community Action Association in Chaffee will be held at the local public grade school. The meeting, the first of its kind in Chaffee, will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, June 14.

Houston, Texas, is connected with Galveston Bay by the Ship Channel, completed to a depth of 25 feet in 1914 at a cost of $4 1/2 million.

#33 In A Series To Acquaint You With The Churches In This Area.

CHARLES WARREN
Pastor

THIS WEEK SALUTING

First Oneness Pentecostal Church

The present church is located at West Malone and Southwest streets and is an affilliate of the national organization, The Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ Inc. with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., through the affilliation of the pastor. The church is an independent assembly and operates only from the capital solicited from the membership and the people of Sikeston. The present site and building was purchased March 12, 1945 by Rev. Edd Smith and the congregation.

The present pastor Rev. Warren first pastored the church for a period of three months in 1961, and then in 1964 he accepted the church as a regular pastorate. There have been many improvements made to the building and also the doctrinal framework of the church since Rev. Warren came to the church as pastor. Some of which are the installation of a kitchen and the rearranging of the classrooms and remodeling the bath rooms. The woodwork has all been newly stained and varnished, the floors have been sanded and varnished, and with the help of many of the Sikeston business men there has been new church pews added.

At the first service which Rev. Warren conducted after becoming pastor there were thirteen people present, now there are seventy two attending services, and Rev. Warren says the Lord is adding to the church continually. He also said the church school facilities are fast becoming too small, and that the church has started a fund raising campaign for a new building and site. The site has not yet been acquired, but it has tentatively been selected.

A new undertaking is now in progress by the church, and that is a free bus service for the elderly and unfortunate people who don't have their own transportation. All any one has to do is call the church school committee at either of the telephone numbers listed below and preparations will be made for their transportation to and from church services.

The Rev. and Mrs. Warren and their daughter Charlene have made their home at 301 Kay Drive in Sikeston, and they would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to their many firends, the people of Sikeston, including the businessmen who have been so wonderful. Rev. Warren said without the help of their many friends it would have been inpossible to have accomplished so much in so short a period of time, but they are looking forward to a much more enjoyable and prosperous future for their labors here than even in the past. There is an invitation to all to call upon these people if and when they may be of service to you.

Church services are on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday at 7:30 p.m. and at 10:00 on Sunday morning. There is also a Gospel Singing service on the last Saturday of each month 7:30 p.m. featuring local and visiting talent.

Telephone numbers for the church school committee are GR1-9020 GR1-5443.

Robert Goodwin is the church school superintendent.

For Today From The Upper Room

FRIDAY, JUNE 10, 1966

Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus. (Philippians 2:5)

PRAYER: Give us, O God, the mind that was in Christ Jesus so that we may ever forgive those who wrong us. Thus may we receive Thy gracious forgiveness for our own hearts. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

Looking Back Over The Years

Lawrence L. Plummer, O.D., optometrist and optician of Cairo, Ill., was in Sikeston Monday. He has made arrangements to visit Sikeston one day each week and will have office rooms with Dr. Harrelson, the dentists, in the McCoy & Tanner building.

Marshall Myers and Miss Edith Shuppert were united in marriage on May 22 at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. C. S. Hale, in Charleston.

The Board of Education at a special meeting on June 3rd, made plans to hold a special election to vote bonds to provide funds for the erection of a new colored school and to double the size of the Bailey Elementary School. The election will be held on June 25th at the city hall.

Plans have been completed for construction of a $95,000 high school building at Matthews and the Matthews school district is this week advertising for bids from contractors.

Mrs. R. H. Sizemore entertained at a birthday party Saturday evening in honor of her small daughter, Elizabeth, who that day was six years old.

Murphy Celebrates Birthday Saturday

Luther Murphy is now living at 133 North Ranney Street. He will be 35 years old Saturday.

Luther spends much of his time making leather goods such as billfolds, purses and key rings. He also takes orders for strawberries in season and makes a little extra cash in the strawberry business. Luther is a great fisherman when he can get someone to take him on his stretcher to the Lake bank. That is one of the happiest times of his life.

Luther is a very active member of the first Baptist Church. Even though Luther is on his back at home he does a lot of work for the church by the telephone. He telephones people about special functions at the church. He has several friends from the church who come by often and bring him literature, read scripture and have prayer.

Anyone who would like to go by and wish Luther a happy birthday, feel free to do so as he and his family are always happy to have company at any hour. Luther enjoys telephone conversation with people. He would be glad to receive a call from anyone at any time.

Luther enjoys most going to church, fishing, picnics, and going to the Sale Barn where he sells a lot of his leather goods at auction.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Every community has its quota of chiselers who bum rides to work from the friendly neighbor. They always have a fancy assortment of excuses for not driving their own cars but they fool no one. They are simply saving money on gas, wear and tear on their tires, and sometimes parking money.

The other day I had such a character in my car -- fifth time that week. What started out as a light drizzle turned into a cloudburst. The visibility was zero and we nearly had an accident. Fortunately, we arrived at our destination without incident.

The office manager, hearing me tell about the close call, said, "I never take my neighbors to work in the morning -- I don't want the responsibility. If a passenger is hurt he could sue the socks off you. I've seen it happen."

Someone else said if he had a car he would make the passengers sign a piece of paper, relieving the driver of all legal responsibility, in case of an accident.

Would such a piece of paper be valid? Does it make sense to you? --MR. ACCOMODATOR

Dear Mr.: A signed statement absolving the driver of responsibility in case of an accident may or may not be valid -- depending on the state you live in. If you were to ask the free loaders to sign such an agreement, however, it might discourage them from bumming rides.

I assume you are a prudent driver so this won't apply to you, but: The passenger who rides with a careless driver just because it's free should get his head examined and sometimes does -- in the hospital after the accident.

Dear Readers: Ten lashes with a wet noodle won't do this time. That would be letting me off much too lightly.

I refer to the counsel I offered "Redding Rose" -- the woman who said she could not get up before a group and give her name and address without shaking for half an hour. My advice: "If there is a Toastmaster's Club in your town, join it."

Well, dear folks, if Rose makes the grade, she'll be the first woman who ever did. The Toastmaster's Club is for men only.

I should have told her to join the ToastMISTRESS' Club. Today my face is redder than any Rose in Redding. ---ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Help please. My husband is in the Navy and this is the first time we have lived out of Navy housing.

Every few days some neighbor asks me to buy eggs, butter, milk, cigarets, coffee and what not - because I can get these commodities for a lot less at the Navy commissary than she pays in the supermarket. I hate to say no, because I go every few days for my own groceries, and everyone knows it. However, if I am caught buying for my neighbors I will lose my commissary privileges.

Please print my letter so my neighbors will see it and stop asking me to break the rules. Thank you. -- NAVY WIFE

Dear Wife: Here's your letter, but don't expect miracles. You are more at fault than your neighbors. If you had not said yes the first time you wouldn't be in this spot now. CUT IT OUT!

Head Start To Begin at Charleston

CHARLESTON -- "Operation Headstart" will begin in the R-1 District next Monday, according to Miss Modena Garwood, supervisor of pre-school training.

FOUR AND FIVE-YEAR-OLDS

The eight-week program will be for 150 pre - school children who plan to enter kindergarten this fall. To be eligible a child must be five years old by Sept. 1, 1966. If a child was in the previous R-1, District kindergarten program he will not be eligible for Headstart this summer.

Miss Garwood said Headstart is a wonderful opportunity for children to receive training which will help them succeed in later school tasks.

During the eight-week program the youngsters will receive every possible kind of training to enrich their background of experiences she said. They will receive medical and dental examinations; their hearing and sight will be checked; they will receive nourishing meals each day; experiences will be added through educational trips; and supervised play activities will instill cooperative attitudes in the children.

Pre-Marital Clinics Aid In Problems

by CAROL MILLER

June brings with it the traditional flock of marriages; but before most young couples are married by their ministers, they usually participate in pre-marital clinics or instruction courses which are sponsored by a majority of the Sikeston churches.

As a rule the bride will call her minister to engage him for the wedding ceremony. If she and her fiance do not request a conference, the minister generally suggests it. Although the Episcopal and Catholic faiths are the only ones that require a pre - marital conference, before the couple can be married in the church, the other denominations in Sikeston strongly urge it as an accepted procedure. Many pastors have made it their own personal policy; for as the Rev. Myron Neal, pastor of the First Christian church, says, "In a sense the pastor assumes a certain responsibility for each marriage he performs and has a personal investment in it." A minister may also refuse to marry a particular couple because they avoid a conference which the minister deems necessary.

After a conference session has been scheduled, several avenues can be followed. The Rev. Bill Spencer, assistant pastor of the First Methodist church, advocates three conferences -- a separate one with the bride and the groom and then a joint conference. Usually the denominations urge conferences only until the minister is satisfied of the couple's compatibility and prospects for a good marriage; however, as pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church Vicar W. Pipes Jones must have a minimum of six hours discussion before he can marry a couple with the church's blessing.

One of the primary ways of starting a conference is for the minister to ask the engaged couple leading questions which develop into a thorough discussion of the major areas to be considered -- the economic, physical, and spiritual aspects of marriage. Generally in the economic section, emphasis is placed upon the damaging effect that the management of finances can have on a marriage. Often one of the marriage partners will have been accustomed to having more material possession than their new income as a family unit will permit, so this has to be accepted and recognized as a possible obstacle. As to the spiritual, Vicar Jones, as other ministers do, uses these conferences to "reveal to engaged couples the Christian implication of holy matrimony and how it can best be fulfilled." In the conference session, the biological factors are skimmed, and couples are usually referred to a medical doctor and provided with explanatory reading material.

The Catholic church in their required courses of pre-marital instruction cover the aspects of marriage in the greatest detail. First, the priest explains the spiritual aspect of marriage, and then other members of the community are brought in to explore the other facets. A gynecologist deals with the physical after which a prominent banker covers the problem of finances. Then a lawyer approaches marriage from a legal standpoint in exploring it as a contract between two individuals. In the final stage of the Catholic's instructive series, the prospective bride and groom split into workshops where young married couples answer questions and deal with the intimate problems which can and do arise in marriage. This strict course of instruction began in the Catholic church during World War I when many young couples were plunging into marriage with little consideration or deep thought.

From all reports, most of the soon - to - be marrieds are very responsive to the various programs. The Rev. James Hackney, pastor of the First Baptist church, has found in his experience that the older more mature couples are eager for counsel while the younger ones tend to be evasive and overconfident. Their degree of education and maturity appears to be in direct proportion to their responsiveness to pre - marital clinics.

The Rev. Spencer prefers to call his conference pre-counseling. He believes these sessions enable him to understand and know the individuals in the prospective marriage and thus pave the way for a trusting relationship which will enable him to aid them later in dealing with their marital problems as their pastor.

It is difficult to gage the success of these conferences because of the many varying factors in each situation. However, national statistics do claim that pre-marital counseling insures a more successful marriage. One example of this in Sikeston is that Vicar Jones has had only three failures in all of the marriages he has performed within the last thirty - three years; each of these couples had been counseled by him previous to their marriages.

Those people most closely related to pre - marital counseling -- clergy of the city -- certainly advocate it as a near necessity; and although the positive effects are hard to gage, it certainly does no harm. Many agree with the Rev. Hackney's statement. "Pre - marital counseling is excellent, and all couples can profit by having it."

Yes, Sikeston is FRIENDLY! We can be proud of our residents -- their hospitality extended to all. At our places of business: our personnel are friendly folks. Yet, do we "slip a bit" at times? Can we all be FRIENDLIER? Isn't it an idea to, each day, think of this: "LET'S MAKE SIKESTON THE FRIENDLIEST CITY IN MISSOURI. Bear in mind: the person whom you don't know may be just passing through -- may be "looking our town over" with the idea of "locating here" -- regardless, you will give that person "his or her impression" of our city.

Murphy Celebrates Birthday Saturday

Luther Murphy is now living at 133 North Ranney Street. He will be 35 years old Saturday.

Luther spends much of his time making leather goods such as billfolds, purses and key rings. He also takes orders for strawberries in season and makes a little extra cash in the strawberry business. Luther is a great fisherman when he can get someone to take him on his stretcher to the Lake bank. That is one of the happiest times of his life.

Luther is a very active member of the first Baptist Church. Even though Luther is on his back at home he does a lot of work for the church by the telephone. He telephones people about special functions at the church. He has several friends from the church who come by often and bring him literature, read scripture and have prayer.

Anyone who would like to go by and wish Luther a happy birthday, feel free to do so as he and his family are always happy to have company at any hour. Luther enjoys telephone conversation with people. He would be glad to receive a call from anyone at any time.

Luther enjoys most going to church, fishing, picnics, and going to the Sale Barn where he sells a lot of his leather goods at auction.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Every community has its quota of chiselers who bum rides to work from the friendly neighbor. They always have a fancy assortment of excuses for not driving their own cars but they fool no one. They are simply saving money on gas, wear and tear on their tires, and sometimes parking money.

The other day I had such a character in my car -- fifth time that week. What started out as a light drizzle turned into a cloudburst. The visibility was zero and we nearly had an accident. Fortunately, we arrived at our destination without incident.

The office manager, hearing me tell about the close call, said, "I never take my neighbors to work in the morning -- I don't want the responsibility. If a passenger is hurt he could sue the socks off you. I've seen it happen."

Someone else said if he had a car he would make the passengers sign a piece of paper, relieving the driver of all legal responsibility, in case of an accident.

Would such a piece of paper be valid? Does it make sense to you? --MR. ACCOMODATOR

Dear Mr.: A signed statement absolving the driver of responsibility in case of an accident may or may not be valid -- depending on the state you live in. If you were to ask the free loaders to sign such an agreement, however, it might discourage them from bumming rides.

I assume you are a prudent driver so this won't apply to you, but: The passenger who rides with a careless driver just because it's free should get his head examined and sometimes does -- in the hospital after the accident.

Dear Readers: Ten lashes with a wet noodle won't do this time. That would be letting me off much too lightly.

I refer to the counsel I offered "Redding Rose" -- the woman who said she could not get up before a group and give her name and address without shaking for half an hour. My advice: "If there is a Toastmaster's Club in your town, join it."

Well, dear folks, if Rose makes the grade, she'll be the first woman who ever did. The Toastmaster's Club is for men only.

I should have told her to join the ToastMISTRESS' Club. Today my face is redder than any Rose in Redding. --- ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Help please. My husband is in the Navy and this is the first time we have lived out of Navy housing.

Every few days some neighbor asks me to buy eggs, butter, milk, cigarets, coffee and what not - because I can get these commodities for a lot less at the Navy commissary than she pays in the supermarket. I hate to say no, because I go every few days for my own groceries, and everyone knows it. However, if I am caught buying for my neighbors I will lose my commissary privileges.

Please print my letter so my neighbors will see it and stop asking me to break the rules. Thank you. -- NAVY WIFE

Dear Wife: Here's your letter, but don't expect miracles. You are more at fault than your neighbors. If you had not said yes the first time you wouldn't be in this spot now. CUT IT OUT!

Head Start To Begin at Charleston

CHARLESTON -- "Operation Headstart" will begin in the R-1 District next Monday, according to Miss Modena Garwood, supervisor of pre-school training.

FOUR AND FIVE-YEAR-OLDS

The eight-week program will be for 150 pre - school children who plan to enter kindergarten this fall. To be eligible a child must be five years old by Sept. 1, 1966. If a child was in the previous R-1, District kindergarten program he will not be eligible for Headstart this summer.

Miss Garwood said Headstart is a wonderful opportunity for children to receive training which will help them succeed in later school tasks.

During the eight-week program the youngsters will receive every possible kind of training to enrich their background of experiences she said. They will receive medical and dental examinations; their hearing and sight will be checked; they will receive nourishing meals each day; experiences will be added through educational trips; and supervised play activities will instill cooperative attitudes in the children.

Pre-Marital Clinics Aid In Problems

by CAROL MILLER

June brings with it the traditional flock of marriages; but before most young couples are married by their ministers, they usually participate in pre-marital clinics or instruction courses which are sponsored by a majority of the Sikeston churches.

As a rule the bride will call her minister to engage him for the wedding ceremony. If she and her fiance do not request a conference, the minister generally suggests it. Although the Episcopal and Catholic faiths are the only ones that require a pre - marital conference, before the couple can be married in the church, the other denominations in Sikeston strongly urge it as an accepted procedure. Many pastors have made it their own personal policy; for as the Rev. Myron Neal, pastor of the First Christian church, says, "In a sense the pastor assumes a certain responsibility for each marriage he performs and has a personal investment in it." A minister may also refuse to marry a particular couple because they avoid a conference which the minister deems necessary.

After a conference session has been scheduled, several avenues can be followed. The Rev. Bill Spencer, assistant pastor of the First Methodist church, advocates three conferences -- a separate one with the bride and the groom and then a joint conference. Usually the denominations urge conferences only until the minister is satisfied of the couple's compatibility and prospects for a good marriage; however, as pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church Vicar W. Pipes Jones must have a minimum of six hours discussion before he can marry a couple with the church's blessing.

One of the primary ways of starting a conference is for the minister to ask the engaged couple leading questions which develop into a thorough discussion of the major areas to be considered -- the economic, physical, and spiritual aspects of marriage. Generally in the economic section, emphasis is placed upon the damaging effect that the management of finances can have on a marriage. Often one of the marriage partners will have been accustomed to having more material possession than their new income as a family unit will permit, so this has to be accepted and recognized as a possible obstacle. As to the spiritual, Vicar Jones, as other ministers do, uses these conferences to "reveal to engaged couples the Christian implication of holy matrimony and how it can best be fulfilled." In the conference session, the biological factors are skimmed, and couples are usually referred to a medical doctor and provided with explanatory reading material.

The Catholic church in their required courses of pre-marital instruction cover the aspects of marriage in the greatest detail. First, the priest explains the spiritual aspect of marriage, and then other members of the community are brought in to explore the other facets. A gynecologist deals with the physical after which a prominent banker covers the problem of finances. Then a lawyer approaches marriage from a legal standpoint in exploring it as a contract between two individuals. In the final stage of the Catholic's instructive series, the prospective bride and groom split into workshops where young married couples answer questions and deal with the intimate problems which can and do arise in marriage. This strict course of instruction began in the Catholic church during World War I when many young couples were plunging into marriage with little consideration or deep thought.

From all reports, most of the soon - to - be marrieds are very responsive to the various programs. The Rev. James Hackney, pastor of the First Baptist church, has found in his experience that the older more mature couples are eager for counsel while the younger ones tend to be evasive and overconfident. Their degree of education and maturity appears to be in direct proportion to their responsiveness to pre - marital clinics.

The Rev. Spencer prefers to call his conference pre-counseling. He believes these sessions enable him to understand and know the individuals in the prospective marriage and thus pave the way for a trusting relationship which will enable him to aid them later in dealing with their marital problems as their pastor.

It is difficult to gage the success of these conferences because of the many varying factors in each situation. However, national statistics do claim that pre-marital counseling insures a more successful marriage. One example of this in Sikeston is that Vicar Jones has had only three failures in all of the marriages he has performed within the last thirty - three years; each of these couples had been counseled by him previous to their marriages.

Those people most closely related to pre - marital counseling -- clergy of the city -- certainly advocate it as a near necessity; and although the positive effects are hard to gage, it certainly does no harm. Many agree with the Rev. Hackney's statement. "Pre - marital counseling is excellent, and all couples can profit by having it."

Of these, 19 are deep-space or planet probes orbiting the sun (10 Russian; 9 American). Of the other 1,042 objects in earth orbit, 222 are satellites belonging to five countries, as shown in News-Graphic above. The rest are classified as "junk"—rocket casings, heat shields, ejection springs, separation bolts and at least one nonmetallic object, the glove left behind by astronaut Edward White last year. The First Lady won't have to launch a space beautification program, however, because all these satellites and debris will eventually be pulled closer and closer to the atmosphere and incinerate themselves. NASA estimates that 129 American and 598 Russian pieces of junk have burned up since the start of the space age.

Injured in Freak Accident

CHARLESTON -- Jim Seay, who is employed by Beck Brown, heating and air conditioning contractor, was knocked unconscious Tuesday morning in a freak accident. Seay was working under a new house being built by Bernie Sims in Plainview Addition when the accident happened.

Utility Company men figured that a frayed fire in contact with the moist ground furnished the electrical charge that shocked Mr. Seay when the workman completed the circuit by touching a metal pipe or duct.

Part of the flooring was ripped out to reach the unconscious man, who was rushed to the Delta Community Hospital, in the McMikle ambulance. He had suffered no burns, and after being treated, was released.

Injured in Freak Accident

CHARLESTON -- Jim Seay, who is employed by Beck Brown, heating and air conditioning contractor, was knocked unconscious Tuesday morning in a freak accident. Seay was working under a new house being built by Bernie Sims in Plainview Addition when the accident happened. Utility Company men figured that a frayed fire in contact with the moist ground furnished the electrical charge that shocked Mr. Seay when the workman completed the circuit by touching a metal pipe or duct.

Part of the flooring was ripped out to reach the unconscious man, who was rushed to the Delta Community Hospital, in the McMikle ambulance. He had suffered no burns, and after being treated, was released.

Unemployment Costs Down

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -- Unemployment insurance payments continued to decline in May, the Missouri Division of Employment Security reported today.

Herman Julien, agency director, said out of work Missourians got $1,917,348 in jobless benefits.

That was $546,364 or 22.2 per cent less than in April and $151,957 or 7.3 per cent less than in May of 1965.

Initial claims, regarded as an indicator of new unemployment, numbered 16,346 last month compared with 22,251 in April and 12,072 in May of 1965.

Rye Price Supports Announced For '66

Terminal and county price support rates for 1966-crop rye were announced by USDA, according to Roy Proctor, Jr., Chairman, Scott County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. They reflect the 1966 national average support price of $1.02 per bushel announced November 19, 1965, for rye grading No. 2 or better or grading No. 3 on the factor of test weight only.

The national average support for 1966-crop is the same as for the 1965-crop, However, the 1966 terminal and county price support rates not established off a terminal are one-cent per bushel lower than the 1965 rates.

The average of county rates, when weighted by recent years production, must average the announced national level. Because of recent shifts in production from lower to higher price-supported areas and some changes in transportation costs, it was necessary to make this one-cent adjustment so the average of county rates would be at the announced national average.

Price support will be carried out through farm and warehouse stored loans and purchases.

Participation in the 1966 feed grain program for corn, grain sorghum or barley is not condition for eligibility for price support on rye.

THE CITY OF
SIKESTON, MISSOURI
Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of 1 1/2" hotmix asphaltic pavement on 6" soil cement base with concrete curb and gutter on Presnell Drive from Missouri in accordance with plans and specifications in the City of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Sikeston, State of Missouri, as follows: SECTION 1: That the Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said Street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the City of Sikeston. SECTION 2: That the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. SECTION 3: That the estimated cost of the improvement is $4.60 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. SECTION 4: That payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the State of Missouri and the ordinances of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the City Council the General Revenue fund of the City of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. SECTION 5: That any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the State of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the Industrial Commission of Missouri. SECTION 6: That the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this Resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 6th day of June, 1966. Approved: Kendall Sikes, Mayor; Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk.

SIKESTON, MISSOURI
Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of 1 1/2" Hotmix asphaltic pavement of 6" soil cement base with concrete curb and gutter on Linn Street from Moore Avenue to Main Street, in accordance with plans and specifications in the City of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Sikeston, State of Missouri, as follows: SECTION 1: That the Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said Street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the City of Sikeston. SECTION 2: That the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. SECTION 3: That the estimated cost of the improvement is $4.60 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. SECTION 4: That payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the State of Missouri and the ordinances of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the City Council the General Revenue fund of the City of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. SECTION 5: That any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the State of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the Industrial Commission of Missouri. SECTION 6: That the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this Resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 6th day of June, 1966. Approved: Kendall Sikes, Mayor; Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk.

To Every Home Owner:

Here's what it is:

"Title IV" of the so-called Civil Rights Bill—H.R. 14765 and S. 3296—is the forced, not fair, housing proposal that threatens to deprive you, as a home owner, of basic freedoms.

Here's what it would do:

1 Deny you freedom to contract with a person of your choice in the sale or rental of your home, or a room in your own home.
2 Deny you the right even to mention a preference for a person of your own religion in advertising for a roomer or tenant.
3 Subject you to suit by the U.S. Attorney General to force you to sell or rent to a person other than the person of your choice.
4 Delay indefinitely a rental or sale, pending final court disposition of allegations against you.
5 Subject you to payment of unlimited damages if you insist on exercising preference in a sale or rental.
6 Discourage sale of your home because the prospective buyer could not be assured of taking title until the deed is actually recorded.

Because we are concerned about the human rights of all Americans . . .

- We protest a law that gives one person the right to force another to enter into a contract against his will.
- We protest this attack on the human right of freedom of choice in disposing of private property.
- We believe progress in race relations will be retarded, not advanced, by this bill. Equal opportunity in housing is making progress under the influence of voluntary efforts of church, school and people of good will.

How can you make your protest heard?

The Congress will reject the forced housing features of this bill if you and other home and property owners write your Members of Congress and make it clear that you oppose this legislation because it would destroy rights of all Americans.

Unemployment Costs Down

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -- Unemployment insurance payments continued to decline in May, the Missouri Division of Employment Security reported today.

Herman Julien, agency director, said out of work Missourians got $1,917,348 in jobless benefits.

That was $546,364 or 22.2 per cent less than in April and $151,957 or 7.3 per cent less than in May of 1965.

Initial claims, regarded as an indicator of new unemployment, numbered 16,345 last month compared with 22,251 in April and 12,072 in May of 1965.

Rye Price Supports Announced For '66

Terminal and county price support rates for 1966-crop rye were announced by USDA, according to Roy Proctor, Jr., Chairman, Scott County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. They reflect the 1966 national average support price of $1.02 per bushel announced November 19, 1965, for rye grading No. 2 or better or grading No. 3 on the factor of test weight only.

The national average support for 1966-crop is the same as for the 1965-crop, However, the 1966 terminal and county price support rates not established off a terminal are one-cent per bushel lower than the 1965 rates.

The average of county rates, when weighted by recent years production, must average the announced national level. Because of recent shifts in production from lower to higher price-supported areas and some changes in transportation costs, it was necessary to make this one-cent adjustment so the average of county rates would be at the announced national average.

Price support will be carried out through farm and warehouse stored loans and purchases.

Participation in the 1966 feed grain program for corn, grain sorghum or barley is not condition for eligibility for price support on rye.

Today In U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, June 10, the 161st day of 1966. There are 204 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1692, the first of 20 persons was hanged as a witch in Salem, Mass. A sort of hysteria swept Salem during the rest of that summer and hundreds of people were accused and punished for allegedly practicing witchcraft.

On this date

In 1859, the Comstock Lode was discovered in Nevada. It produced a total yield in silver and gold of more than $340 million.

In 1945, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower received the Jeweled Order of Victory-Russia's highest award.

In 1947, President Harry S. Truman arrived in Ottawa. It was the first state visit to Canada by an American president.

Ten years ago - Republican congressional leaders said President Eisenhower would run for re-election. This came one day after Eisenhower underwent surgery at Walter Reed hospital in Washington. He was suffering from inflammation of the small intestine.

Five years ago - French-Algerian peace talks being held in France recessed on a note of pessimism in French quarters. But reliable Algerian sources said the situation wasn't as serious as was thought.

One year ago - Mass demonstrations, marches to City Hall and the school board began in Chicago to protest the pace of public school desegregation.

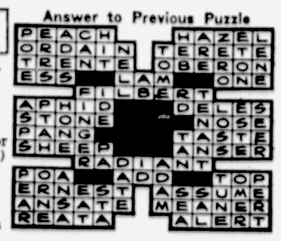
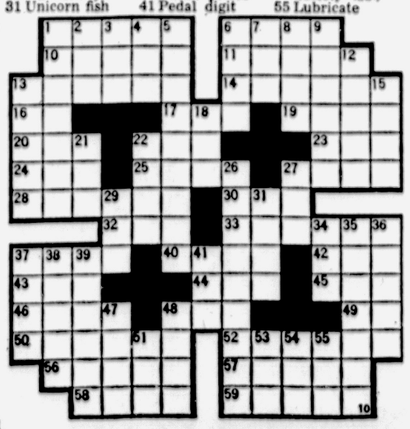
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Today In U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, June 10, the 161st day of 1966. There are 204 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1692, the first of 20 persons was hanged as a witch in Salem, Mass. A sort of hysteria swept Salem during the rest of that summer and hundreds of people were accused and punished for allegedly practicing witchcraft.

On this date

In 1859, the Comstock Lode was discovered in Nevada. It produced a total yield in silver and gold of more than $340 million.

In 1945, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower received the Jeweled Order of Victory-Russia's highest award.

In 1947, President Harry S. Truman arrived in Ottawa. It was the first state visit to Canada by an American president.

Ten years ago - Republican congressional leaders said President Eisenhower would run for re-election. This came one day after Eisenhower underwent surgery at Walter Reed hospital in Washington. He was suffering from inflammation of the small intestine.

Five years ago - French-Algerian peace talks being held in France recessed on a note of pessimism in French quarters. But reliable Algerian sources said the situation wasn't as serious as was thought.

One year ago - Mass demonstrations, marches to City Hall and the school board began in Chicago to protest the pace of public school desegregation.

S.S. Man Here Monday

Mr. Raymond Jones, Field Representative from the Cape Girardeau Social Security Office, will be at the Courtroom, Police Dept. Building, 140 N. Prairie in Sikeston, Monday, June 13, at 10 a.m.

From the Greenfield, Ore. Tribune: "In deciding in favor of the new senior girls, Professor Robert declared he has spent some time considering the issue from every possible ankle."

From the Sunbury, Pa., Item: "Mr. Hook said that the information reported on Forms 1096 and 1099 will be used by Internal Revenue in its autocratic data-processing system."

FALL PLUMAGE—This costume from the fall collection of designer Rudi Gernreich, famed for the topless bathing suit, is all aflutter with feathers—from real ones on the model's head to the fabric pattern at thigh-high hemline and on stockings.

Youth Corps Projects Announced

WASHINGTON AP - Seven Youth Corps projects, designed to provide summer jobs for 384 young Missourians, were announced today by the Department of Labor.

The Labor Department will pay the remaining 10 per cent of the cost. The workers, 16 through 21, will be selected from among those eligible for Economic Opportunity Act programs.

The sponsors, number of enrollees and the federal allotment for each:

Ava R-1 School District, 30, $14,040; Bradleyville R-1 School District, 20, $9,430. City of Campbell, 20, $8,520; Charleston R-1 School District, 34, $16,610; Curators of the University of Missouri, Columbia, 85, $77,600; Jefferson County Community Opportunity Corp., DeSoto, 150, $74,890 and Union School District R-XI, Union, 45, $18,710.

Bear Sighted

The animal, weighing about 150 pounds, was spotted east of the junction of Highways 71 and 52 Wednesday evening by three Butler residents, Stanley Elliott, Larry Ingram and Carl Martin.

Confirmation that it was a bear came from John Hart, Bates County conservation agent, who identified it from plaster casts of its tracks and from hair obtained from fences and brush.

Hart said it was the first bear on record ever sighted in Bates County.

Hart said the state of Missouri has an inventory on bears and that as of this year the estimated population was 25.

Senate Passes 'Food for Freedom'

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Senate has passed a packaging bill and the House a "Food for Freedom" measure before recessing for a long weekend.

The Senate's 71-9 approval Thursday of the fair-packaging and labeling bill marked a milestone in the six-year fight led by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to make it easier for housewives and other shoppers to compare the prices of competing brands.

The legislation would give the federal government authority to regulate the weights and quantities in which a product can be marketed.

However, before the government could impose controls on package sizes, the manufacturer would have to be given a chance to adopt voluntary standards acceptable to the secretary of commerce.

The House is expected to go along with the Senate version of the bill later this session.

The House's food bill also included a milestone of sorts: For the first time it would make all crops eligible, not just those labeled surplus. The measure now goes to the Senate.

As approved by a 330-20 vote, the $6.6 million, two-year program emphasized aid for those nations willing to do more to solve their own agricultural problems.

Seven Satellites To Go Up Wednesday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. AP -- Seven military communication satellites that could link Washington, Viet Nam and military bases around the globe rocket aloft on a single Air Force Titan 3 rocket next Wednesday.

The Air Force said the satellites -- each weighing about 100 pounds -- will be kicked into orbit by spring devices after the triple-barreled Titan 3 executes a series of tricky maneuvers over a six-hour period to achieve an orbit 21,000 miles high.

Meanwhile, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said 17 of 21 experiments riding on America's orbiting OGO 3 satellite were successfully commanded Thursday and have begun beaming back data on secrets of the sun's relations to earth.

The other four experiments will be turned on later.

OGO -- for Orbiting Geophysical Observatory - was launched Monday in an orbit ranging from 170 to 75,758 miles above the earth. OGO 3 is to study solar wind, solar flares, magnetic field disturbances, radiation and chemistry in space.

This first bundle of seven military communication satellites is designed to show whether a military communication satellite system is feasible.

Sikeston's board of directors are scheduled to be elected next week. The meeting is tentatively scheduled to be held Tuesday night at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln Elementary school building.

Clem Beal is presently president of the Scott County Economic Opportunity Board. Other members in addition to Beal and Potashnick are: John Underwood, Sr., route two, Sikeston; Mrs. R. A. Arnold, Scott City; Mike Pfefferkorn, Chaffee; Julian Streeter, Painton; Charles Lough, Jr., Commerce; Leo Rofkohr, Cardinal Street, Sikeston; Harry Dudley, Sikeston; Walker Griffin, Sikeston; Anna Love, Sikeston; Herb Stephens, Sikeston; Jim Woods, Sikeston; Ben Marshall, III, Blodgett; Walter Turner, Benton; Dennis Lewis, Sikeston; R. E. Sharp, Oran; A. W. Wright, Illmo; Fred James, Chaffee and Emily White, Sikeston.

The Delta Area consists of six counties; Scott, Stoddard, New Madrid, Mississippi, and Pemiscot.

Meetings in Scott County scheduled to be held are: Chaffee Elementary School, June 14; Illmo - Scott City high school, June 17 and the Morley elementary school, June 16.

Last week the Delta Area was allocated in excess of $517,000 for the centers.

extent of "educational deprivation" in the district. This is due to many factors, he said, including home environment.

"We found in kindergarten," Harris said, "that many of the children had never seen a book or a pencil."

The effectiveness of kindergarten programs is shown, Harris said, by the Metropolitan Readiness Test, which was given to the R-1 kindergarten students on April 1, and again in the last week of school. The class average jumped from a point in the 18th percentile in April (compared to a national "norm") to the 48th percentile in late May.

Tests used, in addition to the readiness test for kindergarten children, were the Metropolitan Achievement Test for grades one and two; the Iowa Test of Basic Skills for grades four through nine; and the Tests of Academic Progress in grades 10 through 12.

Other Action

In other action Wednesday, the board:

--Received a report from Architects Pearce and Pearce of St. Louis which revealed work in the new high school is about 30 days behind schedule. Primary reason for the delays, the architects said, is the wet weather. Work on foundations and footings, and on the granular backfill is behind, and this in turn has delayed underground rough-in work on plumbing. The planned cost of work accomplished at the end of May was originally $101,217, but the actual cost based on the contractor's monthly estimates, has been only $39,367.

-Accepted the resignations of Lanie B. Moore and Mrs. Harold Myers.

-Discussed investment of the money to be obtained next Monday when the $1,400,000 bond issue is sold. The funds will be invested locally, provided a competitive interest rate and acceptable withdrawal policy can be obtained from institutions here.

Heard a report on the teacher shortage from Assistant Superintendent Bill Hodges. Hodges said the district still needs four kindergarten, four first grade, four second grade, four third grade, two fourth grade, one fifth grade, one sixth grade, two special education teachers and one art supervisor, for a total of 23 elementary vacancies. Still to be filled on the secondary level are positions for a football coach, and teachers of French, Spainish, industrial arts, mathematics, science, and social studies.

The administration had also hoped to add, under a federal grant, an additional physical education supervisor, art supervisor, and music supervisor, and another special education teacher. These positions are also vacant, Hodges said.

-Voted to suspend for one year a board policy that teachers will not be hired for 1966-67 unless they have degrees.

-Heard a report from Superintendent Pierce on the projected July 1 balance, which revealed receipts and balances during the past year of $3,348,079; projected and actual expenses of $2,878,423 and a July 1 projected balance of $469,656.

Reseal Storage Rates Announced

Rates for on-farm storage of grain under reseal Price Support loan for 1966-67 were announced according to Roy Proctor, Jr., Chairman, Scott County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. They are unchanged from those in effect for 1965-66 and are in line with rates paid by CCC for grains stored in commercial warehouses under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement.

Grain under reseal storage gets storage payment based on rounded number of whole units, that is, 100 bushels or 100 hundredweights involved, except that on final payment rate based on units and tenths of units.

Following are the monthly reseal grain storage payment rates for 1966-67:

Corn, $1,095 per 100 bu., (1965), $1,004 per 100 bu. (1964 & prior crops).

Grain Sorghums, $1,960 per 100 cwt. (1965), $1,797 per 100 cwt. (1964 & prior crops).

On-farm storage payment rates for resealed grain based on units -- 100 bushels or 100 hundredweight as applicable -- per month rather than on daily per bushel or per hundredweight rate as established for Uniform Grain Storage Agreement. However, final payment rates for reseal are virtually identical to those for Uniform Grain Storage Agreement.

All grains continued under loan in on-farm resealed storage subject to call by CCC at any time whenever need arises to help fill a CCC grain disposal commitment.

The following figures are the excess fees retained by the collector and disbursed as follows: State, $911.88; County, $7,278.33; City, $647.17. Grand total, $8,837.33.

Bloomfield, $51.83; Puxico, $45.69; Dudley $8.73; Dexter, $317.52; Bernie, $80,49; Bell City, $47.34; Advance, $31.78 and Essex, $65.79.

Industrial Head To Speak Wednesday

CHARLESTON -- Henry C. Maddox, director of the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development, will be the guest speaker Wednesday, June 15, for a noon luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

Maddox's appearance is being sponsored by the industrial committee of the chamber, of which James Moran is chairman.

The luncheon will be held at the Charlestonian.

The first five meetings of the Chamber this year were held at night, but luncheons are scheduled for the months of June through September. Evening meetings will resume in October, according to July Shelby, Chamber secretary.

Census Shows Farm Change

CHARLESTON -- A profile of Mississippi County's changing agricultural picture is given in the preliminary report of the 1964 Census of Agriculture, received this week from the Bureau of Census.

THE CONSOLIDATION of farms is the most outstanding feature revealed by the census. In 1959, the previous agriculture census, 1,085 farms were reported in Mississippi County. In 1964, the figure had plummeted to 676.

The average number of acres per farm almost doubled, from 209 in 1959 to 385 in 1964. Of the county's total area of 263,040 acres, the census showed 99.1 per cent devoted to farming in 1964 as compared to 86.6 per cent in 1959. Total acreage in farms in 1964 was 260,619, compared to 227,676 in 1959, the census revealed.

The average value of land and buildings per farm nearly tripled in the five years, from $42,541 in 1959 to $136,582.

THE NEW CENSUS revealed there were 10 farms of 2,000 acres or more in 1964, compared with only four such farms in 1959. The number of farms with 1,000 to 1,999 acres increased from 26 in 1959 to 45 in 1964.

Other important county statistics in the report are:

Value of all farm products sold by county farms in 1964, $18,010,467; in 1959, $16,957,700.

Value of all crops sold by county farms in 1964, $15,399,659; in 1959, $14,864,725.

Value of all livestock and livestock products sold by county farms in 1964, $2,608,107; in 1959, $2,092,975.

Value of vegetable crops in 1964, $267,232; in 1959, $166,235.

The preliminary report contains more than 500 facts about agriculture in the county. Single copies of the complete report are available from the Bureau of Census, Washington, D. C. 20233, or from any field office of the Department of Commerce. They cost 10 cents.

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Senate has passed a packaging bill and the House a "Food for Freedom" measure before recessing for a long weekend.

The Senate's 71-9 approval Thursday of the fair-packaging and labeling bill marked a milestone in the six-year fight led by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to make it easier for housewives and other shoppers to compare the prices of competing brands.

The legislation would give the federal government authority to regulate the weights and quantities in which a product can be marketed.

However, before the government could impose controls on package sizes, the manufacturer would have to be given a chance to adopt voluntary standards acceptable to the secretary of commerce.

The House is expected to go along with the Senate version of the bill later this session.

The House's food bill also included a milestone of sorts: For the first time it would make all crops eligible, not just those labeled surplus. The measure now goes to the Senate.

As approved by a 330-20 vote, the $6.6 million, two-year program emphasized aid for those nations willing to do more to solve their own agricultural problems.

Seven Satellites To Go Up Wednesday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. AP -- Seven military communication satellites that could link Washington, Viet Nam and military bases around the globe rocket aloft on a single Air Force Titan 3 rocket next Wednesday.

The Air Force said the satellites -- each weighing about 100 pounds -- will be kicked into orbit by spring devices after the triple-barreled Titan 3 executes a series of tricky maneuvers over a six-hour period to achieve an orbit 21,000 miles high.

Meanwhile, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said 17 of 21 experiments riding on America's orbiting OGO 3 satellite were successfully commanded Thursday and have begun beaming back data on secrets of the sun's relations to earth.

The other four experiments will be turned on later.

OGO -- for Orbiting Geophysical Observatory - was launched Monday in an orbit ranging from 170 to 75,758 miles above the earth. OGO 3 is to study solar wind, solar flares, magnetic field disturbances, radiation and chemistry in space.

This first bundle of seven military communication satellites is designed to show whether a military communication satellite system is feasible.

extent of "educational deprivation" in the district. This is due to many factors, he said, including home environment.

"We found in kindergarten," Harris said, "that many of the children had never seen a book or a pencil."

The effectiveness of kindergarten programs is shown, Harris said, by the Metropolitan Readiness Test, which was given to the R-1 kindergarten students on April 1, and again in the last week of school. The class average jumped from a point in the 13th percentile in April (compared to a national "norm") to the 48th percentile in late May.

Tests used, in addition to the readiness test for kindergarten children, were the Metropolitan Achievement Test for grades one and two; the Iowa Test of Basic Skills for grades four through nine; and the Tests of Academic Progress in grades 10 through 12.

Other Action

In other action Wednesday, the board:

--Received a report from Architects Pearce and Pearce of St. Louis which revealed work in the new high school is about 30 days behind schedule. Primary reason for the delays, the architects said, is the wet weather. Work on foundations and footings, and on the granular backfill is behind, and this in turn has delayed underground rough-in work on plumbing. The planned cost of work accomplished at the end of May was originally $101,217, but the actual cost based on the contractor's monthly estimates, has been only $39,367.

-Accepted the resignations of Lanie B. Moore and Mrs. Harold Myers.

-Discussed investment of the money to be obtained next Monday when the $1,400,000 bond issue is sold. The funds will be invested locally, provided a competitive interest rate and acceptable withdrawal policy can be obtained from institutions here.

Heard a report on the teacher shortage from Assistant Superintendent Bill Hodges. Hodges said the district still needs four kindergarten, four first grade, four second grade, four third grade, two fourth grade, one fifth grade, one sixth grade, two special education teachers and one art supervisor, for a total of 23 elementary vacancies. Still to be filled on the secondary level are positions for a football coach, and teachers of French, Spainish, industrial arts, mathematics, science, and social studies.

The administration had also hoped to add, under a federal grant, an additional physical education supervisor, art supervisor, and music supervisor, and another special education teacher. These positions are also vacant, Hodges said.

-Voted to suspend for one year a board policy that teachers will not be hired for 1966-67 unless they have degrees.

-Heard a report from Superintendent Pierce on the projected July 1 balance, which revealed receipts and balances during the past year of $3,348,079; projected and actual expenses of $2,878,423 and a July 1 projected balance of $469,656.

Industrial Head To Speak Wednesday

CHARLESTON -- Henry C. Maddox, director of the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development, will be the guest speaker Wednesday, June 15, for a noon luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

Maddox's appearance is being sponsored by the industrial committee of the chamber, of which James Moran is chairman.

The luncheon will be held at the Charlestonian.

The first five meetings of the Chamber this year were held at night, but luncheons are scheduled for the months of June through September. Evening meetings will resume in October, according to July Shelby, Chamber secretary.

Census Shows Farm Change

THE CONSOLIDATION of farms is the most outstanding feature revealed by the census. In 1959, the previous agriculture census, 1,085 farms were reported in Mississippi County. In 1964, the figure had plummeted to 676.

The average number of acres per farm almost doubled, from 209 in 1959 to 385 in 1964. Of the county's total area of 263,040 acres, the census showed 99.1 per cent devoted to farming in 1964 as compared to 86.6 per cent in 1959. Total acreage in farms in 1964 was 260,619, compared to 227,676 in 1959, the census revealed.

The average value of land and buildings per farm nearly tripled in the five years, from $42,541 in 1959 to $136,582.

THE NEW CENSUS revealed there were 10 farms of 2,000 acres or more in 1964, compared with only four such farms in 1959. The number of farms with 1,000 to 1,999 acres increased from 26 in 1959 to 45 in 1964.

Other important county statistics in the report are:

Value of all farm products sold by county farms in 1964, $18,010,467; in 1959, $16,957,700.

Value of all crops sold by county farms in 1964, $15,399,659; in 1959, $14,864,725.

Value of all livestock and livestock products sold by county farms in 1964, $2,608,107; in 1959, $2,092,975.

Value of vegetable crops in 1964, $267,232; in 1959, $166,235.

The preliminary report contains more than 500 facts about agriculture in the county. Single copies of the complete report are available from the Bureau of Census, Washington, D. C. 20233, or from any field office of the Department of Commerce. They cost 10 cents.

Reseal Storage Rates Announced

Rates for on-farm storage of grain under reseal Price Support loan for 1966-67 were announced according to Roy Proctor, Jr., Chairman, Scott County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. They are unchanged from those in effect for 1965-66 and are in line with rates paid by CCC for grains stored in commercial warehouses under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement.

Grain under reseal storage gets storage payment based on rounded number of whole units, that is, 100 bushels or 100 hundredweights involved, except that on final payment rate based on units and tenths of units.

Following are the monthly reseal grain storage payment rates for 1966-67:

Corn, $1,095 per 100 bu., (1965), $1,004 per 100 bu. (1964 & prior crops).

Grain Sorghums, $1,960 per 100 cwt. (1965), $1,797 per 100 cwt. (1964 & prior crops).

On-farm storage payment rates for resealed grain based on units -- 100 bushels or 100 hundredweight as applicable -- per month rather than on daily per bushel or per hundredweight rate as established for Uniform Grain Storage Agreement. However, final payment rates for reseal are virtually identical to those for Uniform Grain Storage Agreement.

All grains continued under loan in on-farm resealed storage subject to call by CCC at any time whenever need arises to help fill a CCC grain disposal commitment.
